

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

To the descendants of James and Sarah (?Clarke) Cock, these Presents come greeting, trusting that their compilation during the intermittent opportunities of leisure, amid the urgency of business life, may be of some satisfaction to all both lineal and collateral. This work was commenced by the elder compiler about 1880, without any definite expectation of publication, but on becoming acquainted, through correspondence, with the younger, arrangements were made for charting our collection in such form, that if ever we or any other parties should desire to commit to print, such plan would greatly facilitate its accomplishment. By a diligent correspondence throughout several years, many of our charts were well filled, but before the close of the nineteenth century, by pressing business engagements on our part and decadent interest of our correspondents, communications almost entirely ceased; and when in 1911 the opportunity of publication came, our addresses were many of them out of date and useless. The compilers hereof have used freely all accessible public and private records; have been favored with assistance from sundry co-workers in the genealogical field, and as they are a legion, to name some and not all would seem invidious; we therefore hereby acknowledge our obligations to all and singular.

By our collaboration with Rev. Henry M. Cox we are enabled to accomplish our long-cherished desire of publication, and now trusting that our efforts have not been in vain, we commend it to your sympathetic consideration.

GEORGE WILLIAM COCKS,
JOHN COX, JR.

October, 1912.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION

As the type of the first edition was about to be distributed there was found to be a greater demand for the work as relating to the descendants of James Cock the Quaker ancestor, and as it had proved impracticable to include in the first edition a number of lineages of allied families already in preparation, it has been thought advisable to issue a further edition of 105 copies. To that which has already appeared in the first edition is added a supplement of 71 pages of new matter, for the contents of which see page 404. In this is included all the corrections and new data regarding our Family which an active correspondence could secure.

We therefore now publish this as a Second, and Final, edition, in the eighty-fifth year of the principal compiler's age.

FIRST GENERATION

1. JAMES COCK, ancestor of the Quaker Family of Long Island, New York, and elsewhere in America, was with small doubt born in Old England, and probably in the County of Norfolk, Blomefield's History of which, shows upon its pages, the name with even greater diversity of orthography than obtains here in America at the present time, applied to all sorts and conditions of men; Aldermen, Bishops, Chaplains, Esquires, Gentlemen, Lawyers, Members of Parliament, Mayors, Merchants, Priests, Priors, Rectors, Sheriffs, Sirs, Vicars and Yeoman within its bounds from early in the Fifteenth Century. In 1401 "Bukenharn Manor formerly belonging to Bury Abbey was divided into small parcels, for in the feodary of that year Adam Cock of Bukenharn and his partners held it. In 1479 John Coke was ordered buried in the new aisle of St. Martins Church in New Bukenharn and he gave five marks towards leading [roofing] the Church". In 1631 "the site of the Close alias Cromwell's Manor in Bukenharn, Attleburgh and Besthorp was settled by George Cock, Esq., Robert, Richard and Francis Cock, Gentlemen."

This would have been of small account but for the appearance on the Records of the Township of Oysterbay on Long Island about 1730 of the name "Buckram" designating a territory, then and formerly occupied by the descendants of James Cock; later shown to have been used in denoting the districts of the Highway Overseers of the Town, thus, "1741 George Frost for Buckeram, 1742 Samson Hauxhurst for Buckeram, 1743 Samson Hauxhurst for Buckerham, 1744 Joshua Cock for Buckeram, 1745 Joshua Cock for Buckerham, 1746 Hezekiah Cock for Buckeram;" and continued in vogue as name of place and Post Office until about 1854 when the progressives of the period procured the substitution of Locust Valley because of the abundance of the Robina Pseudacacia (Yellow locust) there abounding.

There is a tradition current among some branches of the family that our ancestor came from Wales, but the absence of distinctively Welsh names among the descendants tends to discredit it. Another tradition perhaps more authentic, was to the effect that the vessel on which James Cock came, encountered a great storm, in the midst of which a severe shock was felt as of striking a rock, and the vessel springing a leak, it was feared they were lost, but the persistent prayers of the passengers so prevailed that the ship was brought to land at the Bermuda Islands, and being "hove out" it appeared that the side of the vessel had been penetrated by the weapon of a great swordfish, which was broken off by the shock and remained imbedded in the planking.

Inquiries have been made and it is found that the Cock family was represented at the Bermudas even earlier than James Cock's arrival thereat. Whether he tarried awhile or continued with the vessel, is not known, but the records of the Town of Southold, situated on the "North Fluke" of the East end of Long Island, show on a list of the inhabitants of the Village Plot in the period 1648-1658, the names of James Cook (on the map Cock) with those of Capt. John Underhill, John Bayles (also from Bermuda) Thomas Mapes (also from County Norfolk) and Thomas Terry all of whom were associated with him at Seatauke and Oysterbay.

These records also show that James Cock was in the use of a House and Lot which Geoffrey Easty on August 12, 1657 did sell to Thomas Mapes of Southold, planter, and which Thomas Mapes conveyed on Apl. 14, 1659, to Henry Case, describing it as "late in occupation of James Cock".

There were Quakers at Southold, notably Humphrey Norton who was haled to the court at New Haven for traducing the Rev. John Youngs, and was, for spreading sundry heretical opinions fined £20, whipped and banished from the jurisdiction. There were then and later, sympathetic with Friends, the Sylvesters, the Booths, John Hallock, who, marrying a Quaker damsel, was disinherited by his father, John Budd Sr. who was fined for entertaining Friends, and several sons of Thomas Mapes, of whom Joseph was an outspoken Member of Friends and in 1700 "desired a meeting to be appointed once a year at Southold".

Some of the Friends were Merchant-adventurers as indicated by the following from the Southold records. Certain young men without the love of their neighbors as themselves in their hearts, went down to Oysterpond Neck ostensibly to hunt for wild turkeys, but coming across some of their neighbors' swine, which had been turned on the Neck to forage for themselves and to increase and multiply, they the said hunters killed and dressed several of the swine and carrying the meat down to the ships, "traded it with the Quakers for cloathes", one of the men getting for his barrel of Pork "a cloake, a read suite and a Silk Neck Cloath".

Southold with Setauket, Huntington and Oysterbay had a very considerable trade with the West India Islands, sending thither salted meats and pipe-staves with which to construct barrels, hogs-heads and pipes to contain the sugar, molasses, rum and sack for the return cargo, which then being transhipped to smaller vessels, was delivered in New Amsterdam without payment of customs duty to the Dutch.

Our ancestor next appears at Ashford on Cromwell Bay, alias Setauket, in the now Town of Brookhaven, about forty miles west of Southold, bounded north by the Sound, and being opposite Bridgeport in Connecticut. He was accompanied thither by Capt. John Underhill, William Frost, Thomas Mapes, John Bayles, and probably William Simson and Samuel Dayton. With his neighbors at Setauket he joined in the following petition to the General Court at Hartford; the original of which is still to be seen in the Connecticut State Archives at Hartford.

"Cromwell Bay alias Setauke Aug. ye 6, 1659 It having pleased God to dispose the harts of us the inhabitants of the place aforesaid, to subject our plantation, persons and estats under the protection and government of the Coloney of conetocoke, for the full accomplishment of the premises, wee the said inhabitation doe request the faviour of our trusty and beloved associates Ensign Alexander Brian and Samuel Sherman to solicit our union with the said Colloney, that we may be accepted a member of the sayd body polittick; the terms specified in all humbleness, three years rate free in respect of our low estate and charge in poynt of purchas, Secondly, in regard of our remoteness from the head Court and the uncertain passage over the Sound; that like privilege might be granted us liveing on Long Island equall with South and East Hampton; the aforesayd terms being granted unto us, wee, the sayd inhabitation authorize the sayd Alixander and Samuel to ratifie and conclude the sayd union as if wee the sayd inhabitation were personally present. Subscribed with a unanimous Consent, the day and date above written". Signed by "John Underhill, Richard Woodhull, Roger Cheston, John Jenner, William Frost, Thomas Harlow, James Cock, John Diar, Edward Rous, Thomas Francis, Thomas Mabbes, George Wood, Henry Rogers, Robert Acreley. These in the name of the rest."

Colonial Record of Connecticut. Vol. 1. p. 40-1 At a session of the General Court at Hartford, Oct. 6, 1659. "Cromwell Bay being propounded to this Court to be admitted and receaved under this Government, The Court considering the same, have and doe declare their willingness to accept the said plantation of Setauke under this Jurisdiction, soe far as they do not intrench upon the Articles of Confederation with the other Colonies and therefore desire the inhabitants of Setauke to attend the next sitting of the Commissioners at New Haven and if they think meet to act for and in their own behalf in ye premises". The mark of our Ancestor as on above record, is "James X Coke".

James Cock seems to have had several allotments of land at Setauke in 1661 which were assigned to Henry Perrin, and early in 1662 he appears in Oysterbay as purchasing a House and house lot.

Oyster Bay so called (in 1650 by Cornelis Van Tienhoven, Secretary of the Province,) from the great abundance of fine and delicate oysters which are found there, is an arm of the Sound running in Southerly between two headlands, Lloyd's Neck on the East and Hog (now Centre) Island on the West, situated about thirty miles East of New York, and opposite Stamford on the mainland. From this Bay was named the territory purchased of the Indians, Anno Domini, one thousand six hundred and fifty three, as followeth.

The expedition for the settlement of Oyster Bay was organized by Rev. William Leverich who came in the "James" from London to New England in 1633 and preached in Boston and other places including Sandwich, Cape Cod, where he arranged with Samuel Mayo, owner of the sloop "Desire" of Barnstable, Capt. John Dickinson, to bring his and Peter Wright's goods and chattels to Oyster Bay. The vessel was seized while in Hempstead Harbor by one Thomas Baxter under pretence of authority from Rhode Island while cruising against the Dutch, the vessel being as was alleged within the limits of Dutch territory. On an appeal to the General Court at Hartford by Mayo it was adjudged that Baxter should pay Mr. Leverich £150, but that the sails, ropes, two guns &c &c if returned with the vessel should be accounted as £18 toward that amount.

Coming to Oyster Bay in 1662 James Cock must have found there besides those mentioned in the Indian Deed, Nicholas and Caleb Wright, Robert Forman and sons, Francis Weekes and sons, John, Henry and Richard Townsend, Daniel, Robert and Nathaniel Coles, Nicholas Simkins, Richard Harcourt, Jonas Halstead and John Dickinson, with sundry of whose progeny his descendants later formed alliances.

The records of the Town of "Oysterbay" (the official title of the Township as distinguished from "Oyster Bay" designating the "settlement place" or Village) show as follows:—

This property was in the Westerly part of the "Town" as the residential portion was called, near the Mill built by the Townsends, and here our ancestor lived until 1669, acquiring by Town Meeting grants, purchase and exchange, some considerable increase to his holdings; served in 1668 and 1669 as one of the four Overseers, who with the Constable constituted the Town Government, and in May of the latter year made the following contract with the Indians:—

Under the foregoing Deed of conveyance eight generations of the Cock name have here lived about two hundred and thirty years. This deed was, in the '60s, mounted on canvas for better preservation, but insects, attracted by the paste, having wrought injury, it was hermetically sealed between glass plates about twenty years ago, at which time the photograph herein reproduced was made. The original is in possession of Miss Emily Cock, at Oyster Bay, L. I., 1912.

This purchase from the aborigines was bounded north by a "little neuk" or strip of salt meadow separating it from the Beach of Long Island Sound. This beautiful beach, formed in pre-historic times by the winds and waves wearing down and distributing longitudinally the detritus from the adjacent headlands of Oak Neck on the East and Fox Island on the West, lies about opposite Byram Point, Port Chester, on the Mainland. The Plantation was bounded on the East by the Salt Meadows of Oak Neck Creek, West by the meadows of Simson's or Frost's Creek, and South by Matthew Priar's plantation, being about three fourths of a mile in length North and South and containing probably one hundred acres of arable land. The soil is glacial drift, covered, except on the few elevations, with fine sand blown from the beach, and noted in more recent times for the production of superior asparagus. The dwelling was situate at the south end of the tract, facing South and near a convenient water supply, there having been as noted in some early descriptions a "Run" or little brook, just south of the house.

which was given him by ye Town; upon ye request of James Cock ye Town hath given him leave to lay down as much of ye South End of ye Medow as he shall think fit & to take up as much at ye North End as he shall lay down at ye South end, provided he ye said James doeth leave A. John Underhill, Six pole wide ye breadth of my land.

Matinecock, as a local designation, according to Mr. Wm. Wallace Tooker, than whom I know no higher authority on the etymology of the language of the Aborigines, is a purely descriptive term, signifying a "Hill-country" or the "Land that overlooks". The following extracts from the Hempstead records indicate its early settlement.

"This Indenture or Covenant made between the Inhabitants of ye Towne of Hempsted upon Long Island in ye New Netherlands on the one part, and Thomas Terry and Samuel Deering, [or Dayton] Planters, on ye other part, Witnessing, the ye foresaid Inhabitants of Hempsted, upon ye sute and request of the afforesaid planters for granting them Liberty to settle themselves upon a parcell of ground on the North side of ye Iland, on the East side of our harbour, Bounded on ye West side by that Bay Commonly Called Hempsted Harbour, and one ye South side by ye harbour hill, And so by an east line to run as far as their boundes goe, and so downe to ye North Sea. With these Conditions, that ye aforesaid Planters shall engage themselves and any that they shall bring with them, or any of their successours, not to trespas against ye towne of Hempsted, by letting any of their Cattell Come upon ye great plaines and spoyle their corne or do the like harme, and if they shall, to make satisfaction to any person or persons so wronged. Also the above-said Planters do Ingaige themselves, and those they bring, and their successors ~~to~~ bring in no Quakers, or any like opinionists to bee inhabitants amongst them, but such as shall be approved by the Inhabitants of Hempsted, And furthermore they binde themselves and their Company that shall settle with them and Inhabit in ye aforesaid plantation, or trackt of Land granted by the Town of Hempsted, to bee subject to ye Laws of Hempsted according to their Patent, Accounting themselves to bee and being members of ye said Towne of Hempsted" . . . "and whereas there being not any Limytation of what number of persons or ffamilies should be settled thereon: Therefore it is now further hereby confirmed, and likewise agreed and concluded upon by certaine Men formerly Chosen and appointed by the Towne for that purpose, and Mr. Thomas Terry, that hee ye said Mr. Thomas Terry shall settle seven families there-upon forthwith (as soon as Convenience will suffer) And that the towne shall have liberty (if they see good) for to make them up to ten families at the least. Matinecock at this period was supposed to have been included in the Sale by the Indians, and Patent executed by the Dutch Governor Kieft to the Wethersfield and Stamford Company of Englishmen coming hither under the leadership of Rev. Richard Denton in 1640, but in the lapse of twenty years the new generation of the natives coveted more pay for the land and in a suit before the Governor and Council claimed that they had not sold Matinecock to the English, and that the payment was so inconsiderable that there was very little for the many to receive it. It was adjudged by the Council that Hempstead's title to all of Matinecock was defective, but that the English that were then seated on said Matinecock lands were under no pretence to be molested or disturbed. And the Governor wrote to Capt. John Underhill "It is not that I give very much credit to what they [the Indians] say but for quietness sake and to prevent all further contests, I do recommend that you agree amongst your selves to give ye Indians some gift or gratuity in requital, since they say they have never received any pay for the land". Pursuant to this advice, negotiations were concluded by which at Kelenworth (colloquially Killingworth) on 22d day of June 1667 the Indian Proprietors Aseton, Arumpas, Seahor, Nothe, Soometamok, Shoskeene and Matares executed deeds conveying to Robert Williams, William Simson (assigned to William Frost) John Dyer (assigned to William Hudson) Henry Reddocke (passed to Joseph and Samuel Weekes) Christopher Hawxhurst, Matthew Prior and Nathan Bird-sall, each a specified tract of upland and an undivided one seventh interest in the adjacent salt meadows, together with a right of commonage of grassing and timber in the unallotted part of the whole tract. This is very quaintly located and described in an agreement between the representatives of the township at large and those of the proprietors under the Seven Purchase Deeds, so called, to wit—

"We do agree and consent yt our Neighbours now Inhabiting Killingworth upon Matinecock, shall have ye privilege to purchase all ye lands yt lies to purchase upon Matinecock Neck lying on ye North side of ye Footpath between Oyster Bay and Musketa Cove by way of ye Sho [chute], so called and to posses it from any claim

PIPING ROCK CLUB HOUSE

On land given by John (5) Cock to James (8) Cock of ye Town as their other lands they now improve, which said Foot-path shall be their limits or bounds Southwards”.

In the location of the several allotments of upland Robert Williams had “The Easter most of the two Matinecock Islands, so called” some time earlier than this known as “Meutalear Island” and subsequently Woolsey’s Island and Butler’s Island when owned respectively by Rev. Benjamin Woolsey and Mr. John Butler, now known as East Island, owned and occupied by Mr. J. Pierrepont Morgan Jr. Williams also had a small allotment of four acres on the mainland about where the Price mansion now stands, which with enlarged bounds came into the possession of Daniel Whitehead a noted man of the period; he gave it to his daughter Mary who married John Taylor, and he dying intestate it passed to his only child Abigail, who became as per record the wife of the Rev. Benjamin Woolsey, “Dissenting, Protestant, Presbyterian Minister” who it is believed, called the estate “Dos uxoris” literally the “wife’s dowry” modified in current usage to “Dosoris”.

John Dyer’s allotment assigned to William Hudson, was a part of the farm of the late Dr. James Cock Townsend, sometime occupied by Samuel⁴⁰, son of Henry Cock, and grandson of James the settler.

William Simson, (some time of Setauket) from whom the Creek now known as Frost Creek was named, had his house lot by the side of Samuel Dayton’s Swamp, northeast of the Frost family burial place, and another lot on which the house and outbuildings of the late Valentine Frost stood, both of which were assigned to William Frost in 1674.

Henry Reddocke as he signed it, or Reddough as his daughter wrote it, came from Rhode Island, where he had been Town Clerk of Warwick. He had Lots 58 and 59 according to a survey made by the Hempstead authorities, which passed at his death about 1674 to his two sons-in-law, Joseph and Samuel Weekes, sons of Francis Weekes.

Christopher Hawxhurst’s lot came next east of Reddocke’s, with same north and south bounds, and with the residence plot on the south end, on north side of road to Matinecock. He married a daughter of Henry Reddocke.

Matthew Priar as he wrote it, later by his descendants Prier, Prior and on sundry records Pryer, an English Friend coming hither from Setauket, with a remarkably interesting history, had the next allotment.

Nathan Birdsall had the seventh lot and was James Cock’s nearest neighbor. He was from Massachusetts and had been successively at New Haven, East Hampton and Southold before coming to Matinecock.

Adjacent to the Birdsall lot on the East was another lot of Matthew Priar, sold in 1678 to his son-in-law John Underhill, son of the great Indian fighter, Capt. John Underhill, on which it is believed the younger John built some part of the house still standing on the site now (1912) owned and occupied by Mr. Cutcheon.

South of the Priar second lot was a tract of one hundred and fifty acres given by the Indians to Capt. John Underhill, who after exterminating some hundred of them seems to have brought the remnant "to heel" and became their adviser in the contest with Hempstead about the payment for their lands. Capt. John Underhill came to Matinecock as a Deputy Sheriff and Surveyor of the customs, in an endeavor by the Government to break up the smuggling then rife in the Harbors on the north side of Long Island, especially at Oyster Bay and Musketa Cove. Accompanying him came his young bro-in-law John Feke (as he wrote it) son of Lieut. Robert Feake and Bess Fones, the widow of Henry Winthrop, and it appears that he gave young Feke the Southeast part of the tract received from the Indians, on which Feke built and reared a family of considerable note, the last representatives of which in this vicinity were Mrs. Thomas F. Underhill and the late Miss Emelina A. Feeks.

Killingworth as a territorial designation first appears on the Town records in the form of Kelenworth at the heading of each of the "Seven Purchase deeds," June 22d, 1667, and subsequently in same year in deed of Capt. John Underhill of Killingworth to George Dennes of Oyster Bay; in deed 1669, Matthew Priar of Killingworth to Richard Townsend, and in deed 1672, Robert Williams to John Frost of Killingworth. This name, if given by Capt. John Underhill in memory of the town of Kenilworth, Warwickshire, Eng. applied not only to the Underhill possessions but to the territory included in the "Seven Purchase" deeds, as is amply shown in sundry places on public records.

Friends' Meetings were held and marriages performed at Killingworth in the houses of James Cock, Matthew Priar, John Underhill Jr, and John Feke, as well as at Oyster Bay, where the house of Anthony Wright was spoken of as being "the usual place of meeting".

The public services of James Cock may be further noted chronologically as follows:—

1671, witness to will of Capt. John Underhill.

1673, witness as "ye mark of Jeames Coke" to a settlement between the heirs of his neighbor Henry Reddocke, deceased.

1682, Buys of Susconeman and Werah, Chief Proprietors of Matinecock Lands, 40 acres of Woodland "bounded north and east by ye Commons or unsold land, south by ye footpath from Oyster Bay to Musketa Cove and west by Christopher Hawxhurst taking in ye Boges near ye halfway tree". This land, including other lots subsequently purchased, adjacent to the site of the Friends' Meeting House, built in 1725, was given to his son John, and the fine spring in the midst of "ye Boges" is still (1912) enjoyed by the seventh generation.

1683 On the list of the Estates of Oysterbay, Jeames Cok is marked for tax on £100,

1683/4 Was one of the witnesses to an Agreement by Ann Coles, widow of John Coles of Matinecock, to assign to her son Solomon

Coles ye one half of ye estate his father left at her disposal, she being about to change her condition by a marriage with William Lines (or Loines).

1684 Witness on behalf of the Town of Oysterbay, on account of the establishment of a line of division between it and the Town of Huntington, by Thomas Townsend & Nathaniel Coles for Oysterbay and John Wickes & Thomas Powell for Huntington, Jos: Hubartt witness for Huntington.

1684 With Thomas Townsend, arbitrates the difference between William Frost and Samuel Tillear, about their respective boundaries.

1684 Buys of Susconeman, Sawmus and Quaropin, land, described as bounded by "ye cartpath by ye Rock at ye head of ye Hollow, to muscheda cove, ye East bounder, ye highway to muscheda Cove ye North bounder, ye highway or cartpath from Matinecock as now laid out on ye west side of Benjamin and Steven Burchall's lands his west bounds, and ye said Burchall's lands ye south bounder; acres more or less." This with the addition of the Burchall (Birdsall) lands acquired later, constituting the Piping Rock farm, given to his son James.

1684/5 Deed extinguishing the Indian claim of title to Matinecock land, by the Indians to James Cock, John Underhill and John Feke, (and seventeen others) "all our land unsold upon Matinecock bounded East by Oysterbay Ancient Purchase, on ye South by ye line between Hempstead, and Oysterbay, on ye west by ye highway from Musketa Cove to ye Plains, which highway is on ye west side of ye Cedar Swamp and north by several men's lands formerly sold by ye Indians".

1687 Gives to son John Cock, 31 acres of land on south side of the Hollow or Littleworth old Footpath, being part of his dividend in the foregoing deed.

Note, The Rock heretofore referred to as "at ye head of ye Hollow [or road] to Muscheda Cove", and subsequently applied to the "Piping Rock Farm" is on the north side of the highway to Musketa (now Glen) Cove, at the south east corner of the premises of Mr. Pate. The origin of the name is in doubt, but in one rendering of the name on the Town records as "ye pipe and tree Rock" there seems to be possible ground for the tradition that here the aborigines and the settlers smoked the pipe of Peace.

In the Oysterbay Town Records, Book "C", p. 19, appears the will of James Cock.

"In presence of God and ye witnesses hereof I, James Cock, senior of Matinecock do make & ordaine this my last will & Testament, In manner and form following.

Henry Birdsall"

Daniel Underhill presented the will before Justice Thomas Hicks and Daniel Whitehead and Edward White Esquires and it was approved 10th Mo. (Dec) 11, 1699.

Nothing is known regarding the ancestral relations of Sarah the wife of James Cock. No reasonable suggestion of consanguinity with any of the neighboring families at either of the places at which he was settled has been heard. The temporary occupancy of Thomas Mapes' house and lot at Southold by James Cock, and the appearance together of the names of Mapes and Cock in their progress westward, seem to suggest a possible connection of some kind, but no proof appears.

John Bayles likewise coming to Southold via the Bermudas, whose children intermarried with the Mapes family and removed westward on Long Island coincident with James Cock, might possibly have been Sarah's ancestor, but proof is lacking.

Since writing the foregoing the compilers think they have had sufficient reason to believe that the family name of Sarah, the wife of James Cock, was Clarke, probably sister of Samuel Clarke, of North Sea, Southampton, Long Island, N. Y. (See Appendix).

From the earliest record of the Society of Friends on Long Island.

I may say as the apostle Paul (only altering Ephesus to Matinecock, I fought with beasts there"; referring to the "Ranters" who gave Friends much trouble at this time. James Cock was given by his father's will "all my land lying on ye South side of ye Musketa Cove Path" comprising about 200 acres, bought by his father James Cock and Benjamin Birdsall of the Indians in 1684/5, later known as the "Piping Rock Farm"; resided there until his purchase of the Samuel Birdsall homestead on west side of road to Matinecock, late in the occupation of Joshua Cock of the Seventh generation. M. records show 10.29.1766, "Daniel Cock having married out of Unity of Friends to one too near of kin to be married amongst Friends, and he having been precautioned and advised against the marriage, in the judgement of the Meeting a paper should be drawn up to disown him against the next M. M. unless superseded by his sincere acknowledgement and condemnation". At next M. M. the paper was ordered signed by the Clerk, and John and Joshua Cock were directed to inform him. Susannah was a grandchild of his mother's sister, in common parlance "1st and 2d cousins".

Issue, by 2d marriage:

† 43 Sarah, b. 6/1 mo. (Mar.) 1748/9; m. Jacob Coles.

17 MERIBAH (COCK) TOWNSEND (John^s, James¹) b. Matinecock, L. I. 2/1 mo (Mar) 1701/2. m. there 1st Joshua Townsend, son of James and Jean (Reddough) Townsend, of Cedar Swamp, now Greenvale, L. I. He bought of Robert Townsend's sons, and resided on, the land formerly of Caleb and Harvey Coles, situate near Glen Cove (? Nassau) Station, L. I. R. R.; and d. there according to probate of will between 1741 and 1753 "leaving to son Noah Townsend, all that farm whereon the testator now lives, provided that if son Noah die before coming to age of 21 yrs. the real estate to be sold and one half the proceeds given to wife Meribah and other half divided between sister Patience Lovell, sister Deborah Townsend and deceased brother Ruemourn Townsend's children, Restore, Sarah and Mary", m. 2d Micajah Townsend (as his second wife) son of Mill John Townsend and his second wife Esther Smith, of Oyster Bay, "ye Town", and Meribah d. soon thereafter leaving issue by her first marriage (Townsend).

i Noah, m. Margaret Wright, dau. of Zebulon and Clemence (Feke) Wright, and d. 1763, leaving an only child Joshua, who as he grew up, determining to "go to Sea", his guardians placed him with Capt. Farley bound for London. There he shipped on a "Whaler" from which he was impressed to a man-of-war and never more heard from. The settlement of his grandfather's estate, by reason of the uncertainty of Joshua's death, was in the hands of the Executors for twenty six years.

18 HEZEKIAH COCK (John^s, James¹) b. Matinecock, L. I. 28/9 mo (Nov) 1703; d. there, will dated 4.4.1768, Proven 1.5.1769. Filed in N. Y., Liber 26, p. 493; m. Roseannah Townsend, b. Oyster Bay, 12/1 mo (Mar) 1712/3; d. about 1780, dau. of George and Roseannah (Coles) Townsend.

Hezekiah Cock was given in his father's will an equal share with his brothers John and James in the homestead and certain other lands; and a one fifth interest in all his meadows, creeks and creek thatch lying in the Town of Oysterbay &c. At the death of his brother John he became seized with an equal one half of the said homestead, and by an agreement made April, 1747, the Northern part of it, where he had doubtless been in occupation since his marriage, was specifically laid out to him, and is now in the possession of his great grandson, Hon. Townsend D. Cock.

In 1755 Deborah Cock appears on Wright Frost's List as having "two slaves". James was a farmer and Justice of the Peace, a birthright member among Friends, but doubtless disowned for marrying out.

Issue:

- 50 Phiany (modification of Levine, Vine, Phiany), b. abt. 1730; d. unm. 11.15.1778. She desired some time to become a member of the Society of Friends and was accepted, but in 1772 was disowned as having "gone to the Baptists". Phiany, when a child, was probably the subject of an oil painting on wood by her cousin Robert Feke, the distinguished Portrait Painter of the period, still in existence, a valued possession of the chronicler hereof (George W. Cocks).
- 51 Lorette, b. about 1735, lived with her mother and step-father on the farm, North side of Road to Musketa Cove, opposite the now residence of Mrs. Benjamin W. Craft, and d. 5.25.1810, unm.

20 SARAH COCK (James⁸, James¹) b. 24/12 mo (Jan) 1700, on the Piping Rock Farm, South of the Highway from Oyster Bay to Musketa Cove, by way of the "Shu". d. about 1784 at her brother Joshua's late residence, opposite (east) of her brother Samuel's house on west side of road to Matinecock. Joshua Cock in his will dated 28/7 mo (called July) 1777, gives "to my sister Sarah Cock, the issues and rents of the Houses and land where I now live, and the issues and rents of the land bought of John Mott, during her life and at her decease the same to go to my cousin [nephew] Stephen Lines, son of my sister Penelope Hawxhurst". This property taxed to "Sarah Cock, single woman" appears as "paid" on the Tax List until 1784, which fixes approximately the date of her death. She was doubtless a Friend.

21 SAMUEL COCK (James^s, James^d) b. 20/5 mo (July) 1702, on the Piping Rock Farm; d. 20/7 mo. (Sept.) 1741, at the house probably built by Jeremiah Smith, on the little "Gore" bought of Samuel Birdsall, situate on north side of road to Musketa Cove and on west side of highway to Matinecock, at Buckram, now Locust Valley; m. 1729, probably by Elder Feke, Martha Alling, d. 1742, dau. of Abraham Alling of Oyster Bay, blacksmith, and his wife Mary Hawxhurst, widow of George Townsend. Samuel was a weaver and a farmer; was m. before 26/1 mo (Mar) 1729, at which date he "condemns his outrunning in marriage contrary to advice, and to one not of our Society", vide Westbury M. M. Records. The identity of Samuel's wife was discovered by the writer in the quaint settlement of a part of her father Abraham Alling's Estate, accruing to Samuel as her husband. Samuel bought a 100 acre farm and a home lot near Susco's wigwam, Beaver Swamp Hollow, about 1731, but as he soon sold it, lived there but about one year.

22 JOSHUA COCK (James^s, James^d) b. 2/7 mo (Sept) 1704, on the Piping Rock Farm; d. 3 mo. (Mar.) 1778, at his house on property situate on east side of highway to Matinecock and on south side of "the narrow Lane leading Eastward to George Frost's Mill". Joshua never married, but, as acknowledged by his cousin (nephew) Samuel Cock Jr., "did as Executor of his brother Samuel, take the houses and lands into his care and management, and therewith by his prudence and care bring up and support the family and children of the deceased bro. Samuel Cock in their minority"; willed legacies to sister Sarah; cousin (nephew) Stephen Lines, so called, son of sister Penelope, wife of John Hawxhurst; to kinsmen, Samuel and Clark Cock; to brother Robert Cock; to Joshua Titus, son of James Titus of Westbury, when he comes of age; to my Executors in trust for Hannah Coles wife of Joseph Coles; to cousin (niece) Elizabeth, dau. of bro. 24 JOSIAH COCK (James^s, James¹) b. 27/1 mo (Mar) 1709, on the Piping Rock Farm; d. as per will dated 7th of 9th month called September 1761, Proven June 4th 1766, at North Castle, Westchester Co., N. On his removal to the "Main Shore" about 1758, he sold the patrimonial homestead to Daniel Kirby, who after holding it about three years, sold it to Zebulon Frost. From him it passed again to the Cock family, into possession of Clark^{ss} Cock son of Samuel²¹. They were farmers and Friends; she although not of a Friendly Family probably became one by request.

26 HANNAH COCK (James^s, James¹) b. about 1712 on the Piping Rock Farm and d. unm. 10/1 mo. (Jan) 1759. With her sisters Martha and Mary she receipts in 1732 for legacies by will of their father James Cock; In 1743 having been chosen by Kezia Baker as a companion to visit Rhode Island and New England, and having a certificate from Westbury M. M., she some time during her stay sent home the following letter. Cortlandt Manor, Westchester Co., N. Y., 3d mo (Mar) 17.1756; m. about 1734, Joseph Frost, b. Matinecock, 4/1 mo (Mar) 1714, d. Cortlandt Manor 1.17.1774, son of Wright and Mary (Underhill) Frost of Matinecock, L. I. Joseph was a farmer, having in 1732 received from his father by Deed of Gift, "all my land and meadows at ye South side of ye Island, upon Unkaway and Latten's Neck" (now Massapequa) which was doubtless part of the land given by the Indians in 1694 to William Frost Sen^r. and John Cock, by reason of many kindnesses and favors to them granted. In 1734/5 Joseph, with his cousin Samuel Frost, sold to Thomas Weekes, "our land and meadow" at Latten's Neck, Oysterbay south, 214 acres of land and 13-½ acres of meadow, probably retaining his interest in the Unkaway Neck property. In 1745 he buys of Penn Townsend and Esther, for £853, a farm of 120 acres, bounded south by the road from Oyster Bay to Musketa Cove, east by the Meeting House Lot and the road to Matinecock; this in 1767 he sold to Daniel Cock and his sister Phiany, and it was occupied by their mother after her second marriage. From hence Joseph and family removed to the "Main Shore".

By the will of James Cock, father of Robert, the real estate was to be divided into three equal parts between his sons Samuel, Josiah and Joshua, and "to his son Robert £150, when of age" without any provision of land. This was remedied by the brothers, they making equivalent payments of money, with which he bought in 1742 a part of the John Mott farm with house, etc., in 1745 the Henry Springer farm adjoining the "Planting-field" Road, and in 1754 the "Buckram" lot on north side of Chechagon Swamp Road. He was a weaver and a surveyor and mentioned in will of his cousin Samuel Cock⁴⁰ as his "brother-in-law", they probably having married sisters. Removed to Cortlandt Manor about 1756. Vide Westbury M. In 1763 Isaac and Mary Frost sold the aforementioned farm to John Underhill of John and Rebecca (Frost) Underhill, in which family it continued for four generations. His father's will of 1724 shows bequest "to my youngest son Samuel, the principal sum of money now in the hands of Nathaniel Seaman, when he comes of age, and the interest to go to my wife; I also give to my son Samuel, my negro Girl Pegge". No record of Samuel's birth or marriage or the name of his wife has so far been discovered. From an analysis of the given names of the female descendants of Samuel, and noting the persistent preferences, it would seem probable that his wife's given name should have been Hannah; and from the gist of the will of George Bayles (shown in next Generation) who m. Martha, dau. of Samuel, it likewise appears exceedingly probable that her patronymic was Bayles, and a descendant of John Bayles, born in England 1617, coming from thence in the "True Love" to the Bermudas in 1635, and subsequently to Southold in 1656, and a contemporary of James Cock there and at Setauket.

The records of the Township of Oysterbay show that Samuel Cock, of Henry, was an Overseer of Highways at Matinecock from 1741 to 1745, inclusive, also that he "hath for a mark for his Creatures, a crop on ye near ear of each; purchased of Aaron Forman, having laid down his former mark". Clark was by trade a Tailor, kept a country store, and had a farm that had sometime belonged to his uncle Josiah. The farm came to Clark as follows, being a part of the tract bought of the Indians by Nathan Birdsall in 1684, sold by him 1713/4 to James Cock 2d, passed by his will 1728 to his son Josiah, who sold it in 1758 to Daniel Kirby, who resold it to Zebulon Frost. During the Revolutionary War Clark suffered considerable loss by raids of the "Whaleboatmen" from the Main Shore, and removed some of his business to New York, much to the anxiety of Matinecock P. M., as also did his persistence in "carting [some of] his Hay for use of the Army", contrary to Friends' testimony against War.

(See Appendix for his narrative of his sufferings in those troublous times, preserved by his great-granddau. Elizabeth M. (Evans) Kellar).

The records of Westbury M. M. show in 1761, that Dinah Cock (1st) wife of William Cock of Matinecock, desires to be under care of Friends, and in 1764 "as William Cock has married the second time out of Unity with Friends, after he had condemned the first marriage and has been received, it seems to be the judgment of Friends that he be dealt with and disowned until he sees his misstep, and condemns it". As his children continued in Friendly dress and address it is to be assumed that William made his peace with the Meeting.

William Cock and his cousin Thomas Cock²⁸, having opposed the election of Deputies from Queens County to the Provincial Congress in 1775, were imprisoned for a time, but on petition, promising to obey all orders of the Continental and Provincial Congresses, were liberated and allowed to return to their respective homes.

"Matinecock the 13th February 1801.

Whereas usefull Learning is found to be very Necessary and Beneficial for the use of Society and in our quarter of the County we are very much behindhand on that account it is proposed to build a good House in some convenient place to command a large School for the encouragement of a good Master for that purpose. The Place proposed is the Northeast corner of Charles Cock's land adjoining the Highway that leads from Matinecock to Buckram and likewise the Highway that leads from Lattintown across the said Highway to Mill-Neck, It is supposed that it will be necessary to build the House 30x20 feet with a 10 feet Hall—two stories high which it is calculated to cost the sum of 700 Dollars, which is to be divided into 35 shares of 20 Dollars each Share—and these Shares to be transferrable and that each share to have one vote, both for constructing the Building and fixing the compensation. And whereas it may happen within the compass of this School that there may be some men that would wish to encourage it and not thinking themselves competent to subscribe for a whole share, it is agreed that two or more may join together and subscribe for a share and for the encouragement for all who wish to help so useful and beneficial an institution—as those that will do nothing to encourage it must not expect to be benefitted by it without making some compensation to the proprietors.

Now we whose names are hereunto subscribed Do promise and Oblige ourselves to pay the Respective sums annexed hereunto in three Instalments, the one half when it is required to purchase the lumber, one fourth in six months thereafter and the other in twelve months from the first of May next. The money to be paid into the hands of the trustees hereafter to chosen, or their successors". Trustees for ensuing year, Robert Feeks, Samuel Cock Jr. and Charles Weeks. Among the contributors were William Cock, Daniel Cock, Samuel Cock, Charles Cock, Mary Cock, Henry Cock, Daniel Cock Jr., Ambrose Cock, Townsend Cock, Oliver Cock, Andrew Cock, Isaac Cock, Thomas Cock, Samuel Cock Jr. The first Trustees were Robert Feeks, Samuel Cock Jr. and Charles Weeks. First teacher probably Bernard McKenna. On the establishment of the Public School System the management was undertaken by the Town with a Board of Trustees elected by the District and the building was continued in use until about 1848 when with a legacy of $5000. from Daniel Cock of Buckram a new building was erected on an adjacent site.

City in 1822, he was amongst the most indefatigable and untiring in his efforts to overcome the disease; and again during the cholera in 1832, his protracted labors and ceaseless devotion were appropriately recognized by the City authorities in the presentation of a service of silver. During his long career he occupied various positions of importance in the profession, and a number of men since eminent in the medical world pursued their studies under his auspices. He was President of the Academy of Medicine of New York; Professor in, and subsequently President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and for many years connected as attending and consulting physician with that time honored institution, the New York Hospital. He was long an active member, and at his death a Vice President of the American Bible Society. Retired for some years through the infirmities of age and ill health, from the practice of his profession, he now leaves the worthy rec-

Wheatland 1837, without issue, dau. of ———. Samuel was living in Stillwater when dau. Keturah was b., though Joseph was prob. b. in Westchester Co. and Isaac b. in Dutchess Co. Samuel Cocks and Daniel Shadbolt bought 12.1.1795 100 acres in Stillwater, Saratoga Co., of Samuel Leavens, and 6.1.1804, Samuel Cox sold his half, 50 acres, to Daniel Shadbolt. Samuel removed to Western N. Y. after his sons Joseph and Isaac had gone thither (see their record), but probably not later than 1806, and purchased, 3.27.1809, 73½ acres and the next year 144¾ acres, probably on both sides of the River road in Wheatland, south of Scottsville, N. Y. The part west of the road was later included in his son Joseph's farm, and that east of the road his son Isaac's. They were farmers and probably Friends, as the children mostly were. Samuel was quite stout and fleshy, of medium height.

253 ISAAC COCK or COCKS (Joseph⁹⁰, Samuel⁹⁰, Henry⁹⁰, James¹), b. Crum Elbow (properly Crom Elbow), in the present Tp. of Clinton, Dutchess Co., N. Y., 5.4.1764; d. Amawalk, Yorktown Tp., Westchester Co., N. Y., 7.26.1834; m. 1st, prob. Salem meeting house, 11.17.1790, Phebe Underhill, b. at what is now Somers Centre, Westchester Co., 11.6.1764; d. Manhattan Island 10.18.1778; d. Rush Tp., Monroe Co., N. Y., 4.4.1862; dau. of Stephen and Elizabeth (Dickinson) Fowler of Northcastle Tp., Westchester Co., and widow of John, son of Elnathan and Martha (Weeks) Thorn, b. 3.27.1779; m. 1.12.1803; and d. suddenly 1.17.1803 while bridling a horse, five days after their marriage, without issue. John Thorn had previously m. 1st Hannah ———, by whom he had one child, Hannah, who m. Samuel Briggs. Stephen Fowler purchased a farm in North Castle, now New Castle, Westchester Co., in 1775, but being a non-combatant Episcopalian, was later, with others, driven to abandon it and take refuge on Manhattan Island, because of the depredations of freebooters from both armies. He and an infant son d. there. After the war his widow and little daughter returned, but the farm was confiscated under the State act of 1787. Isaac was indentured to his uncle Mordecai Frost after his father's death. On reaching his majority he used his first earnings to pay off a few debts his father had left. He was a farmer, removing in 1800 from Clinton, Dutchess Co., to a farm in Yorktown near the Croton river, and later to another near Amawalk, later owned by James Travis. All were Friends, and members of Amawalk M. M. of which Isaac was an Elder from 1829 to his death. His tombstone, a rough field stone on which his son-in-law, Gabriel Horton cut "I. C." still shows above the sod in the Quaker burial ground behind Amawalk meeting house. His first wife was also buried there, but Hannah removed to Monroe Co., with her son John, and was buried in the Quaker burial ground in Wheatland. This burial ground, given to Wheatland meeting by Joseph⁸⁰² Cox, was on a knoll, back from the River road, on his farm. It reverted to the farm on its abandonment, the remains were removed, and it is now only a memory. At that time, 1881, her remains were transferred by her son John to the North Rush Cemetery. Isaac was of average build, light complexion and blue eyes. He never voted.

Jordan and Mary Cock conveyed the same parcel to Isaac⁵⁹³ Cock, 3.7.1837, and removed to the new State of Michigan, purchasing a farm north of Battle Creek in Calhoun Co. Dr. Richardson was a widower who had lost his wife and two children by an accident at sea. He had distinguished himself in the medical profession and at the time of his second marriage was the Dean of the Tulane Medical University which office he held up to a few months of his decease. Dr. and Mrs. Richardson were enthusiastic botanists, and in the collection of rare and interesting plants, travelled extensively in foreign lands, besides visiting Mexico, South and Central America, and made the ascent of Mount Popocatepetl, Mrs. Richardson having been the first woman to reach the summit. She had for many years been prominently identified with the Charities and the Educational and Religious institutions of New Orleans. At the time of her death, she was the President of St. Anna's Asylum Board, an institution with which she was associated from its foundation. She was the organizer of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church in New Orleans, and its President for twenty-one years; she was one of the Charter members of the Christian Woman's Exchange; a Regent of the Louisiana branch of the Mount Vernon Association, an organization whose object is the preservation of the historic home of Washington. She was one of the founders of Tulane University, and her passing marks the last of the founders of that institution. Her donation of $100,000 to Tulane for a Medical Building in memory of her late husband was supplemented by an equally generous gift when it was found practicable to build another Medical Building on the campus of the big University, and $100,000 more was given by Mrs. Richardson for that purpose. Her endowment of a Chair of Botany at Tulane, singles out that Institution from all other Southern Colleges, as it is the only one that has such an endowment. The Chair is occupied by Professor ——— Cocks. On June 6th, 1908, the New Orleans "Progressive Union" announced that Mrs. Richardson had been awarded the Picayune Loving Cup which is given each year to the Citizen who has done the best service to the Community.

Y., 3.18.1863; m. 1st, 1806, Dorothy Farwell, b. 1788; d. 2.20.1824, aged 36 years; dau. of Elisha and Sarah (Heath) Farwell, early pioneers of Wheatland. He m. 2d, Wheatland, 5.—.1824, Chloe Aldrich, b. prob. Wayne Co., N. Y., 12.26.1806; d. Illinois, 5.19.1891; dau. of Bryce and Huldah (Farrington) Aldrich, pioneers of Farmington, Wayne Co., N. Y. Early in 1804, when Joseph was in his nineteenth year, accompanied by his brother Isaac, a year younger, he migrated from Saratoga Co., to what became in 1821 the Town of Wheatland, Monroe Co., but was then a part of the new Genesee Co., which included all of the State west of that Genesee River. They came in the late winter, in the old fashioned long sleigh, turning the box up on edge at night,, and sleeping in it before the fire, which served secondarily to warm them, but primarily to keep the wolves away. Their descendants may well reflect on this migration over the roads that were little more than trails, as they now motor over the highways with no greater danger than a fine for overspeeding. Joseph's father and family came on later. The brothers had jointly owned a farm in Saratoga Co., and both soon became large landowners in Wheatland. In 1820 Joseph established a ferry across the Genesee River at the point where the road from Wheatland to Rush now crosses that stream. In 1836 Joseph Cox and Thomas Halstead took the contract to construct a canal from Scottsville to the Genesee River, by which the Scottsville mills could ship flour in bulk to Rochester, or through the Erie Canal to tidewater. In 1838 he sold his farm of 282 acres, reserving the graveyard (Friends' Burial ground) and he and his brother Isaac purchased the mill in Scottsville of Abraham Hanford. They operated it for ten years and sold it to Samuel Scofield and Samuel Wood, who soon resold it to William H. Hanford. Joseph was said to greatly resemble George Washington in face, figure and appearance, and was prominent in the community and in the Quaker meeting. He was disowned 1824 by Farmington M. M., (which then had jurisdiction over this territory) for marrying "out of good order," but Chloe was retained a member on her acknowledgment of the fault. He was reinstated by Rochester M. M. 1832. In 1828 he contributed liberally to the building of the Methodist Church in Scottsville. After the death of his first wife, his regret at having no likeness of her led him to have painted his own portrait and those of his children, and probably of his second wife. Several of these paintings are still extant, and his, now in possession of his great granddaughter, Clara H. White, of Buf-

Westchester Co., N. Y., 5.1.1788; d. Wheatland 8.20.1879; dau. of Darius and Martha (Weeks) Shadbolt, latterly of Wheatland, and great grand dau. of Isaac and Mary²⁹ (Cock) Frost. (See his brother Joseph's record for their migration to Wheatland). Isaac was a farmer and large land owner, one year raising 200 acres of wheat, a very large undertaking for those days before the reaper was invented, but the grain cradle, still comparatively new, and many men, made it possible. Bears were still common in the first decade of the century, and one seized a pig from the pen and made off, but Isaac pursued and shot it without puncturing the skin, they being face to face at the critical moment, and the shot entering the bear's mouth. Isaac was joint owner with his brother Joseph of the Hanford mill in Scottsville from 1838 till his death. Shortly before his death he built the fine stone house, on the River road, one and a half miles south of Scottsville, and here his widow lived to the ripe age of 91 years, a fine example of the old school. This house is one of the best examples of Colonial architecture in Wheatland. It is faced with glacier worn cobbles, picked from the farm, graduated slightly in size from the ground to the top. It is a two family house, so that one of his sons could live with him. Isaac had previously built nearer the village, opposite his brother Joseph's, the frame house which was later incorporated into the present residence of his granddaughter Helen¹⁵⁹⁴ (Cox) Budlong. Isaac and Anna had no religious membership, though they used the plain dress and address of the Quakers, and occasionally attended meeting.

"I would that I might put in living words
 What now through the long reach of misty years
 I clearly see, the many-sided Man.
 When I was young I was too close to see,
 But now, in the perspective of the Past,
 I see him clearer, and would fain make clear
 His deep religious feeling, his great heart,
 Full of the love of God, and Man, and beast.
 He was a Mystic in the deepest sense,
 And by the Light within he lived and moved;
 Unselfish absolutely, thoughtful, kind:
 The Golden Rule was his, and constant prayer."

ALLIED FAMILIES

CLARKE LINEAGE

The problem of the ancestry of Sarah, wife of James Cock the immigrant, seems nearest to solution, with the assumption that she was of the Clarke family, living contemporaneously with the Cocks at Southold, L. I. The persistence of the use of the Christian names, Clark, Samuel and Richard in several generations of the Cock family, suggested an examination of sundry Clarke records, wherein these and several other concurrent names were found both male and female. Other evidence, pointing to a former residence at Rhode Island, indicates that Sarah's father was very probably a near relative of Dr. John (4) Clarke, (Thomas (3), John (2), John (1)) b. 1609. John Fiske in his "Beginning of New England," gives his portrait and says of him:

"John Clarke, one of the worthiest and most highminded among the founders of New England, was born in Suffolk in 1609. It is not known where he obtained his excellent education; but he was esteemed a learned physician and good classical scholar, while it is clear that he could read his Old Testament familiarly in Hebrew, for he was the author of a manuscript concordance and lexicon to the same. He seems to have become a Baptist before his arrival in Boston 1637. He went to Aquidneck and took part with William Coddington and Anne Hutchinson in establishing the Colony of Rhode Island. In 1639 a Baptist Church was founded at Newport and Dr. Clarke was for many years its teacher. His services to the commonwealth were so great that history must place him by the side of Roger Williams. Upright and capable in all relations of life he never failed of the courtesy and the dignity that mark the perfect gentleman."

He d. Apl. 4, 1676, leaving, among many other bequests the above mentioned lexicon and concordance to Richard Bailey, presumably of Southold, as this gift is next to the bequest of "an ewe sheep" to Katharine Salmon, wife of John Salmon of Southold. (This suggests a Bayles connection with the Clarks).

Austin's Dict. of R. I., states that in 1651 John Clarke, Obadiah Holmes and John Crandall, as representatives of the church at Newport, having presumed to hold religious services in the house of an invalid were arrested and fined. This (Rev.) Obadiah Holmes had land at Southampton on Long Island, in the use and occupation of Samuel Clarke thereat, and later went to Jamaica, and thence perhaps to New Jersey.

Jeremiah Clarke, perhaps brother to John, came 1638 to Aquidneck (later Rhode Island) from whence between 1656 and 1660 many essayed the wrath of the Bay and of its high priest of persecution John Endicott. Among them were Mary Clarke, Christopher Holder, John Copeland, William Brend, William Robinson, Marmaduke Stevenson and Mary Dyer. Jeremiah served acceptably in several official capacities and d. 1651. The Friends' Records thus comment on his death. "Jeremiah Clarke one of the first English Planters of Rhode Island; he died at Newport on said Island and was buried in the tomb that stands by the street by the water side in Newport upon the ——— day of 11th mo 1651."

Walter Clarke, son of Jeremiah, sometime Governor of Rhode Island, m. as 2d wife, Hannah Scott, dau. of Richard and Catharine (Marbury) Scott, and as third wife, Sarah (Priar) Gould, widow of John Gould and dau. of Matthew and Mary (——) Priar, of Killingworth upon Matinecock, L. I. It may transpire that Matthew Priar's wife was Mary Clarke.

BOWNE LINEAGE

JOHN BOWNE was b. Matlock, Derbyshire, England, 9th of Third month (? Mar. or May) 1627 and bapt. in Matlock parish church 29th same month, son of Thomas Bowne, bapt. there May 25, 1595. Thomas Bowne with his children John and Dorothy came to New England in the latter part of 1648 or early in 1649. In October 1650 John, leaving behind his father and sister, returned to England, and again arrived in Boston in May 1651. In June of the same year he visited Flushing, L. I., in company with his brother-in-law Edward Farrington (who had m. his sister Dorothy, probably during his absence in England) and seems to have been much pleased with the place, as he removed thither shortly after to live. On the 7th of May, 1656, he m. Hannah Feake, b. (supposed) at Watertown, Mass., about 1637, and after living for a time at Greenwich, Conn., and New London, came to Flushing, with her mother, brothers and sisters, before 1649. She was dau. of Lieut. Robert Feake and Elizabeth (Fones) Winthrop his wife, (see Feake Lineage).

John Bowne was at this time in the 29th year of his age, and his worth and personal attractions were such as to elicit the favorable notice and commendation of Capt. John Underhill, then living at Southold, L. I., who, writing from that place under date of April 12, 1656, to John Winthrop Jr., at Pequot (New London), thus acquaints him with the new engagement: "Sir, I was latil at Flushing, Hannah Feke is to be married to a verri jentiele young man of gud abilliti, of lovli fetture and gud behallor." As Hannah had made the acquaintance of some of the Friends who were holding meetings for worship in the woods, she soon became a member; and her husband, as he himself relates, on occasion going out of curiosity to look at them when assembled together, was so powerfully affected by the beauty and simplicity of their worship that he invited them to hold their meetings for the future at his house. It was not long before he joined them himself, not merely, as he states, from kindness and affection to his wife, but his judgment was convinced of the truth of the principles they held forth. Meetings had not long been held at John Bowne's house before complaints were made "by the Magistrates of Flushing Aug. 24, 1662, that many of the inhabitants are followers of the Quakers who hold their meetings at the house of John Bowne." An ordinance of the West India Company of 1662 provided that "besides the Reformed religion no conventicles should be holden in houses, barns, ships, woods or fields, under the penalty of fifty guilders for the first offence, double for the second and arbitrary correction for every other."

Under the authority of this ordinance we find that great numbers, including many women, suffered severely both by direct action of the Governor, and his courts held at Gravesend. John Bowne was arrested, ninth month 1st, 1662, charged with "harboring Quakers and permitting them to hold meetings at his house."

He was then taken a prisoner to Fort Amsterdam, and on the 14th of the same month the "court held by the Lords, Director General and Council at Fort Amsterdam in the Netherland" entered the following judgment: "Because John Bowne, at present prisoner, dwelling at Flushing upon Long Island, has made no scruple in villpensation of the orders and mandates of the Director General and Council of the New Netherland, we do in justice to the high and mighty states of the United Provinces and the administrators of the West India Company of the Chamber of Amsterdam having heard the demand of the substitutes, and the acknowledgement of the prisoner, have condemned and do condemn the said John Bowne by these present boete [penalty]—5 and 20 pounds Flemish with the charges of the Justician, and with express admonition and interdict to abstain from all such forementioned meetings and conventicles, or else for the second boete, he be condemned in a double boete, and for the third boete to be banished out of this province of New Netherland." John Bowne refused to pay the fine, and was then confined in a dungeon and restricted to bread and water, no person whatever being allowed to speak with him. As this did not change his steadfastness of purpose he was sometime afterward taken to the Stadthaus and put in the prison there, and allowed to see his wife and other friends. He was then notified that the Court had resolved that he must pay the fine that had been imposed or be sent out of the Country; or he would be set free if he would promise to leave the country in three months. He still remained firm in his purpose not to compromise his principles in any way. On Tenth mo. 21st he was permitted to visit his friends under a promise to return in three days, and on the 31st of that month he was put on board ship and sent a prisoner to Holland. He arrived at Amsterdam on the 29th of Second mo. 1663. The following statement was forwarded by the authorities of New Netherlands to the West India Company: "Honorable, Right Respectable Gentlemen. We omitted in our general letter the trouble and difficulties which we and many of our good inhabitants have since sometimes met with, and daily are renewed by the sect called Quakers, chiefly in the county and principally in the English villages, establishing forbidden conventicles and frequenting these against our public placards, and disturbing in a manner the public peace, in so far that several of our magistrates and well affectioned subjects remonstrated and complained to us from time to time of their insufferable obstinacy, unwilling to obey our orders or judgment. Among others has one of their principle leaders named John Bowne, who for his transgressions was, in conformity to the placards, condemned to an amends of 150 Guilders in suevant, who has been now under arrest more than three months for his unwillingness to pay, obstinately persisting in his refusal, in which he still continues, so that we at last resolved, or were rather compelled, to transport him in this ship from this province in the hope that others by it be discouraged. If nevertheless by these means no more salutary impression is made upon others we shall, though against our inclinations be compelled to prosecute such persons in a more severe manner, and which we previously solicit to be favored with your Honour's wise and foreseeing judgment. With which after our cordial salutations we recommend your Honours to God's protection, and remain, Honourable and Right Respectable Gentlemen, your Honour's faithful servants."

The officials of the West India Company considered the case and drew up a paper for John Bowne to sign. In reply he sent to the Company the following dignified statement: "Friends, the paper drawn up for me to subscribe I have perused and weighed, and do find the same not according to that engagement to me through one of your members, viz: that he or you would do therein by me as you would be done unto, and not otherwise. For which of you being taken from your wife and family, without just cause, would be bound from returning to them unless upon terms to act contrary to your conscience, and deny your faith and religion, yet this in effect do you require of me and not less.

But truly, I cannot think that you did in sober earnest ever think I would subscribe to any such thing, it being the very thing for which I rather chose freely to suffer want of the company of my dear wife and children, imprisonment of my person, the ruin of my estate in my absence there, and the loss of my goods here, than to yield or consent to such an unreasonable thing as you thereby enjoin me unto.

For which I am persuaded you will not only be judged in the sight of God, but by good and godly men, rather to have mocked at the oppressions of the oppressed and added afflictions to the afflicted than herein to have done to me as you in the like case would be done unto, which the royal cause of our God requires. I have with patience and moderation waited several weeks expecting justice from you, but behold an addition to my oppression in the measure I receive.

Wherefore I have this now to request for you, that the Lord will not lay this to your charge, but to give eyes to see and hearts to do justice, that you may find mercy with the Lord in the day of judgment.

John Bowne."

In the Fourth mo. John Bowne was released. He returned to America by the way of England and the Island of Barbadoes, but did not reach Flushing until First mo. 30th, 1664.

The authorities in Amsterdam sent to the officials in New Netherlands the following decision, dated Amsterdam, April 16th, 1663: "We, finally, did see from your last letter, that you had exiled and transported hither a certain Quaker named John Bowne, and although it is our cordial desire that similar and other sectarians might not be found there, yet as the contrary seems to be the case, we doubt very much if rigorous proceedings against them ought not to be discontinued except you intend to destroy your population, which however, in the youth of your existence, ought rather to be encouraged by all possible means.

Wherefore it is our opinion that some connivance would be useful that the consciences of men, at least, ought ever to remain free and unshackled. Let every one be unmolested as long as he is modest, as long as he does not disturb others or oppose the government. This maxim of moderation has always been the guide of the magistrates of this city, and the consequence has been that from every land people have flocked to this asylum. Tread thus in their steps and we doubt not you will be blessed.

(Signed) The directors of the West India Company Amsterdam Department.
Abraham Wilmandonk
David Von Baerle."

This document has peculiar historic interest because of the fact that it was one of the first official proclamations of religious liberty for any part of America, the establishment of religious liberty in Maryland by Lord Baltimore, (a Catholic), having antedated it. With this decree the persecution of Friends on Long Island ceased.

While in Holland John Bowne wrote letters to his wife and numbers of Friends, which are still preserved. They are remarkable for the illustrations they give of unflinching steadfastness of purpose, for the beautiful and lofty ideas expressed in them, and for their elegant and sometimes scholarly diction. In one of these he said: "Dear George Fox and many more Friends desire their love and tender salutations remembered to all Friends." From this we may infer that he was visited at Amsterdam by George Fox and others.

Hannah, wife of John Bowne, became more and more zealous in religious devotion and having "received a gift in the ministry," she, in the earlier part of the year 1675, left her home to pay a religious visit to Friends in Great Britain. The letters of her husband sent to her there are admirable in their expression of tender affection and of interest in her religious service. In one of these he quaintly remarks: "Dear heart, to particularize all that desire to be remembered to thee would be exceedingly large, but this I may say for all Friends in general, relations and neighbors, and people, the like largeness of love for one particular person I have seldom found amongst them, as it is for thee."

He joined his wife in her religious service in England in the year 1676 and accompanied her through England and Holland. Returning to London at the beginning of winter of 1677 she was taken sick with a fatal fever and died at the house of their friends John and Mary Elson, at the Peel Meeting Place, in St. John Street, London, on the 31st of Eleventh Month (Jan.) 1677-8.

John Bowne took with him on this journey the following minute of approval, "In the Men's and Women's Meeting on Long Island in America.

These are to certify to all whom it may concern that our dear and well beloved Friend John Bowne, of Flushing (his occasion at this time requiring his being in Ould England by the first conveyance) is for his life and conversation unblamable and of good report, and is likewise in true love and unity with all Friends in the truth here, as by large experience we have all found and witnessed." (Signed by many Friends).

The records of the same meeting nineteen years later contain the following minute.

"John Bowne dyed the 20 day of the 10 month in the yeare 1695 And was buryed ye 23 day of the same being about 68 yeares of age he did Freely Expose him self his house and Estate to ye service of Truth And had a constant Meeting In his house neare About forty yeares hee also suffered very much for ye truths seak."

He was thrice married. His second wife was Hannmah Bickerstaff who brought a certificate from Tupton in Derbyshire, England. They m. 1679. He m. 3d, 26/4 mo. (June) 1693, Mary Cock. (See p. 14).

FEAKE LINEAGE

To Henry F. Water's "Genealogical Gleanings in England" we are indebted for information concerning the ancestry of ROBERT FEAKE who came to Mass. Bay in the fleet with Governor Winthrop in 1630. First appears the will of William Feake the elder, citizen and goldsmith of London, dated 7 May, 1595, proved 19 May, 1595, "To be buried in the parish church of St. Edmund the King in Lumbard Street, London where I am a parishoner, at my pew door." Mentions wife Mary (?Wetherell); his birth place, Wighton, Co. Norfolk; children, Thomas, John, Edward, Sarah, m. William Smithe, Rebecca Bourneford, James m. Judith Thomas, William m. Mary ———, Mary m. Thomas Barneham; brothers James deceased, Edmond and Simon Feake, sister Jygg, and brothers (?in law) John and William Angell.

The will of the widow repeats the names of the children and gives to "Alice Feake dau. of my son James one hundred pounds, and to my grandson James Feake and Robert Feake each one hundred pounds." Mr. Waters adds note, "There can be but little question that to the above family, belonged Lieut. Robert Feke of Watertown, Mass., who with Sergt. Palmer of Yarmouth, N. E. and Judith his wife, and Tobias Feke (aged 17) son and dau. of James Feke late of London, goldsmith deceased, made a letter of attorney to Tobias Dixon citizen and mercer of London to sell one tenement or house and shop in Lumbard Street, London held by the company of Goldsmiths in London. (See Thomas Letchford's Note Book p. 228-9). And I have no doubt that he was akin to the John Feke of London goldsmith, whose pedigree is given in the Visitation of London (1633-4) published by the Harleian Society, Vol. 1, p. 268. (Henry F. Waters)."

The following is extracted from a very admirable paper prepared by the late John J. Latting and published in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, 1880.

Robert Feake came to Massachusetts Bay in the fleet with Governor Winthrop, in the year 1630. He married 1631 or '32, Elizabeth, the young widow of Henry Winthrop (son of the Governor) to whom she had been married in England as recently as the month of April, 1629. She was the daughter of Thomas Fones of London, England, Apothecary, and Anna Winthrop daughter of Adam and Anne (Browne) Winthrop of the Manor of Groton, County Suffolk, consequently niece of Governor Winthrop and own cousin to her husband. When the latter, following his father, sailed from England in the month of April, 1630, he left her at Groton to come over subsequently with his stepmother, both then on the verge of maternity. Henry arrived in the ship Talbot in the Harbor of Salem, in July 1st, 1630 and on the following day, while walking out to view the country, in attempting to swim across the river was taken with cramps and drowned. The widow with her little daughter Martha Johanna, b. Groton, May 9, 1630, came over to New England in the ship Lyon, Captain Pierce, which arrived on the 2d of November, 1631, bringing also the Governor's wife and others of his family. Her marriage with Robert Feake must have occurred not very long after her arrival. This connection with the Governor's family quickly brought him to notice. He was admitted a freeman of the colony in May, 1631, and on the 4th of September, 1632, he was appointed Lieutenant to Captain Patrick, then chief military officer at Watertown and the neighboring settlements, which position he held until the month of March, 1636. He had his "homestead" in Watertown, and was grantee and owner of a number of plots in the same place. He held for several successive years the office of Selectman of the town,—one of the persons termed "freemen chosen to order all civill affaires of ye towne." In 1634, '35, '36, he was representative in the General Court from Watertown. On the third of September, 1634, he with Captain Underhill, Daniel Patrick and others were appointed by the General Court of Boston to fix upon the site for a fort on Castle Island in the Bay. He appears to have continued to follow the fortunes of Captain Patrick, and in 1639-40 accompanied him on his removal to Connecticut. In the month of July, 1640, they united in purchasing from the native Indian proprietors the lands which subsequently constituted the town of Greenwich, Conn. Included in this tract was a parcel of land, some time called, "Elizabeth Neck" in honor of the wife of Robert Feake, being declared in the Indian deed to be her "peticaler perchase." Although this settlement was made under the sanction and in the interest of the New Haven colony, Director-General Kieft of New Amsterdam soon warned them off as intruders on Dutch territory. Patrick and Feake persisted and continued for two or more years in the occupation of these lands, uncertain between the strifes of the English and Dutch, which power to acknowledge; harassed and threatened meanwhile by the treacherous Indians of the neighborhood until they finally decided to put themselves under the protection of the Dutch. This submission was signed by Capt. Patrick alone on April 9, 1642, it appearing Robert Feake was then sick and could not attend; although it also appears that he had commissioned his wife, Elizabeth Feake, to act instead.

In May, 1642, Captain Underhill had become a resident of Stamford, adjoining the plantation of Patrick and Feake, and was now in the service of the Dutch in their encounters with the Indians. Patrick, who had been Underhill's early companion in arms, was ignominiously assassinated by a Dutch soldier at Robert Feake's house in January, 1644. His death undoubtedly proved a serious loss to his co-proprietor in the Greenwich lands, and not unlikely precipitated the malady which a few years afterward terminated in his "loss of reason." In the month of October, 1647, we find him in Boston, on the point of setting sail for England. What was the occasion or object of this journey is not apparent. That it was necessary, perhaps compulsory, may be inferred from some expressions in a letter which he at that time wrote his friends at Stamford in reference to the management and disposition of his estate in his absence, saying, he reserved the whole propriety of his estate till he saw how God would deal with him in England. How long he continued abroad is not known. That he returned to Greenwich some time prior to September, 1649, is shown by a letter from Robert Husted and others to the Dutch Governor, in reference to their rights of property conveyed to them by Mrs. Feake in the absence of her husband. If Robert Feake of Greenwich, be identical with the "Robert Feake" whose name appears in a resolution of the House of Commons, adopted on the 4th of March, 1649, approving and directing the issuing of a pardon to him and others, then he undoubtedly attained the object of his visit. But what the offence could be for which such pardon was sought is not stated.

The succeeding years of the life of Mr. Feake were to him a blank. The darkness which first overshadowed his mental faculties at Greenwich never passed until death came to his relief. He found an asylum in the house of Samuel Thatcher of Watertown, Mass., when he died in February, 1662. An inventory of his personal effects taken on the 18th of that month, may be seen in Vol. 1, of Wills in the Probate Office at East Cambridge. His interest in the land and property at Greenwich had been entrusted by him, prior to his voyage to England in 1647-48 to his wife and William Hallett. They appear to have sold and conveyed parcels of these lands to new settlers; but this region still continued to be debatable ground between the two rival governments of New Haven and New Netherland, so they were compelled to abandon the settlement, and repaired with the children to New London, under the protection of her brother-in-law and cousin John Winthrop, Jr. In spite of the vigorous efforts for the restoration of Mrs. Feake to her rights at Greenwich, the privilege of returning was not accorded to them, and Hallett, in the early part of 1649 removed to Long Island, probably to Flushing—taking with him Mrs. Feake and her children. It is not unlikely this removal was at the suggestion of John Winthrop, Jr., himself, who at this time entertained intentions of settling nearer New Amsterdam. William Hallett in 1652 made a purchase and settlement at Hell Gate, L. I., and doubtless Mrs. Feake and her children continued to constitute his household and as conveyances of Greenwich lands were made by William Hallett and Elizabeth Hallett, we are justified in the belief that they were married by, or before 1649. Here at Flushing and Newtown the family came under the Quaker influence, and three at least of the children became members; and Hannah, the wife of John Bowne, having received a gift in the ministry made two several religious visits to Friends in Great Britain, dying on the last one in England.

At the time of the preparation of this paper by Mr. Latting, the date of the death of Mrs. Feake does not seem to have been known, but the Annual Report of the New York State Historian for 1897, Vol. 2, p. 182, shows that on Apl. 25, 1674, William Hallett had recently m. Susannah, widow of William Thorn of Flushing, consequently it may be assumed that Bess (Fones, Winthrop, Feke) Hallett had deceased some time in the year 1673 at Newtown, L. I. Her daughter Martha Johanna Winthrop, b. Groton, Eng., May 9th, 1630, came to Mass. in 1631, m. about 1646, Thomas Lyon of Stamford, Conn., and died without living issue. (She d. 1668. See Fones Lineage).

He was probably a mechanic as in 1672 with Samuel Andrews he engaged to build the Meeting House for Friends at Oyster Bay. In 1673 was a witness to the will of Anthony Wright, and 1683 on list of the Estates of Oysterbay Township as valued at £130. 1684/5 with John Underhill, William Frost, James Cock and twelve others of Killingworth, effected a final settlement with the Indians for the Rights of Commonage granted by them in 1667 to the Seven Purchasers. 1694 Agreement between Henry Townsend Jr. of Oyster Bay and John Feekes of Matinecock, and Samuel Birdsall and William Birdsall, to build a Sawmill, at ye place betwixt ye land of Henry Townsend, and ye meadow of John Feekes upon ye Crick called Beaver Swamp Crick, the said Feekes to carry on in labor and charge the $\frac{1}{2}$ of the Mill, Henry Townsend Jr., $\frac{1}{4}$ and Samuel and Wm. PRIAR, PRIER, PRIOR LINEAGE

MATTHEW PRIOR or PRIAR as he subscribed himself, was according to Savage's Gen. Dict., of Salem, Mass., in 1638, where he had a grant of land; later removed to the Town of Brookhaven, L. I. He probably went back again to England where he had been the Bailiff of two estates of Major Daniel Gotherson who had recently married as his second wife, one Dorothea Scott, a Friend and supposed kinswoman of Richard Scott who m. Katharine Marbury, sister of Anne Hutchinson, the martyr; Richard Scott being, as said by Gov. Hopkins of Rhode Island the "first Quaker convert in New England."

Matthew Priar was probably accompanied on his return by Capt. John Scott who had armed himself with sundry forged titles to territory about Setauket, and claiming kinship to Mrs. Gotherson, cajoled the Major into an investment of nearly £200 in land at or near Ashford alias Cromwell Bay in town of Brookhaven. Matthew was engaged to go to Setauket with a son of Major Gotherson and have Captain Scott put him in possession of land as appears by the agreement recited before the Captain of the ship on the way over.

"These are to authorize thee to order and manage my estate at Long Island according to thy discretion and I desire thee to take my loving kinsman Col. Scott in Cattle at Sidilicut [?Setauket] Milch Cows at £3.16.0 at corn, there on Long Island, the money [in all £182.4.0] being paid certain persons here in England."

This land or some of it was to pay an indebtedness of Major Gotherson to said Priar for services on his Estates in England. Priar soon discovered that the title to the land was worthless, and that Scott having been threatened with arrest on account of his nefarious transactions, had fled from the jurisdiction; and applied in 1664 to the Town authorities for relief, being as he alleged "in great distress, complaining of the injury received from Mr. Scott," so it was ordered "that there be so much of the sequestered goods of Mr. Scott, sold by the Constable as will amount to £15, to procure the said Priar three cows for the relief of his present necessity," Vide Brookhaven records. Failing in this direction to obtain adequate relief, and learning that Scott had made considerable investments of land in the name of Major Gotherson within other parts of the Colony, especially in the Township of Oysterbay, Prior appealed to the Government at New York saying he had been wasting four years and odd months and was in an undone condition. In response to this plaintive statement there must have been obtained the following order which appears on the Records of the Town of Oysterbay ye 8th of March 1666.

These may Sertifie to all whome it may any wayes Cunseren yt I, Jonas Halstead, Constable have made a Leagall Seasure of ye two Town Shippes which doe belong unto Major Daniel Gotherson for and in ye behalfe of Matthew Pryer, for a debt which is due unto him from said Gotherson.

Jonas Halstead."

To fortify his title Priar secured the following:

Francis Lovelace, for good and valuable Consideration to me in hand paid before ye Sealing and delivery hereof, have, granted, Sold, assigned and Transported unto Mathey Pryer of Killingworth one Long Island and in ye Countie of New York sheere, the two lotts or Town Ships, which Mr. John Richbell sold unto Major Gotherson, together with all and singular ye appurtenances and premises thereunto belonging. These two instruments of writing gave valid title to the property as far as the Government was concerned, but it was also required of the settlers that they should procure deeds from the Indians, and herewith subjoined is a copy of the one relating to the property which Matthew Priar subsequently sold to his son-in-law John (2) Underhill.

Coming to Oyster Bay he bought the Walter Salter lot near the Steamboat Dock of more modern times and on his removal to Mattinecock sold it to Henry Townsend Senr. His house lot thereat was between those of Christopher Hawxhurst on the west and Nathan Birdsall on the east. The house location is approximately determined by the traditional mention of the spot as "Priors old orchard," subsequently possessed by the Underhill family.

FROST LINEAGE.

The first appearance on Long Island of WILLIAM FROST as shown on any authentic record is his signature to the petition to the General Court at Hartford, given on P. 3.

The Brookhaven records show grant of meadows to William Frost 1664, and his name also appears 1668 on "the list of the first 'loot mente' (allotment) that was in the town." Mr. Letting says that on September 26th, 1672, William Frost "then of Oyster Bay" was awarded by the Town "a new purchaser's accommodations, to wit, a piece of land between Mr. Brewster's and Thomas Thorp for a home lot, and the rest where it can be found convenient, so that it may not be prejudicial to highways and watering; the said Frost paying the purchase as others do." As this purchase of a home lot plainly indicated the expectation of a family, it may be safe to conclude that William Frost had been to Oyster Bay and was then engaged, or married, to Rebecca (Wright) Leverich, of whom later.

It has been said that he was a ship or boat builder and perhaps was influenced to come to Matinecock by his quondam Setauket neighbor William Simson, who was captain or master of a merchandise boat plying on the Sound, and had located near the entrance of the Creek subsequently known by his name and later as Frost Creek.

Simson had first taken in 1666 an assignment from Samuel Dayton of the title of Lot 52 as laid out by the Town of Hempstead, then having jurisdiction over this territory, but subsequently repudiated. On the north end of this lot was his residence, as shown by the description of the adjoining lot on the west as being bounded "east by William Simson's House Lot." In 1667, as one of the "Seven Purchasers" of Matinecock Lands William Simson received title from the Indians to 40 acres of woodland "as by us bounded" and one-seventh interest in all their undisposed meadows, with commonage right of grassing and timber (on Matinecock Neck as understood). This on Dec. 4, 1674, he assigned to William Frost of Setauke or Brookhaven, the original papers being before the compiler at this present writing. On this 40 acre tract William Frost built his house, a few yards northwest of the site of the one recently burned, near by a spring of living water, used later for household and farmyard supply. The situation has a superb view, north and east, of the country and Long Island Sound.

For his friendly services to the Indians, he received title to large tracts of land on Unquaway and Lattin's Necks at the south side of the Township, now known as Massapequa, some of which he exchanged with the heirs of John Coles for a sixty acre tract, next lot but one east of his house lot, and other parcels were sometime occupied by his grandsons Samuel and Joseph Frost, and sold by them before removal to the "Main Shore." He acquired sundry other tracts, south of the Musketa Cove road, on southwest side of road to Jericho, and on Oak Neck and Pine Island, becoming one of the chief proprietors of the Township. He died about 1720 and was buried on his own land near the north end of the 40 acre lot. His grave formed the nucleus around which, his descendants for successive generations have been gathered to their last resting places. The Home Place remained in possession of the family until 1899, when it was sold, by the daughters of Valentine Frost of the seventh generation, to Paul D. Cravath of N. Y. City.

William Frost m. prob. Oyster Bay, about 1672-3, Rebecca Wright, dau. of Nicholas and Ann Wright, of whom see Wright Lineage. She was b. Lynn, Mass., about 1645, and m. 1st, Oyster Bay, Eleazer Leverich, son of the Rev. William Leverich, from whom however the Court of Assize, sitting in New York, Oct. 22, 1670, granted (her) Rebecca Leveridge a divorce from her husband Eleazer, on account of "his alleged impotency after they had been married seven and a half years past, and due examination of the matter by surgeons well skilled in the matter and sober matrons, who privately examined both the man and the woman" And an order being made the 24 Feb. 1670/1 it was decided that "Eleazer Leverich do pay, or cause to be paid unto Rebecca Wright, from whom he is divorced, the sum of £25, in living cattle, to be appraised by indifferent men, or in corn, beef for pork, at price current, in lieu of what she brought him at their marriage." The date of Rebecca's decease does not seem to have been known. In the will of 1698 her husband gives and bequeaths "all my movables to my wife and after her decease to be equally divided between my two sons, and they are to take care of their mother and to see that she wants for nothing as long as she doth live." Now there appears in the Frost Genealogy, 1912, by Mrs. Josephine C. Frost, p. 177, the discovery of an old Bible endorsed "Benjamin Frost's Book" with dates 1719, 1772 and Oct. 12, 1793. It is said to contain the record of Benjamin Frost's children and also a record of "Mary Frost's marriage to Zebulun Dickinson in the year 1701 and her death in 1720." And on p. 51 of the same work it is said "In the Frost Cemetery at Locust Valley, N. Y., is a very old stone with dates not readable, and the name of Mary Dickinson on it." Chronologically there is no place in the Frost lineage for Mary but as the dau. of William (1) b. about 1683, and the wonder is that she did not share in the reversion of the movables in his will 1698. In the New York Surrogates Office, Liber 9, p. 198, it appears that "William Frost Esq., of Oyster Bay in Queens Co., died intestate and Letters of Administration were granted to wife Ellinor, July 19, 1720." While this can hardly be a transposition of the letters forming Rebekah as it was early written, it is certainly not a possible phonetic rendering, as the pronunciation of Ellinor was El-ain-or, or colloquially Lanah. It has been stated in one of the public prints that Ellinor was a dau. of Rev. William Leverich, but on call for proof there was no response. It is therefore probable that William Frost (1) was twice married.

- A footnote, p. 16, of the Frost genealogy, states that "William Frost may have been born at Binsted, Co. Hampshire, Eng., but the probabilities are he was born in America, and his father (perhaps John) may have been a brother of Elder Edmund of Boston, Mass., or William, may have been the son of Elder Edmund, as no children are given the latter between the years 1632 and 1637, an unusual occurrence for those times, and tradition tells us one or two of his sons disappeared from Boston, and it is not unreasonable to suppose they may have followed the families who went from there to New Haven, as some of the younger sons of Elder Edmund did and later returned.

A letter from George Frost, New Town, Alton, Hants, England, on a business sheet headed "Appointed Emigration Agent for the Government of New Zealand, South Australia and Canada" says that his grandfather's name was George and that he had a brother William. All his father's children were born in Binsted and he looked up some baptisms that are also found on the list from that parish. The letter is not dated, but it is known to have been written about 1871."

JOHN FROST, brother of William (1). The records of the Township of Oysterbay, show that in the year 1670, Abigail Frost (?wife of John) was one of the witnesses to the will of Robert Forman of Oysterbay Cove, L. I.

1672 John Frost of Killingworth (whether of Killingworth upon Matinecock on Long Island or Killingworth in Conn. is not known) buys land of Robert Williams, situate at Lusum (now Jericho). 1679 Granted by the Town to John Frost a lot of four acres, for a Home Lot, where he shall choose, with liberty to take up 10 acres of woodland. Laid out two days later at Oysterbay Cove, opposite Thomas Youngs. This lot was subsequently in the possession of William Frost Senr of Matinecock, being mentioned in 1724 as having been laid out to him and later conveyed by his sons William and Wright Frost to Moses Forman, (Known as the John Frost lot).

1681 Memo. of an Order for "John Frost to pay unto Thomas Townsend, the balance due on last bill of Hats" signed by John Wright, John Wright probably being the manufacturer and John Frost the retail merchant.

1683/4 John Frost sells to Thomas Miller, his lot of 18 acres, with House at Jericho, probably on the eve of his going to New England.

HARCURT (HARCOURT) LINEAGE

RICHARD HARCURT appears in Hist. of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations Jan. 23, 1648/9, as one of the signers of the Fundamental Agreement of the Inhabitants of the Colony of Warwick; Feb. 26, 1648/9 with Henry Townsend, Mr. (Robert) Potter, and Mr. (Ezekiel) Holliman, appointed to lay out the meadow and upland in "ye neck;" 1648 as Constable, the (then) highest office in the Town government; 1652 Licensed to keep a Victualing House and to sell spirituous liquors; 1655, ordered that Richard Harcourt is appointed to be an Ordinary Keeper (i. e. tavern keeper) together with Stukely Westcott; 1657, at Jamaica, L. I., on list of citizens, with the three Townsends, subsequently neighbors at Oyster Bay; Feb. 16, 1661, at Jamaica, on list of those proscribed for sympathy with Quakers. In September of the same year, his name appears among the grantees of the Mill Right to Henry Townsend at Oyster Bay. The Oyster Bay records show that his first residence was on a lot bought of Mark Meggs situate on South side of the main street just east of the mill dam; his next and probably last residence was on south side of the road to the Cove, including property of the late Edward M. Townsend.

He held at times the offices of Overseer, Constable and Surveyor and was on sundry commissions for laying out lands in the Town. Of his ancestry this compiler has not made any attempt at discovery, but believes him to have been a cadet of the Harcourt Family. The following extracts may be a beginning for some future chronicler.

"1652, Richard Harcourt, mentioned as heir or assignee of Frances Weston, and Margaret his wife," another deed calls Richard cousin (nephew) of Francis Weston from whom he had inherited land. It is suggested that Richard's mother was a sister of Francis Weston.

Francis Weston was of Salem, Mass., Providence and Warwick, R. I.; recalcitrant Puritan and one of the twelve original members of the Baptist Church at Providence. According to Austin's Gen. Dict. of R. I., p. 156, Richard Harcourt m. 1st, Elizabeth Potter, dau. of Robert Potter and Isabel Anthony (as shown by induction) dau. of John and Susannah Anthony of Portsmouth, R. I., Inn Keeper etc.

Robert Potter in 1638, being under criticism in the Church, removed to Portsmouth and Warwick, R. I., where in 1643 he with sundry others including Samuel Gorton were notified to appear before the General Court at Boston, as "they held blasphemous errors, which they must repent of" or go to Boston for trial; and they were soon carried thither. At the time of the capture of the Warwick men, their wives and children were forced to betake themselves to the woods and suffered hardships that resulted in the death of three women at least, one of these being the wife of Robert Potter. 1655, May 25, he was appointed by the Court of Commissioners to keep a house of entertainment, but died before expiration of the year.

Richard Harcourt, m. 2d, Mariam Hoyt, dau. of Simon Hoyt of Stamford, Conn., and widow of Samuel Forman, son of Robert of Oyster Bay. Richard d. Oyster Bay after May 2, 1696, that being the date of Codicil to his last will.

The very interesting will (See Townsend Memorial, p. 73 et seq.) does not name all his children and their alliances, but the following arrangement here presented while making no pretense to regularity of birth, nor anything but possibility in cases of those marked interrogatively, is approximately correct.

Children of Richard and Elizabeth (Potter) Harcourt:

I Susannah, m. John Townsend son of John and Elizabeth (?Montgomery) Townsend.

DELAPLAINE LINEAGE

1 NICOLA de la PLAINE of the Seigneurie de la Grand Plaine, near Bressuire in France, is said to have been a Huguenot refugee, fleeing to England long before the Revolution of 1649 and after a brief stay there came to New Amsterdam where his name appears as taking the oath of allegiance Apr. 13, 1657. The records of the Reformed Dutch Church show Sept. 1658, the m. of "Nicolaes de la Plaine van Bersweer in Vranckryck [Kingdom of France], en Susanna Cresson, Van Ryswyck," dau. of Pierre Cresson and Rachel Cloos his wife, refugees from Picardy, France, who fled to Holland, where he is said to have been gardener to the Prince of Orange, (but the relative dates make it improbable) and after seventeen years sojourn came to New Amsterdam.

Children of Nicola and Susanna (Cresson) Delaplaine:

- II Elizabeth, b. ———; m. Casper Hoodt.

He settled in Germantown, Pa., now a part of Philadelphia, and there bought 100 acres of land in the years 1691 and 1692. In 1698 he was Clerk of the Court of Germantown, and in 1703 or 1704 gave to the City of Germantown, what is known as Market Square. The de la Plaine house, at the corner of Market Square, which remained in possession of the family for over a century, was demolished in 1886, to make way for a more modern building, the structure of the Mutual Insurance Company. The site of the house was marked by the Colonial Dames in 1905.

3 JAMES DELAPLAINE, eldest son of James and Hannah (Cock) Delaplaine, b. New Castle, Del., 1695, was Justice of the Peace at Philadelphia, 1745 to 1749. The following is from Philadelphia Friends' Records:

CHANGE OF CALENDAR

"OLD STYLE" TO "NEW STYLE"

Down to 1752 the Julian Calendar, established by Julius Caesar, remained in use in England. The Gregorian Calendar, by which most of the world now computes time, was introduced by Pope Gregory in 1582, at which time the greater part of continental Europe adopted it. The English Parliament considered it in 1585, but did not adopt it until 1751, when it was ordered that the New Style go into effect the following year, 1752, which was to begin January 1st, and that eleven days should be omitted after the 2d of September 1752, making the following day the 14th. Russia still uses the Julian Calendar, and the difference is now thirteen days. The year formerly began March 25th (The Feast of Our Lady) but had been generally changed to January 1st (The Feast of the Circumcision) long before the English reform. In the Old Style December was the tenth month as its name indicates, January the eleventh, and February the twelfth, and while March was the first month, the first 24 days in it belonged to the previous year.

Therefore for a long period preceding the reform, English dates between January 1st and March 24th inclusive, were expressed in both styles, as 1/Jan. 1695/6, 24/Mar. 1695/6 or in Quaker parlance, 1/11 mo. 1695/6, 24/3 mo. 1695/6.

The difference between Old and New Style, both in the common or "vulgar" notation, and in that used by Friends, and which now, like many of their reforms, is generally adopted in the business world, is shown by a quotation from the statement issued by London Yearly Meeting in 1751 "By the said Act it is Ordered and Enacted that the Computation according to which the year of our Lord beginneth on the 25 day of March shall not be made use of from and after the last day of December 1751." The following form will help to keep in mind the differences caused by the change.

FINIS

TO SECOND EDITION.

OUR QUAKER ANCESTORS

The genesis of Quakerism in the New Netherland was the arrival, August 1, 1657, at the little port of Nieuw Amsterdam, of the ship "Woodhouse," Robert Fowler, Captain, with its cargo of preachers. The stringent laws of 1656 passed by the Massachusetts Colony, imposed such prohibitive fines on vessels bringing Quakers that no shipmaster could be found to bring more Friends to New England.

At this juncture Robert Fowler, who had just built the little "Woodhouse" for the coastal trade, came forward with the offer to try the passage to Boston. How they failed of Boston and reached New Amsterdam is best told in his own quaint language.

"A true relation of the voyage undertaken by me Robert Fowler, with my small vessel called the "Woodhouse"; but performed by the Lord, like as he did Noah's Ark, wherein he shut up a few righteous persons and landed them safe, even at the hill Ararat.

The true discourse taken as followeth. This vessel was appointed for this service from the beginning, as I have often had it manifested unto me; that it was said within me several times, "Thou hast her not for nothing;" and also New England presented before me. Also, when she was finished and freighted, and made to sea, contrary to my will, was brought to London, where, speaking touching this matter to Gerard Roberts and others, they confirmed the matter in behalf of the Lord, that it must be so. Yet entering into reasoning, and letting in temptations and hardships, and the loss of my life, wife, and children, with the enjoyment of all earthly things, it brought me as low as the grave, and laid me as one dead as to the things of God. But by his instrument George Fox, was I refreshed and raised up again, which before was much contrary to myself, that I could as willingly have died as have gone; but by the strength of God I was made willing to do his will; yea, the customs and fashions of the custom-house could not stop me. Still was I assaulted with the enemy, who pressed from me my servants;* so that for this long voyage we were but two men and three boys, besides myself.

Upon the 1st day of the Fourth Month, called June, received I the Lord's servants aboard, who came with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm with them; so that with courage we set sail, and came to the Downs the 2nd day, where our dearly beloved William Dewsbury, with Mich. Thompson came aboard, and in them we were much refreshed; and, after recommending us to the grace of God, we launched forth.

Again reason entered upon me, and thoughts rose in me to have gone to the Admiral, and have made complaint for the want of my servants, and for a convoy, from which thing I was withholden by that Hand which was my helper. Shortly after the south wind blew a little hard, so that it caused us to put in at Portsmouth, where I was furnished with choice of men, according to one of the captains words to me, that I might have enough for money; but he said my vessel was so small, he would not go the voyage for her.

Certain days we lay there, wherein the ministers of Christ were not idle, but went forth and gathered sticks, and kindled a fire, and left it burning; also several Friends came on board and visited us, in which we were refreshed. Again we launched forth from thence about the 11th day of the Fourth Month, and were put back again into South Yarmouth, where we went ashore, and there in some measure did the like. Also we met with three pretty large ships which were for Newfoundland, who did accompany us about fifty leagues, but might have done 300, if they had not feared the men-of-war; but for escaping them they took to the northward, and left us without hope of help as to the outward; though before our parting it was showed to Humphrey Norton early in the morning, that they were nigh unto us that sought our lives, and he called unto me and told me; but said, "Thus saith the Lord, ye shall be carried away as in a mist;" and presently we espied a great ship making up towards us, and the three great ships were much afraid, and tacked about with what speed they could; in the very interim the Lord God fulfilled his promise, and struck our enemies in the face with a contrary wind, wonderfully to our refreshment. Then upon our parting from these three ships we were brought to ask counsel of the Lord, and the word was from Him, "Cut through and steer your straightest course and mind nothing but me;" unto which thing He much provoked us, and caused us to meet together every day, and He himself met with us, and manifested himself largely unto us, so that by storms we were not prevented [from meeting] above three times in all our voyage. The sea was my figure, for if anything got up within, the sea without rose up against me, and then the floods clapped their hands, of which in time I took notice, and told Humphrey Norton. Again, in a vision of the night, I saw some anchors swimming about the water, and something also of a ship which crossed our way, which in our meeting I saw fulfilled, for I myself, with others, had lost ours, so that for a little season the vessel run loose in a manner; which afterwards, by the wisdom of God, was recovered into a better condition than before.

Also upon the 25th day of the same month, in the morning, we saw another great ship making up towards us, which did appear, far off, to be a frigate, and made her sign for us to come to them, which unto me was a great cross, we being to windward of them; and it was said, "Go speak him, the cross is sure; did I ever fall thee therein?" And unto others there appeared no danger in it, so that we did; and it proved a tradesman of London, by whom we writ back. Also it is very remarkable, when we had been five weeks at sea in a bark, wherein the powers of darkness appeared in the greatest strength against us, having sailed about 300 leagues, Humphrey Norton falling into communion with God, told me that he had received a comfortable answer; and also that about such a day we should land in America, which was even fulfilled. Also thus it was all the voyage with the faithful, who were carried far above storms and tempests, that when the ship went either to the right hand or to the left, their hands joined all as one, and did direct her way; so that we have seen and said, we see the Lord leading our vessel even as if it were a horse by the head; we regarding neither latitude nor longitude, but kept to our Line, which was and is our Leader, Guide, and Rule, but they that did failed.

Upon the last day of the Fifth Month, 1657, we made land. It was part of Long Island, far contrary to the expectations of the pilot; furthermore, our drawing had been all the passage to keep to the southwards, until the evening before we made land, and then the word was, "There is a lion in the way;" unto which we gave obedience, and said, "Let them steer northwards until the day following;" and soon after the middle of the day there was a drawing to meet together before our usual time, and it was said, that we may look abroad in the evening; and as we sat waiting upon the Lord they discovered the land, and our mouths were opened in prayer and thanksgiving; and as way was made, we made towards it, and espying a creek, our advice was to enter there, but the will of man (in the pilot) resisted; but in that state we had learned to be content, and told him both sides were safe, but going that way would be more trouble to him; also he saw after he had laid by all the night, the thing fulfilled.

Now to lay before you, in short, the largeness of the wisdom, will, and power of God thus, this creek led us in between the Dutch Plantation and Long Island, where the movings of some Friends were unto, which otherwise had been very difficult for them to have gotten to: also the Lord God that moved them brought them to the place appointed, and led us into our way, according to the word which came unto Christopher Holder, "Your are on the road to Rhode Island." In that creek came a shallop to meet us, taking us to be strangers, we making our way with our boat, and they spoke English, and informed us, and also guided us along. The power of the Lord fell much upon us, and an irresistible word came unto us, That the seed in America shall be as the sand of the sea; it was published in the ears of the brethren, which caused tears to break forth with fulness of joy; so that presently for these places some prepared themselves, who were Robert Hodgson, Richard Doudney, Sarah Gibbons, Mary Weatherhead, and Dorothy Waugh, who the next day were put safely ashore into the Dutch Plantation, called New Amsterdam. We came, and it being the First-day of the week several came aboard to us, and we began our work. I was caused to go to the Governor, and Robert Hodgson with me—he was moderate both in words and actions.

Robert and I had several days before seen in a vision the vessel in great danger; the day following this, it was fulfilled, there being a passage betwixt two lands, which is called by the name of Hell-gate; we lay very conveniently for a pilot, and into that place we came, and into it were forced, and over it were carried, which I never heard of any before that were; [there were] rocks many on both sides, so that I believe one yard's length would have endangered loss of both vessel and goods. Also there was a shoal of fish which pursued our vessel, and followed her strangely, and along close by our rudder; and in our meeting it was shewn me, these fish are to thee a figure. Thus doth the prayers of the churches proceed to the Lord for thee and the rest. Surely in our meeting did the thing run through me as oil, and bid me much rejoice.

Robert Fowler."

One of the eleven preachers, William Robinson, was one of the four Quaker martyrs on Boston Common in 1659.

The little ship landed at a little town. New Amsterdam consisted of a fort, with a "steeple house" in it, a few houses nestling around it, a background of palisade from river to river to keep out the Indians, and a gallows prominently in the foreground to keep out wickedness. It was a city not in its infancy but in its first generation, having been settled about the time of George Fox's birth. It had one paved street and a thousand sturdy Dutch inhabitants who were trying to build an old world city in the new world, who whipped women for scolding and bored the tongues of slanderers with a hot iron, or at least had such laws in force.

Robert Hodgson, arrested for appointing a meeting at Hempstead, and imprisoned in the magistrate's house, preached from the window, to a large gathering, who "heard the truth declared gladly."

Quakerism spread at once in the English settlements on Long Island, and Governor Stuyvesant, in alarm, sent out an order to the inhabitants to harbor none of the sect, and caused the arrest of Henry Townsend, a highly respected citizen of Jamaica for so doing. The inhabitants of Flushing, at their Town Meeting, December 27, 1657, replied as follows:

Jericho Meeting House, built 1787

Ancient Gaol at Warwick, Eng., fifteen feet below ground. William Dewsbury and other Friends suffered here with common criminals

Many of the signers afterwards became Quakers. As a result of their unwillingness to infringe the charter of 1645, Tobias Feake, the sheriff or Schout-fiscal, whose name heads the list, was, together with the Town Clerk, Edward Heart, deposed and imprisoned, and most of the signers punished. Stuyvesant abolished the Town Meeting, but could not stamp out Quakerism. Tobias Feake was own cousin to our ancestor John Feke, but does not seem to have joined Friends.

How John Bowne was banished in 1662, and how the Holland authorities established religious liberty in the province, is shown in the Bowne Lineage, which see for important documents.

To give an idea of the early persecutions of Quakers in England, the view of a circular dungeon in the gaol at Warwick, Eng., is shown. It is eighteen feet below the street. The central cesspool overflows into the gutter shown. Prisoner's feet were secured to the posts or as an added punishment placed in the stocks. Light, air and food were admitted through a small opening at the centre of the dome. In this dungeon William Dewsbury and other Friends suffered, together with common thieves and murderers.

Nine Friends were in the jail at New Amsterdam at one time in 1662, but were soon released.

The colony passed into English control in 1664 and the "Dukes Laws" of that year provide "nor shall any person be molested fined or imprisoned for differing in judgment in matters of Religion who profess Christianity."

A bill concerning marriages 1684 provided that "nothing in this Act Shall be Construed or intended to prejudice the Custome and manner of marriage amongst the Quakers, but their manner and forme of marriages shall be judged Lawful; provided they Admitt of none to marry that are restrained by the Law of God contained in the five books of Moses." The Quaker form of marriage had been declared legal by Judge John Arthur, at midsummer Nottingham Assizes, 1661, he stating the principle that it was the consent of the parties that made a marriage (not what some third party might say or do).

George Fox, on his return from New England, in the autumn of 1672, was the guest of John and Hannah (Feake) Bowne, where the meeting was regularly held. A couch on which he rested, and the bed on which he slept are still in the old house. Under the oak trees opposite the house he preached to "a very large meeting, many hundreds of people being there; some of whom came about thirty miles to it. A glorious and heavenly meeting it was (praised be the Lord God) and the people were much satisfied."

Meetings at Flushing and Gravesend seem to have been established in 1657, those at Oysterbay, Jericho, Newtown, New York, Matinecock and other places at intervals later. Flushing was the only Monthly Meeting until Westbury Monthly Meeting became settled, about 1684. The first meeting house built in the province was at Oyster bay in 1672. Flushing was built in 1693-4 and the first meeting house in New York in 1697. The Gravesend meetings were first held in the house of Lady Deborah Moody, a broadminded, refined and cultured woman, having the largest library then in the colony. She had the naming of magistrates for several years, and entertained the Dutch Governor several days when he visited that distant colony. She did not join Friends.

Among our early worthies three sisters, of a name honored now as in the past, deserve special mention. They are Mary, Hannah and Lydia Wright, of Oysterbay, nieces of Anthony who gave the first land for the use of Friends on Long Island. In September, 1660, Mary was at Boston to warn the Court to lay aside their carnal weapons. Her tears, she said, had been her meat and drink many days and nights before giving herself up to the work of the Lord. She was found guilty of being a Quakeress and banished. In May, 1665, Hannah, aged thirteen or fourteen, made a similar visit to warn the magistrates to spill no more innocent blood. An Oysterbay merchant, John Richbell, came to request her liberty out of their hands. In 1674 while on a religious visit to Maryland she was drowned. Lydia went to Boston in 1677, was sentenced to be stripped to the middle and drawn through the town at a cart's tail with twenty lashes on the naked body. She was there again in 1680. In 1682 she and Isaac Horner declared their intentions of marriage, and at the same meeting a minute of unity for her, directed to Friends of Barbadoes, Antigua, Nevis, Jamaica and elsewhere, was written by Isaac Horner, the Clerk, and signed by many Friends. Fourteen months later Isaac and Lydia appeared the second time before the meeting, and shortly after their marriage removed to New Jersey.

We have no inside history of the early trials and sufferings of Friends of this colony. The vellum covered record of births, deaths and marriages, mentioned on page 13, gives marriages from 1663, and quotes in extenso the celebrated case above referred to, which settled the legality of our form of marriage, and which Fox relates in his journal. The earliest minute extant of a meeting on Long Island (and indeed in all America) was at the Quarterly or Half-Yearly Meeting 23d of 3d month (May) 1671 and settles the times of holding several First day meetings.

In 1672 a well written address to the Governor states why Friends cannot contribute toward building the fort at New York. From 1675 to 1678 several Friends report distrains for refusing to labor on the forts at Gravesend and Oysterbay, the constables seizing various things, from cows to worsted "Stokins." In an epistle to London Y. M. 1682, Friends are reported "as to sufferings we are from Under at present and hath been these severall years saveing sum little from friends about Oysterbay & Yeorke for not training."

Dealings with members occupied considerable attention, but only two or three cases of immorality appear previous to 1700. "Slackness" in attending meetings and marrying out of unity, are the principal offences. In 1676 "such as could find anything upon them should goe unto Dority ffarington of flushing and speake unto hir in love & in ye meekness to know whether she will owne Judgment for hir walking and acting contrary unto ye truth in taking a husband of ye world & not in unity of friends." In 1694 Hester Townsend, formerly Smith, possibly imbued with the spirit of the Ranters, evidently claims divine guidance in selecting a husband of the world, thus proving it no fault of hers, but Friends after waiting "with bowels of Compassion & grate tenderness to Such as are weake," not being satisfied with her "Chargeing it upon ye Lord," finally sign a testimony against her spirit and practice. In 1700, after the meeting had labored with him a year and a half because of his "going from truth for a wife" it is reported that "Daniel Dain hath sent a paper to this meeting acknowledging his error and default Concerning his marriage and Signifying yt he hoops to be more Care full on all ocactions for ye time to Come."

The Ranters caused Long Island Friends much trouble for many years. They were a class who carried the doctrine of the Inner Light to an absurd conclusion, and discarding the common judgment, common prudence and common sense of the meeting for discipline, went each one his own way into many excesses and extremes of license, bringing shame on themselves and unpleasant notoriety to Friends as a body. See reference to them on pages 17 and 18.

By the close of the Seventeenth century the Society had increased largely in numbers, and meetings for discipline were settled as to time, place and procedure. Epistles and papers by George Fox and others relating to discipline were read quarterly, children and servants being brought to hear them. A few Dutch members had come in by way of marriage, and similarly a few French from the New Rochelle settlement, but not many of either. Friends still held slaves, and in 1684 the meeting assisted John Adams in paying for one. Rantism from its inherent nature was dying out, soon to be followed, however, by the Keithian disturbance. This, which worked such havoc in New Jersey, did comparatively little damage in this province. George Keith, long a prominent and active Friend, became an agent of the "Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in foreign parts," and carried some with him.

At the close of the Colonial period no slaves were held by Friends, the few who declined to manumit them having been disowned, and the Meeting dealing with those who in freeing aged or infirm servants neglected to provide for their maintenance.

In the Quaker organization the Yearly Meeting is the legislative body and court of last resort in appeals, etc., and is independent from all other Yearly Meetings. The Monthly Meeting is the executive body. It may consist of two or more Preparative Meetings which are simply the local business meetings for the separate congregations. Membership is held in the Monthly Meeting. The Quarterly Meeting has simply an intermediary capacity to facilitate the passage of the business of the Monthly Meetings to the Yearly Meeting. In case of disownment an appeal could be taken to the Quarterly Meeting and thence to the Yearly Meeting, but by about 1850, disownments and consequent appeals largely ceased.

The Separation of 1828 was a sad and regrettable blunder which probably would not have occurred a decade later, but was brought to a climax at an unfortunate period by injudicious partisanship. In many new localities a growing and harmonious meeting of perhaps thirty would divide into two, one a weakened meeting of perhaps twenty, and the other ten too weak to attempt an organization, and with enmity on both sides. In our family record no attempt has been made to distinguish between "Orthodox" and "Hicksite," but the great majority of the Quaker descendants of James Cock have been of the latter branch.

Shadrack Ricketson's map of the Yearly Meeting published 1821, shows a line of meeting houses between the Hudson River and the State line, from New York City up into Canada, not much over ten miles apart, with many other meetings scattered near. There have been at different times, sixty-two Monthly Meetings in New York Yearly Meeting. In 1828 there were about 20,000 members in forty-five Monthly Meetings and sixty-two meetings for worship.

The dates of establishment of some of the meetings with which our family has been connected are as follows:

Oyster Bay, first house built 1672. Flushing Friends met at John Bowne's house from 1662 till part of the present house was built 1694, the remainder being added to it 1716. Westbury Meeting is nearly as old as Flushing, the first house being built 1702, the second 1800, and the present house 1906, the old one having burned. Matinecock house was built 1725, the meeting having previously been held in private houses. Jericho, almost as old as Flushing, present house built 1787. Cow Neck (now Manhasset) meeting house was built 1719. Bethpage meeting house was built 1742-4. Jerusalem meeting house built 1827.

In New York City the first house was built 1696 on Greene St., meetings having previously been held in private houses, or in rented quarters. There have been several meeting houses in the city. Those at present are (Hicksite) on Fifteenth St. and Rutherford Place, with the Friends Seminary adjoining on one side and the Penington, a Home and social centre, on the other; and the Orthodox house on Twentieth St. In Brooklyn there is one of each branch.

On the mainland, Westchester meeting was in existence before 1684. A M. M. was established 1725. In 1744, Oblong M. M. in Dutchess Co., was set off from it, largely settled from New England Meetings. Easton M. M. in Washington Co. was established 1778, and Saratoga M. M. in the county of that name in 1794. A few Quaker pioneers having reached Western New York, Farmington P. M. was established in 1800, with the powers of a M. M. as to marriages, and a M. M. established there in 1803. Hamburg M. M. in Erie Co., was established in 1814, Junius M. M. in Wayne Co., in 1815, Hartland M. M. in Niagara Co. in 1821, and Rochester M. M. in 1825. Wheatland P. M. was established 2d mo. 12, 1824, being allowed as a meeting for worship, in the school house near Joseph (592) Cox's, 7th mo. 26, 1822. A meeting house 30x40 feet, 12 foot posts, to cost $450.00 was built 1825. This was retained by the Hicksites and used till 1852 when the stone house which the Orthodox had built in 1828, was purchased, the Orthodox then building a frame house on the south road.

From the Western N. Y. meetings many Friends moved on to the Territory of Michigan, where meetings were established after 1830, in the southern Counties, at Adrian, Battle Creek and other points. I have named only a few of the meetings in New York Yearly Meeting, and these only to show the general line of Quaker (and other) migration, from Long Island up the Harlem valley, between the Dutch on the river and the state line, joined and mingled with a wave from New England, largely from Massachusetts and Rhode Island, but some from Vermont; and from this line of meetings sending outposts west, to the new country that Sullivan's returning soldiers had brought news of.

The basis of the Quaker faith, its central, fundamental doctrine, is the belief in the Divine Immanence, or in Quaker phrase the Inner Light. Each individual has within himself, that which will guide him into all truth, if he will but heed it. This doctrine logically displaces and renders unnecessary much of the machinery of religion, in the matter of form and ceremonial as well as in church organization; and carried to the extreme as it was by a few of "the lighter sort" caused some to go out in various excesses of speech and behavior, that led them into the ranks of the Ranters who caused early Friends so much trouble. George Fox, who is now coming to be considered as The Great Democrat, was a natural organizer, a master of men in the best sense, and a profound believer in the common sense and common judgment of the many, as opposed to the opinion of the individual. Yet he was also an Individualist, and the Society he founded has produced the most decided individualism. All his reforms were democratic, the retention of the "plain" language as opposed to the growing use of the aristocratic plural pronoun, and the use of plain & e. simple dress, as opposed to ornament or insignia to denote rank or wealth, being typical of others.

In the protest against formalism the Society later, and for a long period, fell in a formalism of uniform dress, so far removed from the idea of simplicity that it required more trouble and expense than the world's clothing. Many of the reforms George Fox strived for are now achieved in ways he dreamed not of. The present dress, of men at least, is fairly simple; and the plural has attained the common usage, so that even among Friends the "plain" language is used only as the language of affection (as in French and German) and without a study of Seventeenth century social conditions we cannot fully appreciate the sociological value of the early "testimonies" of Friends. The remark of an irate judge to one of our early worthies well illustrates the class distinction of the plural pronoun. "Thouest' thou me? Thou' thy dog! I'll 'thou' thy 'thou' down thy throat!"

Quakerism is essentially a religion of conduct rather than of belief, and down to 1828 the differences of view of the members were no greater and caused no more trouble than they have since among English Friends, where great diversity of individual belief harmoniously prevails. The sad bitterness of the Separation intensified divergent views, and resulted in so wide a theological gap that the majority of the Hicksites became in time Unitarian in theology, while the majority of the Orthodox became evangelical. In the Hicksite branch however, theology is an individual matter, and not a test of membership.

CARPENTER LINEAGE

JOSEPH CARPENTER, believed to be first of the name on this part of Long Island, seems to have been, according to "The Carpenter Family of America, 1637-1901, Daniel H. Carpenter," the son of William Carpenter, son and heir of Richard Carpenter of Amesbury, Wiltshire, England, whose wife was Elizabeth, dau. of William and Christiana (Peak) Arnold. She was born at Cheselbourne, Dorsetshire, Eng., 23/9 mo. (Nov.) 1611. They were married a short time before sailing for America in 1635. They settled with Roger Williams at Providence, R. I., William Carpenter being one of the founders of the "First Baptist Church in America" and named on the first list of "Home Lotts." Joseph was b. Amesbury, Wiltshire, England, about 1635; d. Musketa Cove (now Glen Cove) before 9/5 mo. (July) 1684, at which date letters of administration were granted to Ann Carpenter and Joseph Carpenter upon the estate of Joseph Carpenter of Oyster Bay, late deceased; doubtless the widow and eldest son of said deceased. He m. 1st, 21/2 mo. (Apl.) 1659, Hannah Carpenter, b. Weymouth, Mass., 3/12 mo. (Feb.) 1640, doubtless second cousin to her husband, being dau. of William Carpenter of Rehoboth, Mass. She prob. d. before 1674, as in Sept. of that year Joseph's now wife signs "The mark of A Ann Carpenter," considered by Mr. Carpenter as equivalent to Ann, the name of the second wife, dau. of Francis and Elizabeth (Luther) Weekes, then of Oyster Bay, L. I. The use of the phrase "my now wife" plainly indicates his second partner, known to have been Ann Weekes. (See Weekes Lineage).

According to the records of Providence, R. I., Joseph Carpenter was an inhabitant of the town of Warwick, where he had a "Corne Mill," and where stood his dwelling house "on the south side of the Pawtuxet River at the wading place near the Falls on said river."

Joseph Carpenter doubtless in some of his business trips to New Amsterdam or New York, whichever that thriving town at Manhattan happened to be designated for the time being, may have on his return home, by some stress of weather, adverse winds or no wind, been impelled to make Hempstead Harbour a refuge. Then supposing in the morning when "the tide was coming in" he took the dingey and passing in to the Musketa Cove, "the cove of the grassy flats" in the Indian tongue, between the banks of tall waving thatch on the right and the salt meadows on the left, up to and in front of the reputed abiding place of the sachem Susconeman, the shell heaps (middens) of whose ancestral bivalve feasts are visible on the roadside to this day; after a "howdy" to the "Aboriginals" we may imagine Joseph at the top of the tide passing upward to a point where he probably had the inspiration to own the land and establish a mill on the stream. Here were present several congenial conditions; a fine stream, opportunity for a short dam, convenient earth supply for making thereof, and easy access to navigable water at high tide. The possible Pond area then greatly exceeded that of to-day, which is circumscribed by the growth of the delta of Killbuck Brook and the diluvial deposit consequent upon the several breaches of the upper dam.

Doubtless Joseph on his next visit to New York sought and received permission from the Governor to make purchase of the land from the Indians, then a necessary prerequisite to obtaining a Patent from the representative of the Crown. Carpenter's attempt to occupy the territory developed a protest from the inhabitants of the Town of Hempstead, whose Patent from the Dutch in 1644, and their purchase from the Indians in 1639, certainly included the land; but there may have been graft in those days, and Governor Nicolls gave Carpenter permission to occupy said land whether belonging to Hempstead or not.

However the matter was not settled until the following order to the Constable and Overseers of Hempstead, was issued.

"Whereas, Request was long tyme since made unto me, on the behalfe of Joseph Carpenter, that he might have a certain pce of land on each side of the Ryver at Musketoo Cove where he proposes to settle two or three Plantations and to erect a Saw Mill and a Fulling Mill which may prove advantageous, and be much to the welfare of the Inhabitants in Generall within this Govt. with which you have been made acquainted, and themselves [the authorities of the Town of Hempstead] have made some objection against it, yet have given me no reasonable satisfaction therein, and I having just grounds to suspect that the said land thereabout is not yet within your bounds, nor ever was really purchased by you: you having made no improvement thereupon, though you pretend to have laid it out into Lotts for some of the Inhabitants of your Towne [which they certainly did as plainly appears on their Records. G. W. C.]. These are therefore to require you, that after the sight hereof, with all convenient speed, you cause to be laid out for the use of the said Joseph Carpenter a sufficient quantity of land on each side of the said Cove, fit for the purposes and Intents proposed by him and that you make immediate return of your proceeding herein, unto me, which if you neglect, I shall without more ado, take care to dispose thereof for the public good as I shall see cause.

Given under my hand and seal this 6th April, 1668.

Richard Nichols, Gov'r."

Joseph Carpenter having therefore fortified himself with the requisite title enters into an agreement endorsed as follows:

"A true Record of Entries for ye purchasers and proprietors of Muscheda cove by agreement baring date ye 30th of November, 1668.

This present Instrument of Writing doth declare to all or any person whome it maye Any wayes consarne, that whereas, I, Joseph Carpenter of Muscheda cove in the province of New Yorkshare on Longisland in new England having of late made a purchase of a sartin tractt of land, Lying and being at muscheda cove, do take in and Admit of for my Copartners, And Equal purchasers to have as Equal intrest and good share as my selffe, in all and every part of ye above said purchase provided they shall agree and subscribe to these Articles Beneath written, the persons which I doe as Equal purchasers Admit of are nathanell Colles, Abiah Carpenter, Thomas Townsend and Robart Colles."

Abiah Carpenter, brother of Joseph's first wife, declining to accept offer of an interest in the partnership Joseph resold it to Daniel Coles. The Coles brothers were in a way neighbors of the Carpenters at R. I., as was Thomas Townsend who sold his allotment to Nicholas Simkins. (See Coles and Townsend Lineages).

They located their residence plots, and laid out some of the highways. The one on which the Home Lots, fronted (see map) is known to this day as The Place (of settlement). Quoting again from the ancient record, "the lots ranging northwardly [to the now road to the Steamboat Landing], and southwardly [to the Creek], commencing at the west side with Daniel Coles, [now Dickson] and ye next lot adjoining is Joseph Carpenter's [now also Dickson] and ye third lot is Nathaniel Cole's [never occupied by him personally]. The fourth lot is Nicholas Simkins formerly Thomas Townsend's and the fifth lot is Robert Coles," [now belonging to the writer hereof].

The residences were located on a southerly slope with convenient (for those days) access to running water; and protected from the wintry winds by the increasing altitude of the land to the north.

Doubtless the sawmill, and perhaps the fulling mill, were built early in the settlement, but the grist mill was erected later as shown by the annexed copy of the old record.

"further agreed yt whareas I Joseph Carpenter, having Built A grist mill Joyneing to oure now saw mill and upon ye streame which belongeth to us five purchasers, Nathanell Colles, Daniell Colles, Robart Colles, nickolas simkins and myself, and in Consideration of there parts in ye streame and timbar J, Joseph Carpenter, doe ingage myself my hayres Exsexetors, Administrators and Asignes soe Long ase myselfe my hayres Exsexetors, Administrators or Asignes shall keepe or maintaine ye Sayd mill to grind ye Aforesaid propriators Corne or grayne for each of there famlyies, well and toll free for Ever, and Jf my selfe my hayres, Exsexetors, Administrators or Asigns for ye futar shall Cee Case to lett ye sayd grist mill fall and not to Keepe it in repayre, for the fullfilling of ye Conditions as Above inserted, that then and After for Ever ye Aforesayde streeme to remaine to us five propriators and our hayres and Asignes for Ever to ordar and dispose of as wee shall Cee Casse [cause], to which I have sett to my hand and sett to my Seale ye 14th of Jenewary 1677, signed, Sealed and Delivered.

in ye presence of us

Thomas Townsend

Samuel Pell [?Pelham]"

The Mill remained in the ownership of the Five Proprietors and their successors until about 1704, when each conveyed his interest, to the "Waltons" who built other dams and mills on the stream and continued their operation until 1773. From them the property passed through several intermediate owners to the Glen Cove Starch Mfg. Co., who finally closed their business here and the buildings were destroyed some years since. Very little of the real estate formerly allotted to the Carpenters in the Musketa Cove Patent now remains in the name. Joseph Carpenter was a carpenter by trade as appears by Jamaica Records, to wit:—1675, Joseph Carpenter of Musketa Cove and Caleb Carman of Jamaica contract to build a saw and corne mill of Jamaica where the old mill stood.

Jan. 7, 1678, Resolved at Hempstead Town Meeting "By major vote it was agreed to build a meeting house fifty by twenty-six and twenty feet in the stud with a leanto on each side." Mr. Seaman and John Smith (Blue) were chosen on Apl. 1st, 1678, to go and agree with Joseph Carpenter to build it.

The positive dates of the deaths and burials of Joseph Carpenter and his wives never seems to have been found. That Hannah had deceased before 1674, and Joseph before 1684 is obvious, and as Ann Carpenter as one of the "Executors and Overseers" of the estate of Joseph Carpenter deceased appears on record with her mark "A" on Dec. 10, 1692, it is equally certain that she was yet alive. As reference has been made to "the place of the graves" in a field north of the Diakson residence, sometime a part of Joseph Carpenter's Home Lot, it seems very probably that it was the spot where Joseph and his wives were laid to rest.

Whatever of religious preferences the Musketa Cove settlers may have had, there was not sufficient unity of belief to warrant the establishment of any place of public worship. The Carpenters were doubtless sympathetic with Roger Williams; the Townsends although not members of the Society of Friends, were their staunch defenders against the persecutions of Stuyvesant. Daniel Coles may have been a proselyte of his father-in-law, Samuel Gorton, the champion of individual liberty. As to Simkins, he was doubtless like the others in some way a refugee from the tyranny of the hierarchy of Massachusetts Bay.

WILLIAM (2) CARPENTER, b. Pawtuxet, R. I., about 1666, date and place of death unknown, supposed abt. 1735; m. Musketa Cove, Elizabeth, parentage not certainly known, but may have been Moses and Elizabeth (Weeden) Mudge, then of Musketa Cove, who had dau. Elizabeth, b. 28/12 mo. (Feb.) 1674.

William Carpenter was a blacksmith and had his house and shop on the side of Rattlesnake Brook, now head of Pearsall Avenue. His land by inheritance and exchange was on south side of the Town Path or Duck Pond Road, from Walnut Road, east to the Patent Line. 1720, May 13, William Carpenter, Senr., and Elizabeth his wife sell to Dorothy Cock, 81 acres at Duck Pond "reserving to myself three acres lying at the northwest corner of said land lying between the highway and the stream of water called Rackle Snaik Swamp." 1722, May 8, William Carpenter and his son Silas buy of Lancaster Symes and Peter Fauconier, 375 acres at North Castle and Rye on the Byram River, for which they pay £350. William prob. d. there after 1734.

Issue, as believed by D. H. Carpenter:

- I William, b. about 1688; m. Elizabeth Priar or Prier.
- II Joseph, b. about 1690; m. (name unknown.)
- III Silas, b. abt. 1692; m. (perhaps Jean Thorneycraft).
- IV Benjamin, b. abt. 1696; m. 1st, Dinah Albertson; m. 2d, Lydia Thorne.
- V Timothy, b. 1/2 mo. (Apl.) 1698; m. Phebe Coles.
- VI Elizabeth, ?m. Samuel Weeks (this seems unlikely as this Samuel was not b. until about 1730).
- VII Hannah, ?m. Samuel Coles (this might be possible as to date but in 1729 Samuel Coles had wife Joanna. The names seem convertible).
- VIII Ruth? who m. Captain Thomas Kipp on 17/2 mo. (Apl.) 1731, vide St. George's Church Record (but parents names do not appear).
- IX Benedict, b. 7/4 mo. (June) 1717; m. 1st, Hannah Haviland; m. 2d, Abigail Horton; m. 3d, Abigail Ferris; m. 4th, Elizabeth ———, widow of ——— Wanser, of Dutchess Co., N. Y.

NATHANIEL (2) CARPENTER, b. Musketa Cove in the summer of 1668 being the first white child b. thereat, m. 5/9 mo. (Nov.) 1690, Tamar Coles, b. according to the entry in her father's record, 18/3 mo. (May) 1673, dau. of Robert and Mercy (Wright) Coles. On 18/2 mo. (Apl.) 1694 the father of Tamar as a free gift deeded to Nathaniel Carpenter a farm of fifty acres "because he hath m. my eldest daughter Tamar." To his farm Nathaniel Coles, for whom he was named, deeded a fifty acre lot adjoining, and Joseph Carpenter 3d, the nephew of Nathaniel "in consideration of love, goodwill and natural affection which he had for his uncle" gave another fifty acres. To these Nathaniel added another parcel making in all a farm of 220 acres. This whole tract, situate on west side of road Musketa Cove to Cedar Swamp and Jericho, in 1719 came into the possession of the Pearsall family and thence to the Frosts and others, Nathaniel having removed to the "Main Shore." Tamar is supposed to have died there before 1723 and Nathaniel soon after 1730.

Issue, as given by D. H. Carpenter:

- I Hannah, (no further account).

II Joseph, (supposed to have gone to Main Shore).

III Robert, b. about 1694; m. Elizabeth Carpenter, of Benjamin.

IV Benjamin, b. about 1696; m. Deborah Coles.

V John, b. about 1698; m. Hannah (parentage unknown).

VI Anne, b. about 1702; m. Caleb Fowler of North Castle. Not so. This Caleb Fowler, Associate Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, son of William and Mary (Merritt) Fowler, b. Eastchester, 1710/11; d. 1784; m. Anne Miller, b. Aug. 28, 1717; d. Nov. 21, 1809; aged 92 yrs. 3 mos., buried Mt. Zion, Somers, Westchester Co., N. Y., dau. of Abraham and Hannah (—) Miller; and had 12 children, including Caleb, b. 1752, and Stephen, b. Dec. 24, 1733, who m. Elizabeth Dickinson (descendant of Capt. John Dickinson of Oysterbay) and had Hannah, m. Isaac (253) Cocks, (see p. 84).

VII Abigail, b. about 1705; m. Caleb Green.

VIII Nathaniel, b. about 1708; m. Abigail Fowler, and probably other daughters and son Samuel?

BENJAMIN (2) CARPENTER, supposed son by 2d m., b. Musketa Cove about 1676, m. 1704, Mercy Coles, b. as by her father's record "Monday, March 24, 1683/4," she being dau. of Robert and Mercy (Wright) Coles. In the division of the lands on the neck north of the Home Lots in 1692, the fourth lot, bounded north and west by the sea and south by the road from the Cleft Rock to the Millstone Spring, fell to Ann Carpenter, widow, and was evidently given by her to her sons Benjamin and John. In 1712 Joseph Carpenter 3d, as representing the Carpenter interest in the Patent and Purchase, at their request gave them a Quit-claim deed for this 4th lot, and in 1713 they divided it by establishing a roadway, known to this day as Redspring Lane, so called from the ferruginous appearance of the issue of water near the north end thereof. Benjamin occupied the north part, now residential property of Redspring Land Co. Benjamin was Supervisor of the Township of Oysterbay 1726 to 1729 inclusive, and in 1728 was appointed Capt. of Western Company of the militia of Oysterbay. Religious preferences unknown, but was not a Friend, as he is on record as serving as collector of fines from one of them, for not training with the militia.

Issue, as shown in Robert Coles' record:

I Joseph, b. 15/7 mo. (Sept.) 1705; m. Sarah Latting.

II Hannah, b. 17/6 mo. (Aug.) 1708; m. Samuel Lounsberry.

III Elizabeth (twin to Hannah); m. Robert Carpenter.

IV Benjamin, b. 3/9 mo. (Nov.) 1712; m. Prudence —.

V Ann, b. 25/1 mo. (Mar.) 1715; d. 2/2 mo. (Apl.) 1715.

(D. H. C. suggests another Ann, b. about 1717; m. Daniel Coles, who d. 1804 at 91, of which there is no record.)

JOHN (2) CARPENTER, supposed son by 2d m., b. prob. but a short time before his father's death. It is shown by the records of the Society of Friends, that 1713 John Carpenter, son of Joseph Carpenter (deceased), and Ann his wife, declares his intentions of m. with Martha Feke, dau. of John and Elizabeth Feke, of Matinecock. They were m. 12/4 mo. (June) 1713. She was b. 27/8 mo. (Oct.) 1688. He was a sadler by trade and although owning half of Lot 4, seems not to have lived on it, but on Oct. 20, 1715, for the sum of £129 bought of his nephew Joseph Carpenter 3d, the homestead of his father, which in the deed is described as "One certain tract of land and meadow, situate and lying in Musketo Cove butted and bounded as follows; A certain lott where now my dwelling house is, on ye south side of ye highway or street that leads westward through ye place, on ye west by Joseph Coles' land and on ye east by a lane that leads to ye creek and ye north side of ye highway that lyeth on ye north side of ye Creek." Here he lived probably until his death or at least until 4/4 mo. (June) 1759, when he sells this property to his "well beloved son Jacob" of Red Springs, cordwainer, he having by former deed dated 24/9 mo. (Nov.) 1751 given the Red Spring farm to Jacob. No record appears showing the death of either.

Issue, per D. H. Carpenter:

- I John, b. 1/5 mo. (July) 1714; m. Charity Weeks.
- II Jacob, b. about 1716; m. Hannah Perce or Pearce.
- III Isaac, b. about 1718; m. Sarah Valentine.
- IV Mary, b. about 1721; prob. m. Benjamin Coles, son of Joseph of Daniel (but Joseph had no Benjamin. G. W. C.).
- V Martha, b. about 1724; (not extended).
- VI Ann or Anna, m. Daniel Coles, (while not distinctly proven this is probable).

COLES LINEAGE.

ROBERT COLE or COLES, supposed to have been of, or from near unto Bergholt, County Suffolk, England, came to Massachusetts Bay in the fleet with John Winthrop, 1630; was admitted a Freeman, May 18, 1631; one of the two Deputies to the General Court from Roxbury 1632; one of a committee to advise with the Governor and Assistants of Massachusetts about the "raising of a public stock;" and with Governor Winthrop's son John and some others, began a plantation at Ipswich, but having been disfranchised on account of intemperance, followed Roger Williams to Rhode Island, first conveying to Emanuel Downing a tract of 300 acres of land granted him by the Town of Salem, as shown in Waters' "Genealogical Gleanings in England," Vol. 1, p. 36.

Roger Williams was a protege of Sir Edward Coke, the great English jurist, through whom he secured a college education and a Chaplaincy. Under the influence of the Separatists, he became dissatisfied with the established Church, and following the Pilgrims and Puritans, set out for a land tenanted by a race wild, fantastic and in need of Christianization, the land of Massachusetts Bay. In New England, first at Salem and then at Plymouth he found himself constantly and from the first in opposition to prevailing ideas about the government and the discipline, the final result being that on Oct. 9, 1635, he was ordered to depart within six weeks out of the jurisdiction of the Bay, as one having "broached & dyvulged dyvers newe & dangerous opinions, against the authoritie of magistrates" and having "writ lettres of defamacon both of the magistrates & churches."

Afterwards the sentence of expulsion was so far modified to permit Williams to remain at Salem until spring but inasmuch as by private discourse and exercises he continued to "draw others unto his opinions" it was decided in January, 1636, to send him to England. The plan was revealed (supposed by Winthrop) to the culprit in season for him to thwart it by evading Capt. John Underhill, who had been charged with its execution, and soon, amid cold, deep snow and storms, he, with his servant Thomas Angell, was on his way to the lodge of his friend Massasoit, the sachem of the Wampanoags.

In the spring of 1636 Williams broke ground for a habitation at Seekonk (East Providence) but being warned off as trespassers by Plymouth, removed to Mooshassue and began the foundations of Providence. By his amicable arrangements with the Indians Williams was enabled to secure title on Mar. 24, 1638, to a township of land on the Mooshassue and Pawtuxet rivers. This he intended to devote to charitable uses, in part as a basis for a communal society composed of persons "distressed for conscience." To the latter design he was probably led by the circumstance that persons distressed for conscience—harassed at Plymouth or at the Bay—were already congregating about him.

Just here one of his companions, William Harris by name, being an eminently practical man, while he was willing that philanthropy and religion should win from the Indians a tract of land, objected to the land so won being held as "common stock" for the benefit of all "distressed" comers. Individual ownership was what he sought, and by Oct. 8, 1638, he had so far wearied Williams that he executed to twelve men, Stukeley Westcott, William Arnold, Thomas James, Robert Cole, John Greene, John Throckmorton, William Harris, William Carpenter, Thomas Olney, Francis Weston, Richard Waterman, and Ezekiel Holliman, a deed constituting the twelve (along with the grantor) a "fellowship" in the Indian grant, creating not a partnership but a corporation.

"Nauhiganset ye 10th of ye last month (so called) 1640, I, Cannownicus having received of Robert Coles by the hand of Roger Williams, five fathoms of wampum and I, Miantonomi ten fathoms of wampum do confirm the grant of Sucannanawca of a parcel of ground on this side of Pawtuxet and the feeding of the Indian fields for the winter time.

Canononicus
Miantonomi"

In 1640 Robert Coles with Chad. Brown and William Harris reported a form of government for Providence Colony, which was adopted and kept in force until the first charter was granted.

Jan. 23, 1648, he signed the "Warwick declaration of Rights" with Samuel Gorton, John Wickes, John Townsend, Henry Townsend, Richard Townsend, Christopher Onthanke, Peter Greene, John Greene, Thomas Thornicraft, Matthias Haruye (Harvey), Henry Reddock, Richard Harcourt.

Apl. 8, 1648, Mr. Robert Coles received as a Townsman. Gorton says of him, "Coles, usually conversed with and was conversant with the Indians on the Sabbath days; professing the Indian religion to be the same with that which the "Massachusetts" [Indians] professed and practised."

3/11 mo. (Jan.) 1652. Having removed to Shawomet alias Warwick, Robert Coles sold to Richard Pray and Mary his wife, his "house and home lot lying betwixt the home lot of Thomas Olney on the South and the highway whereon the Pond standeth on the North."

27/12 mo. (Feb.) 1653, Robert Coles of Warwick, by and with the consent of Mary his wife and in consideration of the sum of fourscore pounds, etc., paid by Zachariah Roades, sells, etc., all rights in the dwelling or housing with the home share of land thereunto adjoining, situate, etc., at Pawtuxett, etc., and one share or parcell of land, bought of his son-in-law Henry Townsend, sometime in the hand and use of Christopher Haukeshurst, etc., and another share of land once in the use of Francis Weston. Also all the land that doth belong to said Robert Coles lying in the Common, divided or undivided; only his meadows called "Mashapaage" and a parcel of about 24 acres excepted.

Robert Coles died sometime in 1654 as evident by the following: "Warwicke ye 28th of October 1654. The Towne Counsell being met to agitate and order concerning the estate of Mr. Robert Coles of this towne of Warwicke, late deceased and dying intestate, having received an Inventory concerning the whole estate, being prized by Henry Townsend, Mr. Walter Todd and Mr. Hugh Bewitt, who were deputed thereunto by the sayd Councill and finding ye said estate to amount to five hundred and one pounds, money pay, and the debts claimed being calculated to amount to one hundred and twelve pounds, thirteen shillings money pay, the sayd Counsell determine that Mary Coles, the wife of the late deceased Robert Coles, bee Administrator of the sayd estate, also it is concluded that the Estate shall be disposed of, to the children as followeth. To his eldest Sonne John Coles, fourscore pounds, money pay and a mare, to be payd by the sayd Administrator each with other upon record bearing date. Also the sayd Counsell order unto Daniel Coles the second sonne 50 pounds money pay, to be payd when he is 21 years old, also unto Nathaniel the third sonne 40 pounds to be payd at 21 years ould; also unto Robert the fourth sonne 40 pounds to bee payd at 21 years ould; also unto Sarah Coles 40 pounds to be payd at her day of marriage or when she comes to bee 21 years ould; also wee order that the sayd children which are under age shall bee under the tuition of the sayd Mary Coles their mother until they be of age as aforesaid except the sayd Mary Coles dye before they come to be of age, and then the Counsell of this towne of Warwicke to dispose of them and their portions to what guardian they shall see fit. Also we order that the use of their portions shall be for their maintenance. We further order that in case of any of the sayd children dye before they come to age, their portion shall be equally distributed to the survivors. Also we order the sayd Administrator to give deeds and assurances to any that have either bought land of her husband or had any gift; farther wee order that in case the sayd Mary Coles alter her condition by marriage and the sayd children be not well used that the Counsell of this towne doe take cause [?care] both with the children and their estates to dispose better of them. Wee further order for the speedy payinge of the debts claimed, being some of them are to be payd in Cattell and the season of the year requiring; that the sayd Mary Coles by the assistance and leave of Ezekiel Holliman, one of the Counsell shall sell and discharge in the meantime until security bee taken and a letter of administration given."

Dec. 5, 1655, John Coles in consideration of four score pounds and a mare received from his mother, resigns to her all right and title in deceased father's estate. Jan. 20, 1655, Mary Coles widow of Robert Coles gives to her son-in-law, Henry Townsend, 3 acres of meadow at hither end of ye long meadow called Pichenamonuncanet. Apl. 5, 1656, Mary Coles, widow of Robert Coles, gives to her son-in-law, Richard Townsend, 8 acres, south end of meadow called Ockmamamona.

The maiden name of the wife of Robert Coles seems evidently to have been Hawxhurst (see Hawxhurst Lineage). A sister doubtless of Christopher, coming with him 1630. By favor of Mr. Elliot Stone, I quote from Church Records of Roxbury, Mass., "Mary Cole, the wife of Robert Cole. God also wrought vpon her heart (as it is hoped after her coming to New England) but after her husband's excommunication and fall she did too much favor his ways, yet not as to incur just blame; she lived an afflicted life, by reason of his vnsettlednesse and removing from place to place."

She, doubtless was married to Matthias Haruye (as he wrote it) before Sept. 10, 1663, at which date John Coles confirms the sale by Matthias Harvey to William Carpenter, of a mill, which being part of the estate of Robert Coles, deceased, was then in the use and occupancy of said Matthias Harvey, as the husband of the widow.

Matthias Harvey appears first on the records of the Town of Oysterbay 14/7 mo. (Sept.) 1663, as having laid out to him 20 acres of land, and 9/8 mo. (Oct.) 1664, as purchasing from John and Ann Richbell, House and Land, he was now in possession of, which was formerly ye (?Edmund) Tytus house, with ye said House, etc., that was Old Washbourne's (situate east of the present Episcopal Church yard). Mary Harvey d. Oyster Bay, according to the diary of her son-in-law, Thomas Townsend, in the year 1682. The record of New York Marriages shows "1682, Dec. 17, Harvie, Matthias, m. Margaret Furbush" (later Forbes). He was then of Flushing, L. I.

Ordered by the Town with Francis Weekes and Jacob Young, to use their endeavor "to ble Matinecock land" of the Indians, and is mentioned as an "anterpreter." 1669 buys of Thomas Francis of Setauket, lot of 60 acres at Matinecock, bounded east by William Simson's House (Lot). 1674 Assigns to Edward Wright (probably his son-in-law) of Matinecock 10 acres, "upon my range," to return unto him if said Edward Wright dieth without issue.

Jan. 1st, 1683, Ann Coles, widow of John Coles, dec'd., executed an instrument of which the following is an excerpt: "I am intending to change my condition by marriage with one William Loyns, and before confirmation thereof do freely give and grant and by these presents freely assign and confirm unto my son Solomon Coles ye one half of all ye Lands and privileges that was his father's; to settle upon and improve as his own proper right when he comes of age, to enjoy forever."

In 1693 with the approval of his mother and her husband William Lines, Solomon exchanged the 60 acres with William Frost for land at Unkaway Neck, South Oyster Bay, L. I.

Issue:

I ?Daughter, m. Edward Wright of Matinecock.

II Solomon, (only appearing later on records of Oysterbay, 1728, as Overseer of Highways at ye South).

ANN (2) (COLES) TOWNSEND, b. Ipswich, Mass., about 1635; m. Providence, R. I., 1653, Henry Townsend, (See Townsend Lineage).

DANIEL (2) COLES, b. Ipswich, Mass., about 1637; m. Warwick, R. I., about 1662, Maha-shalal-hasbaz Gorton, dau. of Samuel and Mary (Mayplett) Gorton of Warwick, aforesaid. "After the venerable founder of Providence" says his biographer, "no man was more instrumental in establishing the foundations of equal civil rights and 'Soul liberty' in Rhode Island than Samuel Gorton." He was especially active in assuring the protection of the colony for the persecuted Quakers. He sent them messages of sympathy when they were in prison in Massachusetts, and was the author of the first legislative edict of emancipation of Negro slaves ever adopted in America. He claimed that the natives were the "true owners of the land" and that Patents from the crown were not premier titles, which same idea seems to have been held by the Townsends who drew the early deeds at Oyster Bay.

The name of the daughter of Samuel Gorton who m. Daniel Coles, practically coinciding in structure with the "Maher-shalal-hash-baz," Isaiah viii: 1, 3, explained in the concordance as "in making speed to the spoil, he hasteneth the prey" seems difficult of application, but some of the perilous experiences in Gorton's hegira from Boston to Warwick, may have suggested the Jewish situation at the time of Isaiah's dreary prophesy.

Daniel Coles removed with the family to Oyster Bay, L. I., about 1663; was elected 1666 and 1667 to the office of Constable, who with three Overseers constituted the Town government of the period. In 1670 or before, was chosen one of the Five Proprietors of Musketa Cove Purchase, in the place of Abiah Carpenter, declined, and was likely then a resident thereat. He died in 1692 and in will devises to his wife $\frac{1}{2}$ of his house and orchard, etc., for life and then to go to his two youngest sons Benjamin and Joseph. Mentions eldest son Samuel as an executor, two dau's. Susannah and Ann (then unm.) £5 each; three dau's. Mary, Dinah and Sarah, (then m.) 10 shillings each; sons-in-law, George Downing, Derick Albertson, and Ichabod Hopkins. The widow makes her mark in settlement of the estate and the name as written by John Newman, Recorder, is "Maha-Shalal-hasbaz Coles." Interments made on a little knoll about 100 yards northwest of the dwelling.

Issue, in order of mention in will:

I Samuel, b. —; m. Elizabeth Albertson.

II Susannah, b. —; m. Josiah Lattin.

VII Benjamin, b. —; m. Phebe ?Simkins.

VIII Joseph, b. —, 1675; m. Elizabeth Wright.

NATHANIEL (2) COLES, b. Providence, R. I., about 1640; m. as per R. I. records, "at Warwicke, now an inhabitant of Oysterbay one Long Island, in ye County of Yorke in America, and Martha Jackson of Hempstead in ye said County, were joyned together in maryage by Captaine John Greene, General assistant of ye Colony of Road Island and Providence Plantations or Kings province; they having been lawfully published in ye foresaid town of Warwicke before their enter-marriage." She was daughter of Robert and Agnes (Washbourne) Jackson, and d. Oyster Bay, 17th Sept., 1668, soon after the birth of her son Nathaniel. Nathaniel Coles m. 2d, Oyster Bay, Deborah Wright, dau. of Nicholas and Ann (—) Wright of Oyster Bay; m. 3d, before 29 June, 1696, (at which date she signs as Sarah Coles X her mark); Sarah (possibly) dau. of Richard and Elizabeth (Potter) Harcourt of Oyster Bay. It is supposed that after the death of Nathaniel Coles (?1712) she as "widow Sarah Coles" of Oyster Bay, L. I., m. John Rogers, reputed founder of the "Rogerine Quakers," and at his decease 10.17.1721, she returned to Oyster Bay; was mentioned in the will of Caleb Coles, her step-son as his "beloved mother-in-law," giving her the use of certain property for life.

Nathaniel Coles had his residence in Oyster Bay at what has since been known as Ship Point, never personally occupying his property in the Musketa Cove Patent. His name appears frequently on the Town Records, as on important committees, as Magistrate, overseer, surveyor, Town Treasurer, and 1686 he "is to see to it and dispose of 300 acres of [Matinecock] land to pay the Indians, their due."

Issue by 1st wife, Martha Jackson:

I Nathaniel, b. 29/6 mo. (Aug.) 1668; m. Rose Wright. He d. 8/10 mo. (Dec.) 1705, and she m. 2d, Justice John Townsend, and m. 3d, Samuel Birdsall.

TOWNSEND LINEAGE

"The Townsends claim descent from the Norfolk house of that name, originating with one Gullelmus (temp. Edward I, 1290) designated as living 'ad exitum villas' (i. e. at the town's end) in Berdwell, Manor of Herling-Thorpe, Norfolk. The appellation was subsequently Anglicised, and the name is found written in old deeds, "William atte Tunne's end, and ultimately, simply William Town's end. Members or immediate descendants of this family were considerable owners of lands in different parts of Norfolk County, and sealed with the present arms of the family, Azure, a chevron ermine, between three escallops argent." Vide Blomefield's Norfolk VII, p. 130.

Referring to the popular tradition, that the founder of the family was one Sir Ludovic, a noble Norman, coming thence with William the Conqueror, antiquarians agree that this incident must be moved down two centuries at least, when a real Sir Lodovic and his son Sir Walter de Townsend had existence. Vide Charles Hervey Townsend "The Townshend Family of Lynn in Old and New England."

The earliest New England records note:—"Thomas Townesend, a Freeman, at Boston N. E. Mar. 4. 1638" "Thomas Townesend, a Freeman, at Lynn, Mar. 14. 1639" "Thomas Townshend, a Juryman at Salem, 30 1st mo. 1641."

This Thomas Townsend, bapt. Jan. 8, 1594/5, was the third son of Henry Townsend, Gentleman, and Margaret Forthe, Gentlewoman, who were m. by Rev. Ambrose Golden, Nov. 5, 1590, and the said Margaret was buried at Braconash June 23, 1596. They had issue:

- I ROBERT, bapt. June 18, 1591 (o. s.).
- II Arthur, bapt. Nov. 16, 1593; d. young.
- III Thomas, bapt. Jan. 8, 1594/5.
- IV Elizabeth.

Henry Townsend in his will gave son Robert £400 to be paid £100 per annum, Thomas £300 to be paid £50 per annum and Elizabeth £300 to be paid £50 per annum.

It having been queried in sundry genealogical publications that John, Henry and Richard Townsend, of Oyster Bay and elsewhere, were possibly sons of the abovementioned Robert; the dates being convenient, and the recurrence of similar Christian names among the descendants of Thomas of Lynn, would seem to justify the hypothesis, which may well be elevated to a probability until a better one shall have been proposed.

Martin I. Townsend, of Troy, N. Y., in his sketch of the Townsend Family (March, 1871), says: "The first Townsends who emigrated to New England, held the most advanced sentiments of that day, and shared with Anne Hutchinson and Roger Williams the opinions which were supposed to endanger the peace of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay." This may be so, but as record proof is lacking, it is more than likely that this opinion is a deduction from Henry Townsend's attitude toward the persecution of Quakers in Stuyvesant's time.

In Savage's Gen. Dict. of Settlers of N. E. there appears "Townsend, John of Lynn, perhaps son of Thomas; b. in England; was of the Boston Artillery Co. 1641, and of the early settlers of Long Island." This could not have been the son of Thomas of Lynn, as he was not born until 1640, according to Mr. Charles Hervev Townsend.

John of Lynn, appears next, before 1642 at Stamford, Conn., as "John Town" (?send) on a list of Pioneer Settlers, about twenty of whom went to Hempstead in 1644. Vide Huntington's "Stamford," p. 25.

His next appearance, 14th Dec., 1642, on the "Doep-Boeck" or Baptismal Record of the Reformed Dutch Church, New Amsterdam, as "Jan Tonsen, ouder (Parent), Thomas, Kinder (child), Getuygen (witnesses) Hendrick Tonsen, Rebecca Brenten, Claertje Gerrits."

The term of John Townsend's residence at Manhattan is quite clearly indicated in the following excerpt from a document in "The Memorial of the Towns- send Brothers" (W. A. Townsend, 1865).

Elizabeth Townsend, widow of John Townsend, to Gov. Edmund Andros, not dated, but after 1668.

"Your Honor's petitioner's husband many years last past, was seized of a certain parcel of land containing eight acres, by estimation, lying and being at the Fresh Water [Collect] New York, then called New Amsterdam, where your Honor's petitioner's husband did build and make large improvements, and peaceably enjoyed the same divers years in the time of great calamity, being daily alarmed by the Indians, and other difficulties attending upon your Honor's petitioner's husband, and afterwards got no better reward than such discouragements as caused your Honor's petitioner's husband to leave his good improvements. However your Honor's petitioner is well contented at present, hoping her husband and others, by their adventures, and running through many fiery trials of affliction, has been in some measure instrumental to bring a chaos into goodly fields and gardens."

Fleeing from these detrimental conditions John Townsend next appears Oct. 19, 1645, as one of the patentees of Flushing under Gov. William Kieft. Jan. 17, 1648, marks the beginning of the antagonism between the English settlers at Flushing and the new Governor, Peter Stuyvesant when John Townsend, Edward Hart, Thomas Styles and John Hicks were summoned to appear before the Governor and Council on Jan. 23d as "the principle persons who resist the Dutch mode of choosing Schouts or Sheriffs, pretending it is against the adopted course in the fatherland, and who refuse to contribute their share of the maintenance of the Christian, pious Reformed Minister," and if they refuse, to be apprehended and prosecuted by the Attorney General. The malcontents however were victorious, and instead of a Schout being the only Town officer, there were thereafter, elected by the freeholders, and confirmed by the Director-General and Council, John Underhill, Schout (constable); John Townsend, John Hicks, William Thorne, Schaepens (Magistrates); John Lawrence, Clerk. Vide Hist. Flushing, by H. D. Waller.

Except for the appearance of Henry Townsend as witness at his nephew's baptism, neither he nor his brother Richard seem to be known of record; nor can the compiler hereof as yet discover on Long Island records, anything of John at Flushing after his election to the magistracy. Possibly more would have been known, but for the loss of the town records by fire in 1789. It seems probable that Henry and Richard being unmarried and possibly under age, had been a part of John's household, and with him sometime in the year 1648 removed to Rhode Island and Providence Plantations; from Dr. Peter Townsend's mss. notes on the records of which, it is possible to show much of interest about the three brothers. In the latter part of 1648 they each had lots laid out, and meadows apportioned to them. Jan. 23, 1648/9 all three names appear on "The Fundamental Agreement or Bill of Rights for the Town of Warwick." They were officially received as Inhabitants of Warwick and so recorded. They each held at different times during the following seven years the offices of Constable, (the highest office in the Town Government); Assistant to the President; Commissioner to the General Assembly, Juryman on several occasions, and Richard was an Ensign and Moderator, and John one of the Surveyors.

In 1649 Henry buys a mill and in 1651 with Mr. John Wickes and three others builds another mill. Jan. 21, 1654/5 John Townsend, then of Jamaica, Long Island, in New Netherland, sells to Thomas Stafford, all my housing and the land inclosed adjoining thereto at Warwick, and to Edward Andrewes, my full right in the Great Neck, R. I., &c. Feb. 2, 1655/6, Henry Townsend sells to Stukeley Westcott, my six acres of land laid to the mill, and Apl., 1656, to John Sweet, my dwelling house and Home Lot, it stands upon, and my orchard on the other side of the way, 2 acres. Henry makes sundry other conveyances in 1657 being then of Jamaica, L. I.

Early in 1656, Robert Jackson and others of Hempstead made application to the Governor and Council of New Amsterdam for liberty to begin a plantation in the territory subsequently known as Rusdorp and Jamaica, which was granted and the certificate of purchase from the Indians, dated Nov. 25, 1656, shows, with seventeen others, the names of John, Henry and Richard Townsend; and also that the dwelling place of the new plantation was "neare unto ye bever pond," and the ten acres of planting land and the twenty acres of meadowing for each man, "to be in ye nearest and most convenient place yt can be found."

On 15th Sept., 1657, according to the Dutch records, Henry Townsend was condemned in a amend of £8 Flanders, or else to depart the province within six weeks, upon the penalty of corporeal punishment, for having called together conventicles. A proclamation followed, imposing a fine of £50 for sheltering a Quaker for a single night, one-half going to the informer. Any vessel bringing Quakers to the Province was to be confiscated. Flushing, in a noble "Remonstrance" refused obedience. (See p. 349 for this Remonstrance in extenso).

On Dec. 29, 1657, the magistrates of Rusdorp informed the Governor that the Quakers and their adherents were lodged, entertained and unrelentingly corresponded in said village at the house of Henry Townsend. He was therefore cited to appear Jan. 10, 1658. John Townsend was also ordered to appear, the court having suspicions of his favoring Quakers, and he was ordered to find bail for £12 to appear when summoned.

On an inquisition ordered by the Governor, the magistrates reported twelve persons including Henry and John Townsend and their wives who had countenanced the "odious sect."

Henry Townsend was a third time haled before the Court, he having ingenuously acknowledged that he had lodged in his house some of the friends who are called Quakers, and had a meeting of friends at his house at which one of them spoke, and concluding, said, "they might squander and devour his estate and manacle his person but his soul was his God's and his opinions his own." Whereupon he was sentenced to the payment of 600 Guilders, to be imprisoned until the amend was paid and further to be banished out of the Province for an example to others. On this his last imprisonment he was daily supplied with food, through the gratings of the jail, by his daughter Rose, then only nine years old; she having been able to excite the compassion of the keeper so far as to permit the performance of this pious duty.

John Townsend had evidently made his escape to the adjoining town of Hempstead, where he appears in 1657 on a list of live stock in charge of keepers, as having three calves.

Next, in the first book of Oyster Bay records, "The first day of February, 1661, It is ordered by the Town that John Townsend Senior shall have his tenn acre lot lying west side of the Mill River Hill About half a mile from the Mill, and between too [two] hills, the land being five acres more or less." Also at the same date with his brother Henry, and others on a list of contributors to the support of the Widow of William Crooker.

As nothing further seems to appear on the records of Jamaica about Henry Townsend it may be assumed that hopeless of the payment of the accumulated fines and amends the authorities allowed him to escape confinement and so to join his brother John at Oyster Bay as above mentioned.

Richard Townsend, although not on record as having incurred the wrath of Stuyvesant, seems prudently to have fled the jurisdiction, returning to Warwick, and in 1659 serving again as one of the Commissioners of the General Assembly; 1661 buys land of John Sweete; 1663, is again Constable, and in the same year, probably contemplating a second marriage, safeguards the interests of his daus. Dinah and Leah in certain property conveyed to him and them by his brothers John and Henry. 1666, sells to Benjamin Smith lot at Pawtuxet.

Oct. 10, 1666, sells to his father (in law, 2d wife's father), John Wickes, one share of meadow at Nassau Cut, bounded south by the Sea. He next appears Dec. 24, 1668, at Matinecock in the Town of Oysterbay, upon Long Island, drafting and witnessing a conveyance of land thereat, from the Indians to Matthew Priar; then at Lusum alias "The Farms," now Jericho, Sept. 7, 1669, purchasing from Robert Williams 20 acres bounded south by Robert Coles, east by a highway, with a small parcel on which his house standeth, also 15 acres bounded south by the aforesaid and north and northwest by the line of Division between the Town and the Robert Williams Purchase.

JOHN (2) TOWNSEND, (prob.) son of Robert and nephew of Thomas of Lynn, to have been a member of the Boston Artillery Company 1641, must have been at least twenty-one years of age, and to have had his second son baptized at Manhattan in 1642, counting the usual two years' interval between births of children and the probability of an intervening or preceding daughter, would suggest a marriage date prior to his emigration from England, perhaps 1630, and his birth about 1610. He died at Oyster Bay about 1668, ?aged about 60 years. His wife, Elizabeth, as given in Savage's Gen. Dict. was dau. of Robert Coles of R. I. Thompson's Hist. L. I. repeats the error, qualifying by saying "Robert Coles was of a respectable Irish family, and an associate of the younger Winthrop in the settlement of Ipswich, Mass." Robert Coles had no dau. Elizabeth, nor is it believed that there were any of the Coles family seated in Ireland until after Robert's migration to America. In the Townsend Memorial it is stated, "his wife was Elizabeth Montgomery." Dr. Peter Townsend's mss. History states that "the widow of John Townsend in 1683 was regularly visited at her mansion in Oyster Bay by her countyman and supposed relative, the then Irish Governor of the Province of New York, Thomas Dongan."

John Townsend dying intestate, his widow with advice of her husband's brothers and consent of her older sons, divided the estate; for account of which very interesting matter see "Memorial of the Townsend Brothers," p. 87, et seq.

She d. Oyster Bay, Nov. 29, 1684, and was laid beside her husband on ground since known as "Fort Hill."

 HENRY (2) TOWNSEND, (prob.) son of Robert, was admitted as Townsman at Oyster Bay, Nov. 4, 1661. His first Home lot thereat was on the north side of the main street, adjoining on the east to the Home lot of Henry Disbrow, later in possession of James (1) Cock. In 1683 he had laid out to him a lot of six acres upon east side of Mill Hill upon which he built, and then gave the first homestead to his son Henry.

In 1661 he was granted a certain mill stream and adjacent lands on which to build a mill, like unto the one at Norwalk on the Main, for the maintenance of which, he and his successors were to be free of all rates and taxes (on said land and stream) forever. In 1668 he gave the three-fourths of the mill, etc., to his sons Henry and John and the remainder to his dau. Rose, wife of Joseph Dickinson, who sold it to her brothers, reserving one-fourth of the toll. Henry also gave land to his three daughters. He held sundry Town offices; assisted the widows of his brothers John and Henry in the management of their estates; was one of the overseers of the will of Capt. John Underhill, charged to see that the children be not wronged if his widow should marry again. He died between Feb. 6 and Mar. 30, 1695, and was buried on Mill Hill, where a rough stone, marked "H. T." shows his grave. He m. Providence, R. I., about 1653, Ann Coles, b. Roxbury about 1635; d. Oyster Bay after 1695; dau. of Robert and Mary (Hawthurst) Coles, of R. I.

This is "John Townsend of the Mill" at Oyster Bay, a man of much importance in the Town affairs and its surveyor for nearly twenty years. Esther was a widow for over forty years, meanwhile managing the business with diverse results and some sentimental detail, as shown in the Townsend Memorial. She was a Friend, and marrying John, not a member, was visited by a Committee, endeavoring "to avenge her to a sense of her condition," and to acknowledge her disorderly conduct, but she remaining impenitent and "charging it upon ye Lord" was duly disowned.

UNDERHILL LINEAGE.

It is stated by the Historian of the Underhill Society of America, that "our ancestor John Underhill was born Oct. 7, 1597, at Baginton, Warwickshire, England, being the son of Sir John Edward Underhill and his wife Mary Moseley," but no mention is made of the baptismal record of John or any record of the date and place of nativity of his parents.

The following itinerary of Capt. John Underhill, prepared from sundry historical sources is intended to be an authentic and impartial account of his doings from his arrival in America to the date of his death September 21, 1672.

Savage's Genealogical Dictionary of Settlers in New England, says John Underhill, Boston, came in the fleet with Winthrop 1630, as Captain of any Military force that might be employed or instructed; speedily joined the church, being counted No. 57 in the list, and was sworn freeman 18 May 1630. July 26, 1630, ordered that the first Thursday in each month be general training day of Captain Underhill's Company at Boston. Sept. 28, 1630, the Court ordered that £50 be raised for Mr. Underhill and for Mr. Patrick, who was training another company. Oct. 19, 1630, John Underhill, deputy to the first General Court of Massachusetts. Nov. 7, 1632. The Court limited training days to once a month. Sept. 15, 1633. The records of the Old South Church show "Helena, wife of our brother John Underhill was admitted to the Church" and on the 25th was admitted "Margary Hinds, our brother John Underhill's maid servant."

Sept. 1, 1634, on list of Selectmen, in following order: "Jno. Winthrop, Wm. Coddington, Capt. Underhill, Thos. Oliver" and six others.

Sept. 3, 1634, with Daniel Patrick and Robert Feake appointed by the General Court, to fix upon site for a Fort on Castle Island in the Bay.

Jan. 1685/6. Capt. Underhill ordered by the Magistrates with a Shallop to bring Roger Williams from Salem to Boston, that he might be sent off to England by a ship then lying in the Harbor; he found on reaching thither that the culprit had escaped, and was then on his way to Rhode Island, doubtless on the advice of John Winthrop, who was subsequently rebuked therefor by some of the clergy.

1686, Feb. 14. Baptised, Elizabeth, dau. of brother John Underhill and Helena his wife.

Savage further remarks, "Bolton's Hist. of Westchester County, N. Y., Vol. 2, p. 229, repeats the absurd tradition about his service in Holland eighty-five years before, under the patronage of the Earl of Leicester, the favorite of Queen Elizabeth. Such ornaments belong to the work of fiction under the name of Updike Underhill by Royal Taylor, thence probably they were derived by popular credulity."

1686. On account of the murder of Capt. Oldham by the (supposed) Block Island Indians, Gov. Vane and the Council ordered to be sent thither ninety men, distributed to four commanders: Capt. John Underhill, Capt. Nathaniel Turner, Ensign Jessyson, and Ensign Davenport, and all under command of John Endicott Esq; with three pinnaces, two shallops and two Indians; with commission to put to death the men of Block Island but to spare the women. The men took to the woods and the valiant soldiers burned sundry wigwams, killed their dogs and sunk their canoes; then passed on to the mainland to reckon with the Pequots; demanding surrender of the murderers, but receiving no satisfaction, killed a score of the Indians, seized their ripe corn and burned and spoiled what they could. The immediate effect was to precipitate a formidable combination of the Indians to destroy all the English.

Roger Williams, taking advantage of the hereditary enmity of the Narragansetts toward the Pequots, succeeded in getting them to send an embassy to Boston and making a treaty of alliance with the English, thus foiling Sassacus in his plan of destruction. But for the weakness of the recent settlement in the Connecticut country it probably would have failed altogether, but during the winter of 1686/7 the Connecticut towns were kept in a state of alarm until they were obliged to appeal to Massachusetts for help. Capt. John Underhill was sent with twenty men to Saybrook Fort for the double purpose of repelling certain Indian foes and possible Dutch trespassers. Connecticut put into service ninety of their own men under command of John Mason, an excellent and sturdy officer who had won golden opinions from Sir Thomas Fairfax, under whom he had served in the Netherlands. Seventy friendly Mohigans under their chief Uncas accompanied the expedition. From Saybrook Fort this little company set sail on May 20, 1687, and landed near Point Judith on a brilliant moonlight night, where they were reinforced by four hundred Narragansetts and Nyanatics. The force with which Mason and Underhill advanced to the fray consisted of just seventy-seven Englishmen. Their task was to assault and carry an entrenched fort or walled village containing seven hundred Pequots. The fort was a circle of two or three acres in area girdled by palisades of sturdy sapling-trunks, set firm and deep in the ground, the narrow interstices between them serving as loopholes wherefrom to reconnoitre any one passing by and to shoot at assailants. At opposite sides of this stronghold were two openings barely large enough to let any one go through. Within this enclosure were the crowded wigwams. The attack was skillfully managed and was a complete surprise. The Indian allies slunk behind, fearing the attack would be a failure, but Capt. Mason with sixteen men occupied the northeast (windward) entrance, while Underhill was to make sure of the other, but the Pequots mostly remained in the wigwams. Capt. Mason set fire to the one nearest, which rapidly spread to the others forcing the Indians to make their escape by the doors or entrances where they were ruthlessly shot down by the soldiers or tomahawked by their Indian allies. Of the seven hundred Pequots in the stronghold but five escaped alive, and of the English there were but two killed and sixteen wounded. The foregoing is partly from John Fiske's "Beginnings of New England," and partly from the "Brief History of the Pequot War," published in Boston in 1786, the following extract from which is given in Barber's Hist. Coll. Connecticut, p. 312, and is Captain John Mason's account of the engagement.

"What I have formerly said is according to my own knowledge, there being sufficient living testimony to every particular. But in reference to Capt. Underhill and his parties acting in this assault, I can only intimate as we are informed by some of themselves immediately after the fight, that they marched up to the entrance on the southwest side; there they made some pause; a valiant, resolute gentleman, one Mr. Hedge, stepping towards the gate saying, "If we may not enter, wherefore came we here?" and immediately endeavored to enter; but was opposed by a sturdy Indian, which did impede his entrance; but the Indian being slain by himself and Sergeant Davis, Mr. Hedge entered the fort with some others; but the fort being on fire, the smoke and flames were so violent that they were constrained to desert the fort."

The following is Capt. John Underhill's "apologetic" being an extract from his book, "Newes from America," published in England 1638, p. 38. "Worthy Reader, let mee intreate you to have a more Charitable opinion of me (though unworthy to be better thought of) than is reported in the other Booke; you may remember there is a passage unjustly laid upon mee, that when wee should come to the entrance, I should put forth this question; shall wee enter? others should answer again, What came we hither for else? It is well known to many, it was never my practice in time of my command, when we were in garrison much to consult with a private souldier or aske his advice in point of Warre, much less in a matter of so great moment as that was, which experience had often taught mee was not a time to put forth such a question, and therefore pardon him that hath given the wrong information: having our swords in our right hand our Carbines or Muskets in our left hand, we approached the Fort. . . . Capt. Mason and myself entering into the Wigwams, hee was shot, and received many Arrows against his head-peece, God preserved him from any wounds; my selfe received a shotte in the left hippe, through a sufficient Buste coate, that if I had not been supplied with such a garment, the Arrow would have pierced through me: another I received betweene necke and shoulders, hanging in the linnen of my Head-peece."

John Fiske states that among the persons who had followed Mr. Cotton from Lincolnshire, was Mrs. Anne Hutchinson, a very bright and capable woman, if somewhat impulsive and indiscreet. She had brought over with her, says Winthrop, "two dangerous errors; first, that the person of the Holy Ghost dwells in a justified person; second, that no sanctification can help to evidence to us, our justification." Aside from his doctrinal antagonism, Winthrop speaks of her "sober and profitable carriage" and says that she was "very helpful in time of childbirth and other occasions of bodily infirmities," but she fostered an innovation, in that she ventured to open a little meeting for women wherein she persuaded them to the intimate religious life of which she was an advocate. She won over her old minister, Mr. Cotton, the stout soldier Capt. Underhill, and the young Governor Vane, but dividing Boston into hostile (theological) camps. In the spring of 1637 Winthrop was again elected Governor and Vane returned to England in August, soon after which Mrs. Hutchinson and her friends were ordered to leave the colony. Among those who had petitioned against the removal of the Rev. John Wheelwright, nominally for sedition, the Court called Capt. Underhill and some five or six more of the principal ones whose hands were to the said petition; and because they stood to justify it they were disfranchised and such as had public places were put from them.

Savage's Notes on Winthrop's Journal relates, "Underhill excused himself like a soldier, but in vain." He insisted much, says Wilde, upon the liberty which all States do allow to Military officers, for free speech, and that himself had spoken sometimes as freely to Count Nassau. In 1638, at this Court also, Capt. Underhill (being about to remove with Mr. Wheelwright) petitioned for three hundred acres of land promised formerly; by occasion whereof he was questioned about some speeches he had used lately regarding the Church, and here follows in the Journal of the Court, several pages of accusation, recrimination and confession, too unclean to print.

The Captain went to Piscataqua (New Hampshire) and was made Governor of Dover, but was soon removed and coming to Boston 1640/1 was presently apprehended by warrant of the Governor to appear at the next court, and bound for his good behavior in the meantime. At the session of the Court his sentence of banishment was remitted, and he was acquitted by proclamation.

1642, Apl. 24, Capt. Underhill's son John was baptized, being then 13 days old.

1639 Sept. 8, It appears by Vol. XIV, p. 26 of N. Y. Colonial Records he visited the New Netherland as evidenced by the following. "Whereas Governor Underhill who resides toward the North requests permission to dwell with some families here under our protection on condition of enjoying such Freedoms as the other inhabitants residing here; said Underhill's request is granted, provided he and the people accompanying him shall take the oath of allegiance to their High Mightinesses the Lords States General and his Highness of Orange."

1642 (Winthrop's Journal) "Captain Underhill finding no employment here that would maintain his family and having good offers made him by the Dutch Governor (he speaking the Dutch tongue and his wife a Dutch woman) and being returned, desired the Church's leave to depart. The Church advised him rather to go to Stamford. He accepted the advice and his wife being more forward to this contention and the Church furnished out and provided a pinnace to transport him, but when he came there he changed his mind or at least his course and went to the Dutch."

This doubtless meant to Greenwich, then in the Dutch jurisdiction and where Capt. Daniel Patrick and Lieut. Robert Feake of Watertown had preceded him. (See p. 285).

Gov. Winthrop writes, "Daniel Patrick was entertained by us out of Holland (where he was a common soldier of the Prince's guard) to exercise our men. We made him a Captain and maintained him after he was admitted a member of the Church at Watertown and a freeman. But he grew proud and vicious, for though he had a wife of his own, a good Dutch woman and comely, yet he despised her and followed after other women and perceiving he was discovered and that such evil courses would not be endured here, and being withal of a vain unsettled disposition, he went from us and sat down within twenty miles of the Dutch and put himself under their protection and joined their Church, without being dismissed from Watertown. But when the Indians arose in those parts he fled to Stamford and there was slain, the Dutchman who killed him was apprehended but escaped."

Of Miles Standish, it is said in Barber's Historical Collections of Massachusetts, 1841, p. 499, et seq. "Capt. Miles Standish, the military hero of New England, was born in Lancashire, in England, about the year 1584, and was, it is said, heir apparent to a great estate. After having been sometime in the army of the Netherlands, he settled with Mr. Robinson's congregation at Leyden. Though not a member of the Church, he embarked with the first company that came to New England in 1620, and was chosen their military commander. He was, it is said, of small stature, but of a fiery temper, and perhaps no man possessed a more daring or intrepid spirit. He died in Duxbury in 1656.

1643, Captain Underhill represented Stamford in the General Court. In 1643, Kieft's maladministration had so alienated the Indians, hitherto friendly, that the whole territory for twenty miles around was in a state of alarm. The "Eight men" in session, recommended an application to their English neighbors at the north (?East) for the assistance of one hundred and fifty men, for the security of the payment of which, New Netherland was to be mortgaged to the English. The Governor approving, Capt. Underhill and Isaac Allerton were dispatched to negotiate with New Haven, but their mission utterly failed. Gov. Easton and the General Court saying, they were prohibited by their articles of confederation from engaging separately in war and they were not satisfied "that the Dutch war with the Indians was just" nevertheless if the Dutch needed corn and provisions, the court resolved to give them all assistance in their power. Vide Brodhead's Hist. N. Y., Vol. 1, p. 370. The English inhabitants of Long Island had construed the Director's permission to defend themselves, if attacked, as justifying them in appropriating to their own use the corn of the Indians, the savages losing three lives, vainly endeavoring to protect their property. In April 1644, Mr. Fordham, the English Clergyman at Hempstead informed Director Kieft, that seven savages had been arrested on a charge of killing two or three pigs, (though it was afterward discovered that some Englishman had done it); who were confined in a cellar but whom he dared not treat inhumanely, as he could not answer for the consequences to himself, because such things are not to be winked at there, or perhaps because the English nation wish to cause a general dislike among the savages to our people (the Dutch). Kieft immediately sent ensign Opdike with an Englishman, John Underhill, and 15 or 16 soldiers, who killed three of the seven in the cellar. They then took the other four with them in the sailing boat, two of whom were towed along by a string round their necks, till they were drowned, while the two unfortunate survivors were detained as prisoners at fort Amsterdam. When they had been kept a long time in the guard house, the director became tired of giving them food any longer, and they were delivered to the soldiers to do as they pleased with. The first of these savages having received a frightful wound, desired them to permit him to dance the Kinte Kaeye, a religious use observed among them before death. The soldiers then cut strips from the other's body, beginning at the calves, up the back, over the shoulders and down to the knees. While this was going forward, director Kieft, with his councillor Jan de la Montagne, a Frenchman, stood laughing heartily at the fun, and rubbing his right arm, so much delight he took in such scenes. Vide Dr. O'Callaghan's Doc. Hist. N. Y., Vol. IV, p. 105 et seq.

From page 15 of the same work, the following appears. "Meanwhile, we were advised that Pennewitz [Chief of the Canarsie tribe, Kings Co., L. I.], one of the oldest and most experienced Indians in the Country, and who, in the first conspiracy, had given the most dangerous Council—To wit, that they should wait and not attack the Dutch until all suspicion had been lulled, and then divide themselves equally through the houses of the Christians and slaughter all these in one night—was secretly waging war against us with his tribe, who killed some of our people and set fire to the houses. It was therefore resolved to send thither a troop of one hundred and twenty men, the Burghers, under their (?Capt. Jochem Pietersen) Company, the English under the Sergeant Major Van der Hyl (who within a few days had offered his services and was accepted) the veteran soldiers under Pieter Cock, all under the command of Mr. La Montagne, to proceed hence in three Yachts, Land in Scouts Bay on Long Island, march toward Heemstede (where there is a English Colonie dependent on us). Some sent forward in advance dexterously killed an Indian who was out as a Spy; our force was divided into two divisions, Van der Hill with fourteen English and eighty (Dutch) men towards the largest village named Matsepe (?Massapequa, South Oyster Bay) both which were very successful, killing about one hundred and twenty men; of ours one man remained on the field and three were wounded." P. 16—"Our forces being returned from this expedition, Capt. Van der Hill was despatched to Stamford, to get some information there, of the Indians," which having been secured; "one hundred and thirty men were accordingly despatched under the aforesaid (Sergeant) Genl. Van der Hill and Hendrick van Dyck Ensign. They embarked in three Yachts, landed at Greenwich, where they were obliged to pass the night by reason of the great snow storm. All the next day the forces marched through the snow, crossing on their way steep rocky hills over which the men crawled with difficulty. On arriving there about midnight the Indians were wide awake and on their guard, so that ours determined to charge and surround the houses sword in hand. They demeaned themselves as soldiers and deployed in small bands, so that we got in a short time, one dead and twelve wounded. They were also so hard pressed that it was impossible for one to escape. Presently none durst come forth, keeping within the houses, discharging arrows through the holes. The General (de la Montagne) remarked that nothing else was to be done, resolved with Sergeant Major Van der Hill, to set the huts on fire, whereupon the Indians tried every means to escape, not succeeding in which they returned back to the flames, preferring to perish by fire than to die by our hands. What was most wonderful is, that among this vast collection of Men, Women and Children not one was heard to cry or scream.

According to the report of themselves, the number then destroyed exceeded

500; some say full 700, among whom were also 25 Wappingers, our God having collected together there the greater number of our enemies, to celebrate one of their festivals, from which escaped no more than eight men in all, of whom even three were severely wounded."

1645 May 24, N. Y. Col. Doc., Vol. XIV, p. 60, shows that the Sachem of Mochgonnekonc, situate on Long Island, with 47 armed Indians, offering their services to the government, whereupon the Director convened these underwritten persons: Fiscal van der Hoykens, Mons. la Montagne, Capt. Onderhill, Ensign de Leuw, Commissioners Olaf Stevenson, and Gysbert Opdyck and of the Selectmen Jan Everson and Jacob Stoffelsen, to whom the said sachem proposed to attack and subdue certain hostile Indians, which having done, there was executed a treaty between the aforesaid parties, agreeing to give reciprocal aid in defence against our enemies.

1646, John Hathaway, of Flatlands, L. I., was arrested for slandering John Underhill's daughter (?Elizabeth) as per p. 106 Cal. of Dutch mas.

1646, May 14. We, Willem Kieft, etc., etc., have given and granted to Capt. Jan. Onderhill a small island formerly called Meutelaer's Island, separated from Long Island by two kills containing about 50 morgens, besides the meadows which are granted to said Onderhill with said small island with the express condition, etc., etc., (supposed to have been East Island, Dosoris).

1648, Apr. 27. John Underhill, at Flushing, L. I., elected Schout, (Sheriff and Public Prosecutor). His first recorded official act was ecclesiastical in its nature. He did not approve of the Rev. Mr. Doughty's diatribes against the Director-General, so ordered the Church closed, because the Minister "did preach against the present rulers who were his masters."

He was again Sheriff in 1651 and Magistrate in 1652. Quoting from Brodhead's Hist. of State of New York, Vol. 1, p. 555, et seq. "Meanwhile, Underhill had been agitating a revolt on Long Island. His unstable nature longed for a change; and the moment seemed propitious to betray the friends who had sheltered and honored him when humiliated by the ecclesiastical discipline of Massachusetts. At the instigation of Eaton and the agents of New England, he had busied himself in collecting the testimony which he had promised the commissioners and had openly charged the Fiscal Van Tienhoven, with plotting against the English. Underhill was, therefore, arrested at Flushing, and conveyed to New Amsterdam under guard. After a short detention he was dismissed without trial. Returning to Long Island he committed open treason against his adopted country by hoisting 'the Parliament's colors' at Hempstead and Flushing and crowned his treachery by issuing a seditious address to the commonalty of New Amsterdam, setting forth the reasons which had impelled the insurgents 'to abjure the iniquitous government of Peter Stuyvesant over the inhabitants living and residing on Long Island in America.' After enumerating the specific wrongs, which he declared were 'too grievous for any brave Englishman and good Christian to tolerate any longer' he exhorted 'all honest hearts, that seek the glory of God and their own peace and prosperity, to throw off this tyrannical yoke.' 'Accept and submit ye then to the Parliament of England' concluded this bold address, 'and beware ye of becoming traitors to one another, for the sake of your own quiet and welfare.'"

(As the foregoing was entirely beyond the literary style of Capt. Underhill, it may not be unfair to suppose that it was inspired by the New England agents then there investigating the charges against the Dutch, of employing the Indians to destroy the English). Upon the departure of the Agents, Capt. Underhill was ordered to quit the Province. Flying to Rhode Island he addressed a letter to the commissioners at Boston, offering his services and loyalty, as he was like Jephthah, "forced to lay his life in his hands," to save English blood from destruction. To this end he had "requested our neighbors of Rhode Island to afford some small assistance." This "assistance" was granted the next day, in form of a commission "under the seal of the Colony of Providence Plantations" giving "full power and authority to Mr. William Dyer and Captain John Underhill to take all Dutch ships and vessels as shall come into their power, and to defend themselves from the Dutch and all enemies of the Commonwealth of England."

The General Court of Massachusetts, affirming the doctrine of "state rights," interposed and prevented New England from commencing an "offensive war" against New Netherlands. "But if open war was averted, covetousness was not repressed. Captain Underhill, finding his offer of service neglected, availed himself of his Rhode Island commission to better his private estate at the expense of his recent friends. Going to the unoccupied Dutch Fort Good Hope, he posted upon it a notice, declaring that, "with permission from the General Court of Hartford" he did "seize upon this house and lands thereunto belonging, as Dutch goods claimed by the West India Company in Amsterdam, enemies of the Commonwealth of England, and thus to remain seized till further determined by the said Court." Hartford Records, Towns and Lands, Vol. 1, p. 77 et seq., shows that within four months, Underhill twice sold the Dutch Fort and lands, as his private prize to citizens of Rhode Island and Hartford. But though he alleged that he had permission from the General Court to make the seizure, there is nothing in the records of Connecticut to justify his assertion; on the contrary, Hartford the next year sequestered the property for herself.

The records of the Town of Southold on Long Island show on the 12th of January, 1658, Capt. Underhill had a Home Lot on north side of Town street, where his wife died in the same year, and which he sold to Thomas Moore in 1659. Soon after this he appears at Setauket in the Town of Brookhaven and joined with William Frost, James Cock, John Dyer (who were subsequently with him at Killingworth upon Matinecock) and others, residents of Setauket, in petitioning the General Court at Hartford to receive that settlement as "a member of said body politic." (See p. 3, this book).

1663/4. Capt. John Scott having arrived from England announcing that the King has granted Long Island to his brother the Duke of York, the towns on the west end thereof formed a combination to govern themselves and empowered Scott to act as their President until his Royal Highness should establish a government among them. Governor Stuyvesant believing it best to ratify the conditional arrangement, went to Hempstead and met Burgomaster Van Cortlandt with Jacob Backer and John Lawrence as commissioners on the Dutch side and Capt. Underhill with Daniel Denton and Adam Mott on the English; and a formal agreement was concluded.

1665. Col. Richard Nicolls, the first English Governor, called a meeting of deputies from Long Island Towns to be held at Hempstead, who were to be "the most sober, able and discreet persons." There were sent from Oyster Bay, John Underhill and Matthias Harvey. Upon the adjournment of the Hempstead meeting, Counselor William Wells of Southold in the East Riding, was commissioned by the Governor to be high-sheriff of (new) Yorkshire and Captain John Underhill of Oyster Bay, who had been so prominent in the affairs of New Netherlands, was appointed high-constable and under-sheriff of the North Riding. "Underhill was also made surveyor general of Long Island." Reference to N. Y. Col. Doc., Vol. XIV, p. 556, shows this to have been an error. Viz:—Letter to John Underhill. "Whereas I am informed, that there hath been formerly great abuses at Oyster Bay, Huntington and other places on Long Island, in landing of Tobacco, and giving in security for the paying of his Magesties Duties, and that the said Goods have been brought to the Manhattan contrary to ye severall Acts of Parliament; for the discovering of those abuses, I do appoint you, John Underhill, to take inspection into, and give me Account thereof, with the names of the Masters, as also their Vessels; and I do further appoint you to be Surveyor of Long Island, and that you take a special care (as occasion doth present) to go on Board all Vessels that shall come from this place, and them search; and in case you shall find any Goods on board that have not a warrant from the Custome House of New Yorke, as Beavers and other Peltry, that pay duty here. You are to seize the same, and to make stay of the Ship until you shall hear further from me, and what Deputy or Deputyes shall be appointed by you for the better Managing of this businesse, are hereby Impowered to act accordingly.

"Given under my hand at Fort James April 22d 1665.

"RICHARD NICOLLS."

Overseers of Hempstead.

Your Loving Friend
RICHD NICOLLS."

1666/7 Mar. 14. To Captain Underhill.

"I have received some writings from the Indians of Matinecock, wherein I find that they are not disposed to sell their lands to the Towne of Hempstead but say they will with civility respect the seven families already settled there; I understand likewise that they have given you that part of their land which was spoken of before mee, when Mr. Hicks and Mr. Gildersleeve and those Indyan were here. I shall be ready to confirm the same upon condition that the said Indyan doe give assurance that those seven families shall quietly and peaceably enjoy what they have, until the said Indyan can bee induced for their own conveniency to admit of a greater number of families. I have written to this purpose to those of Hempstead. In answer to your letter wherein you desire to bee discharged of your military employment, by reason of your yeares and other cares that attend you; I do allow your excuse, and leave you to your owne Liberty being,

Yr lo: friend

R. NICOLLS."

Capt. Underhill, James Cock, Matthew Priar and William Frost, all of whom were together at Setauket in 1659, appear on records of Oyster Bay in 1664, and finally settled at Killingworth upon Matinecock. It has been asserted that Killingworth was so named by Capt. Underhill in remembrance of his native place; if so he might also have been responsible for the naming of Killingworth, a town near New Haven, Conn., both possibly called after Kenilworth in Warwickshire, Eng., from which, according to tradition, some of the settlers first emigrated. See Barber's Hist. Coll. Conn., p. 529.

Pr me John Underhill.

Capt. Underhill's 150 acres, was situate about 1½ miles from the Sound, on the west side of a tidal stream, known as the Beaver Swamp River, on the south side of Corn Creek, on the east side of his neighbor Birdsall's land and bounded south by a marked tree near Chechagon Brook. (See Map). The house, long since gone, probably constructed after the same form as that of his son John, (See p. 60), was near a convenient supply of water for culinary purposes, and of easy access by tidal water to Oyster Bay. His near neighbors were James Cock on the north, his brother-in-law John Feke on the south, and Matthew Priar, Christopher Hawxhurst, Henry Reddocke, William Simson and William Frost on the west. He died 21/7 mo. (Sept.) 1672 and was buried in a part of his own land, near the house, but on an elevation overlooking the Sound, which has been kept as a burial place for the Underhill and allied families to this day.

(July) 1669; m. before 1690, Isaac Smith, b. 1657; d. 1746; son of Abraham Smith, son or grandson of William Smith of Gloucestershire, Eng. Isaac lived on north side of Hempstead Plains, near Herricks, was in 1700 Ensign, Queens Co. Militia, Assessor and Trustee of Hempstead and Warden of St. George's Church 1718, 1726.

Issue (Smith) as far as known:

- I Jacob, b. 8 10 mo. (Dec.) 1690; m. 1st, Free love Jones; m. 2d, Phebe Platt.
 - II Micah, b. ———, 1704; m. Phebe Thorne; and doubtless daughters.
- DAVID UNDERHILL (Capt. John) b. Killingworth, 2 mo. (Apr.) 1672; d. Oyster Bay, ———; m. 1st, supposed ——— Wright; m. 2d, Hannah, dau. of ?Moses and Hannah (Crooker) Forman of Oyster Bay, L. I. About the first appearance of David Underhill on the records of the Town of Oyster Bay is that, he having in 1690 sold certain Rights of land to William Frost, in 1697 being now of age confirms the said sale. Also in 1693 conveys to his uncle and nearest neighbor, John Feke, "all of my part and share in land formerly my father's property, being one third interest." David was a blacksmith with his place of business in the Town or Village of Oyster Bay. The first and only information had of his marriage is contained in a Deed of Gift, in substance as follows: 1700 David Underhill on account of Love &c., grants to his son Peter Underhill (probably then about two years of age) fifty acres of woodland at the head of the Mill River, reserving the privilege to improve any part of the same during his life, and the same liberty to his now wife Hannah should she outlive him. This indicates that she was not his first, and this measure was for the protection of Peter in the rights of his deceased mother, supposed to have been daughter of one of the Peter Wrights, which family held large interests at the Head of the Mill River.

The theory of the parentage of David's second wife Hannah Forman, is deduced from the chronicle of John Weeks, shoemaker, wherein it is stated that the second wife of his ancestor Joseph Weeks was grandmother to Peter the Preacher, grandson of David. Making this great grand mother would seem to have been the relationship.

Issue, by 1st marriage:

- I Peter, b. before 1700; m. Penelope Alling, dau. of Abraham and Mary (Hawthurst) Alling. Peter and wife were living Apr. 7, 1773, vide Molly Cooper's Diary. Children of this m. without known order of birth.
 - I ?Deborah, b. 1723; m. Henry Wheeler.
 - II Joseph, b. ———; m. ———.
 - III Hannah, b. ?1726; m. Daniel Youngs.
 - IV Daniel, b. 1728; m. Sarah Townsend.

 - VI ?Sarah, b. 1733; m. Elijah Wheeler.
 - VII Peter, b. 1737; m. Ethelinda Townsend. He was some time Elder of the Baptist Church at Oyster Bay, L. I.

Probable issue by 2d marriage:

- II Benjamin, b. ———; m. Hannah Townsend, dau. of Thomas and Sarah (Pearsall) Townsend, and went to Pennsylvania.
- III Samuel, of whom little is known, possibly m. and had son Samuel, m. Hannah Latham.

WEEKS LINEAGE.

(At weeke, Weekes, Wickes, Wicks, Weeks.)

Water's "Genealogical Gleanings in England," Vol. I, p. 790, shows early indifferent orthography of the patronymic, particularly in the will of Richard Atweecke als Weecke of Staines, Middlesex, yeoman, 17 Sept. 1592; and by the will of his brother or son William Atwick als Wickes, also of Staines, in 1613; name probably derived from location, i. e. "at the Wicket, (Gate, in old French "guichet").

The name of Francis Weekes appears in Colonial Papers, New York State Library pp. 46, 47 as of May 3, 1622, "Proposal offered by him on behalf of the Merchants of Barnstable, Eng. for settling a plantation in New England "and a grant was to be given on promise of said Weekes to pay £250".

Francis Weekes, doubtless relative, perhaps son of the above named, and supposed brother of George of Dorchester and of Thomas of Huntington, L. I., coming with them from England and locating at Salem, Mass., about 1635, was one of five persons in the canoe with Roger Williams when he came across the Bay to Providence in 1636. Robert Williams said of him, "he was a poor young lad who came with them at the request of John Smith the miller." Not being of age, a portion of land was set off for him and held by the Proprietors until he reached his majority. He m. Elizabeth Luther, dau. of Samuel of Swansea, R. I., formerly of Luther-Kelvedon-Hatch, Essex, England.

It is said that he was sometime Secretary of the Colony of Providence Plantations, and in 1641 removed to the vicinity of Manhattan, perhaps Gravesend, where he was granted a Plantation 1648, having at sundry times, seven of his children bapt. in the Reformed Dutch Church at New Amsterdam, 1647 to 1652. Chosen 1654 one of the five Townsmen of Hempstead, at which place Apl. 18, 1658, "the wives of Joseph Scott and Francis Weeks [one or both Inn-keepers in Hempstead] were fined twenty guilders each for absenting themselves from public worship and going to a Quaker Meeting in the woods, contrary to the laws established." Francis Weekes appears on records of Oysterbay 1660, as a witness; as contributor to the support of the Widow Crooker; one of the grantors of the Townsend Mill Privilege, and November, 1661, as having "one house with a home lott bounded upon the hollow South west with an addition upon the south side; he hath moreover ten acres of Planting land lying on this side of Matinecock at the bottom of the Indian field bounded by Sagamore hill, and the river on the west side and Richard Crab on the east side." The first named Home Lott was on the South side of the main road to the Cove and bounded west by the Berry Hill Road as now called; probably "Burial Hill Road" for there are ancient cemeteries of the Weekes family on the east and the McCoun family on the west sides.

Disposes of certain portions of his real estate as follows: Jan. 29th Stille Nava, 1673. Francis Weekes of Oyster Bay, gives to sons Samuel, John and Joseph 11 acres near the Creek at Matinecock, with meadows at ye South. Same day to son Thomas $\frac{1}{2}$ of 10 acres on road to Lusum with meadows at ye South. Same day to son James $\frac{1}{4}$ of Home Lott except ye Burying place, and the other $\frac{1}{2}$ of 10 acres above mentioned. Same day to son Daniel the other part of the Home lott except the Burying place, "after my decease and decease of my wife, Elizabeth." The following is on record in Township of Oysterbay, 1687. Last will and Testament of Francis weekes (wife not named, being deceased). Sons Samuel, Joseph, John, Thomas, James, daughters Elizabeth Simkins wife of Nicholas, and Ann Carpenter, widow of Joseph, to have all the movables. Youngest son Daniel to have "all yt his mother gave him before she died, that is to say ye Bed which I lye on, with ye covering, curtains & Valens and all other furniture thereto belonging; and ye lesser of my two Iron pots and one small Iron Kittle and ye Trammel and one sheet besides yt belongs to ye Bed before mentioned." Sons Thomas and James to be sole Executors. Witnesses John Newman (Town Clerk) and Geo. Townsend.

Issue, order indeterminate.

The now wife, Hannah, is explained in an old bond of John Weekes, father, and Michael Weekes the son, to the Executors of Estate of James Cock deceased. "Whereas Hannah Forman alias Hannah Weekes, did in ye lifetime of Moses Forman her husband, late of Oysterbay, deceased, put twelve sheep in care of James Cock, at a certain Rent, and the Executors have compounded with John Weeks ye son-in-law (dau. husband) of Hannah and ye said Michael her grandson, for ye said sheep and arrears of rent, and said John and Michael declare themselves well satisfied.

SAMUEL (3) WEEKES, (Samuel, Francis) b. From this period the Matinecock and Musketa Cove families generally wrote the name Weeks.

Issue, in order as appears in the will:

- II Samuel, b. ———; m. Elizabeth ?Carpenter.
- III John, b. ———; m. Anne Coles.
- IV Sarah, b. ———; m. 6th mo (June) 16, 1737, Jacob Birdsall.
- V Phebe, b. ———; m. ?Henry Dickinson.
- VI Amy, b. ———; m. Isaac Dean.
- VII Deborah, b. ———; m. Nicholas Sneathen.
- VIII Charity, b. 12.17.1713; m. 11786, John Carpenter.
- IX Freeloove, b. ———; m. Joseph Coles.

HUMPHREY (3) WEEKES (Samuel, Francis) b. Matinecock, about 1674. Doubtful if he came to Musketa Cove with his father in 1687, as his name is not mentioned in the division of the realty in 1707, but 1713 conveys to George Townsend a Whole Right in Oysterbay undivided land which was his father Samuel Weekes', dec'd. If he m. his wife's name is unknown. He died about 1726.

GEORGE (3) WEEKES (Samuel, Francis) b. ?Matinecock, about 1678; probably remained at Matinecock when his father went to Musketa Cove or Cedar Swamp as that part of the Patent was sometimes called; 1707 his bro. Samuel as eldest son of their father gives him title to all that land and meadow at Matinecock of which our father died seized; and George in the same year conveys it to Samson Hauxhurst, and with his bro. Philip buys of Henry Townsend and Eliphal his wife, 115 acres between Beaver Swamp Hollow and ye Little Plains (on east side of (now) Hegeman's Lane), and 1711/12 George sells his half of the above to James Springer and in 1719 appears to be the owner of a farm in the southeast corner of the Littleworth Purchase, of which in 1721 with wife Mary he sells 17 acres. It is presumed that he died soon after as Friends' Records show 3/6 mo. (Aug.) 1726, marriage, at Westbury, Richard Harrison of Little Egg Harbor in Province of West Jersey, and Mary Weekes of Oysterbay and Relict of George Weekes of Queens County on Nassau Island.

Issue:

- I Samuel, b. ———; m. 1736, Deborah Valentine.

FRANCIS (3) WEEKES (Samuel, Francis) b. ?Matinecock, and came with father to Cedar Swamp as they called it in 1687. In the division of 1707, was given the lot bounded north by Ichabod Hopkins, which he sold 1610/20 with wife Else or Agnes, to Daniel Hopkins; in 1721 he buys of Samson Hauxhurst a certain tract of 20 acres on Oak Neck, formerly Redduck Townsend's, on which he built and settled. 1720 buys of John Priar meadow at Oak Neck formerly Dr. Rodman's. 1724 Francis Weekes, shoemaker buys more land. 1741 witnesses a deed. Later went to Little Egg Harbor and prob. d. there. Wife believed to have been a Postley, as Record shows "John Posley of Orange Co., N. Y., died intestate and sister Agnes Weekes is granted letters of Administration." No issue known.

PHILIP (3) WEEKES (Samuel, Francis) b. Matinecock, had allotted to him 1707, ¼ the paternal acres, but with brother George bought the farm in Hegeman's Lane, which in 1728 was sold by Jonathan Weekes of Horseneck in Greenwich, Conn., son of Philip Weekes dec'd, to Jacobus Monfort. Wife's name not known.

Issue, so far as known:

- I Jonathan.

JAMES (3) WEEKES (Samuel, Francis) b. Matinecock, came with brothers to Cedar Swamp in 1687 and 1707 had ¼ of the land allotted to him, which in 1720 he sells to Daniel Hopkins, also sells same year to William Thorneycraft a messuage bought of John Coles. This is presumed to have been preparatory to a removal to the Main shore. In 1722 William Carpenter of Musketa Cove and son Silas purchased 375 acres at Rye and North Castle and James Weekes was one of the witnesses to the deed. He was a bricklayer and mason.

He is supposed to have m. about 1692 Elizabeth, dau. of William and Elizabeth Carpenter, who in the "Carpenter Family," p. 50 is said to have m. Samuel Weekes, but it seems impossible for either of the Samuels to have had Elizabeth to wife, one being too early and the other too late. There exist legal papers signed by James (per mark) as late as 1741, but no record seems found of the death of either himself or wife.

Issue, as far as is known:

I Abel, b. Oct. 4.1696; m. 1st, Sarah Burdg; m. 2d, Mary Ireland.

?II Thomas, b. ———; m. Mary ———.

?III James Jr.

Doubtless other children.

The only knowledge we have of James Jr., is that he so signed a document.

FOURTH GENERATION.

ABEL (4) WEEKS (James, Samuel, Francis) b. Musketa Cove, L. I., 10th mo. (Dec.) 24.1696, on west side of the road to Cedar Swamp; 1715 was on list of militia under Capt. Samuel Dickinson in the western part of the Town of Oysterbay in Queens Co, N. Y.; about 1720 he went with his father and the Carpenters to Rye and North Castle, at which latter place he seems to have acquired considerable property east of Wampus Brook, near which John Hallock built a Mill. In 1745, there having been Friends' Meetings held for some time at the house of Abel Weeks, it was now asked that a Meeting should be established at or near Shapliqua, now spelled Chappaqua. In 1761 Oliver De Lancey and Phila. his wife convey to Abel Weeks, Farm No. 2, in the North Lot, No. 6. Manor of Cortlandt, being part of the Estate of Philip Van Cortlandt, sold to pay his debts, sometime bid in by De Lancey, with houses, etc., etc. Abel Weeks was probably m. on Long Island about 1720, to Sarah Burdg. Burges, Burch, b. 4th mo. (June) 14.1693 and d. North Castle about 1737; m. 2d, 10th mo. (Dec.) 23.1738, Mary Ireland, b. L. I., 1707, d. HOWLAND-DICKINSON LINEAGE.

JOHN HOWLAND came in the Mayflower, his being the 18th name among the 41 who signed the memorable "Compact" in the cabin of that good ship 21 Nov. 1620. He was one of the "Ten principal men" sent out in a boat to select a place of settlement, and who selected Plymouth. He was then 28, and a member of the family of Governor Carver, who was childless. He was later Freeman, member of Council, assessor, and one of the four or five men in the colony distinguished as "Mr." Selectman 1666, and frequently Deputy from 1652 to 1670. "A godly man and an ancient professor in the ways of Christ." He is shown to have been tolerant of the Quakers. He d. Plymouth, 23 Feb., 1672/3. He m. about 1623, Elizabeth Tilley, dau. of John and ——— (——) Tilley. Elizabeth was a Mayflower passenger, aged 13, and her parents dying that winter she seems to have found a home in Governor Carver's family until her marriage. She d. Plymouth, 21 Dec. 1687.

John Howland's will mentions sons Jabez, Isaac and Joseph, daus. Desire Gorum (m. Capt. John Gorham); Hope Chipman (m. Elder John Chipman); Elizabeth Dickinson (m. 1st, Ephraim Hicks, 2d John Dickinson); Lydia Browne (m. James Brown); Hannah Bosworth (m. Jonathan Bosworth); Ruth Cushman (m. Thomas Cushman); and gr. dau. Elizabeth, dau. of son John.

For further data on John Howland see Franklin Howland's History of the Descendants of Arthur, John and Henry Howland, 1885, from which the above is extracted.

ELIZABETH HOWLAND, b. Plymouth, prob. before 1630; d. Oyster Bay, L. I., 1691; m. 1st, 13 Sept. 1649, Ephraim Hicks of Plymouth, who d. 2 Dec. 1649; m. 2d, 10 July 1651, JOHN DICKINSON. Franklin Howland states that John Dickinson had previously m. Elizabeth, sister of Ephraim Hicks, but there seems no foundation for this statement, and L. I. Quaker records show first wife to have been Frances ———. The Boston records show that John Dickinson, together with Samuel Mao (Mayo) and Thomas Hinckley, witness a deed there Oct. 1650. How much earlier he came to America is not known.

There having been aforetime written, sundry accounts of the great antiquity of the Dickinson family which seem to lack authenticity, it has been deemed best to limit this record to the accredited history of the times of Captain John Dickinson, beginning with Records of the Society of Friends, "Copied out of ye original by Isaac Horner in 1855." In this venerable record as the third entry appears the following:

"The children of John Dickisson & Frances ye 1st wife & of ye 2d wife Elizabeth Dickisson, borne Oysterbay.

|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| John Dickisson ye son of John & Frances Dickisson was borne | |
| ye 28th day of ye 5th mo. | 1648 |
| Elizabeth ye dau. of John & Elizabeth Dickisson was borne | |
| ye 11th of ye 8th mo. | 1652 |
| Joseph Dickisson, borne ye 24th of ye 10th mo. | 1654 |
| Mercy Dickisson, borne ye 23d of ye 2d mo. | 1657 |
| Jabez Dickisson, borne ye 29th of ye 7th mo. | 1660 |
| Lydia Dickisson, borne ye 5th of ye 8th mo. | 1662 |
| Samuel Dickisson, borne ye 26th of ye 1st mo. | 1665 |
| Mehetabell Dickisson, borne ye 2d mo. | 1667 |
| Hannah Dickisson, borne ye 6th of ye 1st mo. | 1671 |
| James Dickisson, borne ye 27th of ye 5th mo. | 1675." |

The paternity of Frances the first wife is not known, nor the date of her death, nor of their son John's death. The four earlier children were born in New England, notwithstanding the statement in the Quaker record.

Genealogical notes of Barnstable Families, p. 340, shows that Capt. John Dickinson was in 1653 master of the Desire of Barnstable, Mass., owned by Capt. Samuel Mayo (of Block Island) William Paddy and John Barnes, and was employed to transport the goods of the Rev. William Leverich of Sandwich, together with those of the brothers Anthony, Peter and Nicholas Wright, to Oyster Bay, Long Island.

The vessel was seized by one Captain Thomas Baxter, under pretence of authority from Rhode Island, while cruising against the Dutch, that Province having taken part with England, in the war against Holland, and the vessel being as was alleged within Dutch territory. On complaint of Capt. Mayo to the United English Colonies, the General Court at Hartford adjudged that Baxter, for seizing the vessel under false pretences, was to pay the owner £150, but the sails, ropes, two guns, &c., if returned with the vessel to be accounted as £18 toward that amount.

John Dickinson probably brought hither his family about 1658, at which date he purchased a lot on north side of the main street in Oyster Bay, a copy of the deed of which is given herewith.

"To all Christian people, to whom this shall or may come, greeting; Be it known unto all men, that I, John Hinksmen, late of Oyster Bay have sold, and by these presents do alienate, bargain and sell, and have sold, unto John Dickinson, of Oyster Bay aforesaid, all and singular, all that parcel of land which I exchanged with Peter Wright, with all and singular all the fencing, meadows and uplands that is, or shall thereunto belong, with all the appurtenances or privileges whatsoever to him, his heirs, or assigns, forever; for and in consideration hereof, John Dickinson hath paid unto the said John Hinksmen, in broad-cloth, at eighteen shillings a yard, the full and just sum of three pounds sterling, and twenty shillings paid in liquor to the Town of Oyster Bay, by the hand of John Dickinson. Also, a quart of sack and half a pint of liquor to Peter Wright, for the exchange. In witness hereof, I have hereunto set my hand this day of February, in the year of our Lord, one thousand six hundred and fifty-nine.

John Hinksmen."

This lot was on the east side of Quahaug (the round or hard clam) Lane, opposite (west) to the lot he bought of Henry Disbrow in 1661 and sold to James Cokes of Setauket the next year.

Peter Wright's homestead was next east of John Dickinson.

The medium of payment for the Hinksmen lot rather suggests that the purchaser was a merchant adventurer, as were some of the Quakers at Southold.

The Will of John Dickinson dated 26 Jan. 1680 is to be found in Old Book "A," p. 163, Records of the Township of Oysterbay, Queens Co., Long Island.

WILLIAM (78) COCK'S NARRATIVE

(OF HIS SUFFERINGS DURING THE REVOLUTION)

"Account of sundry robberies committed at my house".

From a much worn document written by William (78) Cock, and given by his son Oliver (210) to the latter's granddaughter, Elizabeth M. (Evans) Kellar, who has donated it to the Long Island Historical Society. See p. 46 for William's record. See map for his residence and distillery.

"On the Night of the 3d of September 1778 my House Was besett by 6 armed Men Who insisted upon entrance and While I was Debating With them they got the advantage of the Window and Come in and Robbed Me in goods and Money to the amount of £168-3s—as Near as I could compute them they were Headed by Matthew Carryhart but the others We did not know.

On the Night of the 22 of March 1781 My House was Beset by a number of Men Headed By a Joseph Sacket, and Jacob Morrel was their Pilet, but the other names I have not got all of them. Benjamin Hoel, Nehemiah Lyon, Obediah Valentine were 3 of them the first that I Discovered they [were] trying to Get in at a window and I being in no State to Defende, they Demanded Entrance and I opened the Doors and they Come in and Robbed Me in goods and money to the Amount of £294.1s.8d. as Near as I Could compute it; they Took me out of Doors Between 4 of them with their Bayonets Drawn threatening Me with Emediate Death if I Wood Not Get More Money for them but finally they loaded me with a Load of goods and took me away with them and obliged [me] at the Point of a Byonet to Pilet them to the Shore the Nearest Way; they took me in the Rank Bryers, with my Legs Bare Until from My Knees to My feet Were all in a gore of Blood, the skin tore all off them. When I Come to the Shore they ordered Me to Lay them down, When I expected I should have been Discharged. But they Then Told me I had More goods and them they had a Right to and that Unless I wood Ransom them With Paying them one Hundred Pounds in 2 Weeks they Wood Come and Burn My house and barn to ashes and Kill me if they Could Catch me. I avaded it Every Way that I Dare to Do in Raising Difficulties How I shood Get to them but finally they Ordered me to Pay the money to one of My Neighbours in 2 Weeks or fire and Death was to be My Portion. for fear of the Penalty, I Appldy to the Man several times to take it for them But he Would Not Do it.

On the Night of 2d of November 1781 Just as I and My family was Going to Bed Somebody Knocked at the Door I opened it and was Met by a Number of Armed men who Emedately Rushed in and for fear of Worse Consequence I made my Eskape from them. they Ransarked My house and Shop and took from me and Destroyed as Near as I could Compute it to the amount of one hundred and Sixty nine pounds 9/6 and at the same time took several Prisoners out of the Neighbourhood By which Means they were Discovered and are as follows, Jack the Sailor alls John Wilkeson, Solomon Ferris, Jacob Morrel, Abraham Height, Obediah Valentine, Patrick Stout, Benjamin Hoel [Howell], Nathaniel Pamer, Nehemiah Lyon, Thomas Kniffin, John Miller & James Jones. By the prisoners I Learned that their Business was after the Ransom Money which they had Laid upon Me and I find to be a Part of the same Gang that was the Afforgoing Robbers..... Having 2 of their Boatmen with them they drank with me and we parted by mutual agreement to keep it Intirely [secret]. A week or 2 after they being on this shore again and [one of the] Men, one of them that was with them at my house and he made the matter Known to the Militia officer Lt. James Sands who had him in custody he was brought to a Neighboring Tavern and a Sargent was sent to Desire me to Wait on Lt. Sands when I appeared there I Dont Recollect that James Sands spoke one word to me But Thomas Smith Acosted me as I came in at the Door thus: Well Bille Cock here is something coming out Very Black against you: What is that Justice Smith why here is a Man that says at such a time he..... your House..... But you wood not Let him..... your house.....Barn But then.....into your Cowpen.....ns of Rum to Carry away and one.....[an]d if that is all he says I believe he is an honest.....its True and What wood you have had me to do in that case. After some more interegations He says I don't Know what they will do with you: I shall go to Col Simcoe and represent the matter and he must do with you as he likes. [Col. Simcoe in the interim had come into quarters at Oyster Bay] A few Days after Simcoe, sent his Forage Master to my house Demanding the best Horse and saddle that I had and that Col. Simcoe was Coming to tear my House Down over my head for Harboursing Rebblies. his officers Folowed it Requesting me to Furnish them with furniture for their Quarters which I was obliged to do, some of which was almost Ruined and some never returned which so Frightened me and me family that whatever was asked for by the Officers they had With or Without pay and so it remained Through the whole time they lay in Winter Quarters and Col Simcoe Never Wood give me an opertunity to clear myself Tho I solicited him several times, he Told a Person that was speaking to him About me, that he was informed that I was such a Cuning and incinuating Rebbel that he Wood have Nothing to say to me and finally sent an Advertisement to my house signed with his name that if I ever suffered..... to come to my House and did not Emedately.....[he would] Burn my house over my head.....Power to hinder the.....that he wood.....he knew it was Not in My.....By which Means Through the Representations of Justice Thomas Smith when they left their winter q[uar]ters the officers were upwards of twenty Pounds in My [debt for] goods Bot which they never Paid me for Be[sides the use].....of my furniture the use of my Horse and all the..... with both Victuals and Drink to Keep Peace with th[e] officers that come to the House for which at a Moderate Charge I cant think of Charging him Less than Fifty Pounds £50.

On or about the 15th of Jeniuary 1779 I being at the Vestry Meeting Held at the Poorhouse on business and having some Dispute with Thomas Smith He charged me Publickly of being a Rebel and that I held a Corrspondence with the Rebels and further said that he had been a Friend to me and had saved my Still House But he then swore By the sacred Name of the Almighty and the Holy Evangelists that he wood be Revenged of me in the Presents of John Townsend, Mical Weekes, John Cock, Jonathan Stickling and many others. A few Dayes after a Party of men of the Queens Rangers Commanded by a Capt [?]Mc Vera came to my House and abused me and my family Very much and took my Team with all the Teams in the Neighbourwood amounting to Eleven Teams and Proceeded to my still House and stripped off all the Boards they Could Get. Nocked Down the Chimney and striped my Barn 50 feet by 14 feet of white Pine Boards the Flower [Floor] and Sill the Doors and Hinges and loaded the Teams a Carried them to Oysterbay (although the Soldiers Where Huttet before and Did Not want them) By which means all my Works went to destruction, and I am Intirely Prevented Ever Expecting to make any of them Again for which I look upon the said Thomas Smith to be justly chargable with four hundred Pounds £400 neither Did he stop his Rage here for by the mallicious lyes.....inventions of him..... family..... within the British Lines and I was Brought to the Brink of Being Transported out of the Lines with my family which Rendered my Name odious to the Government by Which means for some time My business Lyes as it were Dormunt, I being prevented from Getting out goods to supply my Shop the only means I had left for my families subsistance but after some time by a steady Perseverance and by the Help of Friends I opened a Door by which means I got out goods Again By which I have been several times Plundered By the People from the other Shore and the said Smith and his family in order to further their malicious Design against me Have used their utmost Endeavors to indisinate into the minds of the inhabitants My Customers that it was permeditated and I was well Paid for them, Which was altogether false.

This being the case through the whole course of the war they tried every thing that has been in their Power to effect my Ruin, and now the war is at an end I think it but Just that they shood pay me Damage they have caused me to sustain one thing more I have to mention and then conclude this narrative. At a certain time late in the war the time I Cannot Asertain there Come a Whale-boat's Crew over to Oak Neck and Ransomed several vessels and Stripped them and they left some goods at William Bakers who lived.....and the Main Business seemed to be to interrogate Baker if I was not concerned that they might get some Hold to Punish [me further] until the Capt of the Vessel inquired what sort of a man I was that they shood by so inquistive about me he was answered that I traded with the Rebels he said if that was all they had against me he was sent there to Protect that Trade when they dropt their interrogations about me and though they wood have Destroyed Me only upon suspicion of my Trading with the Rebels which was without Foundation The sd Smith and his family Contracted with the Whale Boat Men for a vessel and Cargo which they supplied them with to the amount of Twelve Hundred Pounds and Upwards."

Mrs. Kellar remembers being told by her grandfather Oliver (210) Cock that his father had made a secret closet behind the chimney wherein he stored many valuable goods to keep the whaleboatmen from finding them, (or the Tory neighbors disguised as whaleboatmen). My uncle Joshua, who later lived in the same house, used a secret closet, doubtless the same, for storing his seed sweet potatoes.—G. W. C.

The document, consists of a number of loose sheets, frayed at the edges, and perhaps one or two lost. In the ellisions, words are restored in brackets only in cases where they seem clearly indicated. It vividly portrays the difficulties of a non-combatant merchant in those perilous times. See map for location of his house and distillery.

A letter of Martha, early in 1649 speaks of the hope of "another little one" (the first child apparently died in infancy). In a later letter dated 23/11 mo. (Jan.) 1649/50, she writes of the "little daughter now about halfe yeare old. She is well in health (through mercy) and a thriving child for one bread up without the breast, as this hath been." In a later letter, to her uncle, John Winthrop Jr., dated 17 Feb., 1650/1, she states "I am in good health and my child allsoe." Martha d. probably 1654, when Thomas removed from Stamford to Fairfield, Conn. The letters of Mary (Lyon) Willson, and of her stepmother, Mary (Hoyt) Lyon (Thomas Lyon's 2d wife) to Fitz John Winthrop, 1698 and 1701 conclusively prove the fact of Mary (Lyon) Willson being the daughter of John and Martha Johanna (Winthrop) Lyon.
